LINK 4TH TERM AND UNRRA IDEA AS U.S. PERILS

Speakers Demand House Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Congress and the people were called upon today to rescue the nation from New Deal "despotism" at home and to halt the administration's international "Santa Claus" policy which is leading us "toward bankruptcy."

The demands were made by Representatives Woodruff [R., Mich.] and Calvin Johnson [R., Ill.] in separate speeches on the floor of the house.

Woodruff, warning against the danger of a fourth term for President Roosevelt, told the house that a "clique in the White House" has for 11 years carried on a carefully planned drive to overthrow constitutional government and "concentrate absolute power in the chief executive."

Reviews Power Grabs.

Reviewing Roosevelt's attempts to usurp power, Woodruff cited instances ranging from the defeated court packing scheme in 1937 to the President's recent unsuccessful attempt to tell congress what kind of new tax bill it should adopt.

"This latest and most brazen attempt by the White House cabal, thru the chief executive, to break down our constitutional government has put the American people on notice," Woodruff said, "that if Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his White House cabal can achieve a fourth term, free government will be so far gone in this nation that it will be a question of whether or not the people can rescue it without a revolution.

"The people are being compelled to realize that it has never been a 'New Deal' administration, but an administration which for 11 years has plotted and schemed to give the people the oldest deal in civilization—a deal of despotism.

Calls Plot Traitorous.

"The men and women who are plotting this wicked scheme, if they could accomplish it, and set up a political autocracy, while the people are fighting and sacrificing to repel foreign aggression, would be traitors beside whom Benedict Arnold would appear a patriot."

Woodruff called upon congress to reject the President's demand for a national service act, which he said is the "next bold and brazen attempt to overthrow free government."

Johnson, who last week disclosed that administration "global planners" are preparing to send nearly 500,000 pieces of farm machinery to European nations despite shortages in this country, charged today that this is only part of the "Santa Claus role" concocted by "crystal gazing pied pipers who lead us onward toward bankruptcy."

Deliveries Begin in August.

The farm machinery shipments, Johnson has disclosed, are part of the 2½ billion dollar program of the united nations' relief and rehabilitation administration, to which the United States is contributing more than half. He told the house some of the farm machinery for export is to be delivered by Aug. 1 of this year.

"If this is the farm machinery program of UNRRA, what are its other programs?" he asked. "How many other hidden skeletons does it have in its closet?

"No member of this house begrudges the allocation of war materials to any nation actually engaged in war. I do, however, most vociferously protest the use of our funds to build a railroad in Mexico, drain swamps in Venezuela, pay Peruvians to reduce cotton acreage, and squander 78 million dollars in the jungles of Brazil on a rubber project that has given no returns.

"Lush" Spending Opposed.

"Our country has been called upon to furnish 73 per cent of the sons to be used to invade Europe. We have become the arsenal of democracy, while global planners have spread our wealth as a lush green carpet over the entire earth.

"The time has come for America to take its head out of the sand and face the reality that a group of starry eyed globats are scattering to the four winds the substances accumulated by this nation thru 150 years of sweat, toil, and blood."

HOW MEN, TANKS, LEAD, AND FLAME WON PARRY ISLE

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARRY ISLAND, in the Eniwetok atoll, Feb. 23 [Delayed].—The fitful lightning of demolition blasting flickers tonight over this desolated coral patch, a reminder of the devastating man-made storm that has just swept over.

The 22d marine regiment that took Parry Island in ten and a half hours of bloody fighting yesterday is moving out and the temporary garrison is moving in.

The last of our wounded men were evacuated to floating hospitals today. Tomorrow the marines who lie silent in the torn salt brush and mangrove thickets at the island's south end will join other departed comrades in the new military cemetery on little Japtan Island just across the mile-wide lagoon entrance channel to the north. The work of burying hundreds of dead Japs also will begin. Then on to other more pressing tasks—for there is no rest for the living on this newest American soil.

Patrols Ferret Out Japs.

Since daybreak patrols have ranged Parry Island, ferreting out the few Japs who somehow survived the murderous preparatory bombardment and the onrush of our marines. They peer cautiously into every hole or cavern that possibly could hold a live enemy. On the slightest suspicion they place blocks of TNT inside. The cry of "fire in the hole" goes up, the soldiers nearby scurry for cover, the ground leaps upward with a shattering sound and the mop-up crews move slowly on.

Under portable flood lights supplies and ammunition continue to tumble in on the beaches. Crews of the transports hurry to complete the unloading.

A tour of Parry Island today revealed the extent of the terrific pounding it took in the last three days. The north half, containing most of the above-ground installations, was a picture of utter waste with fires still smoldering in many spots. There are still palms and salt brush on the narrow south end where surviving Japs are huddled to await death.

Tanks Kill Many.

The outer fringe of the whole island was almost a continuous system of trenches, pill boxes, and machine gun nests. Most of the Japs, driven by bombs from their shelters inland, made their last stand on the rim and it is here that their broken bodies lie thickest. They were caught by our medium tanks, which ranged up and down the island during the battle, making their own roads thru the tangled underbrush and blasting the terrified Japs to kingdom come.

It is notable that most of the Japs' bodies bear huge wounds. The bombardment itself killed many but the job of wholesale killing was done mainly by grenades and demolition charges, for the Japs on these islands dislike to come up out of their holes for hand-to-hand encoun-

BALK AT REDS' TERMS ON NAZIS AND '40 BORDER

Leave Opening for New Discussion.

New Bulgar Peace Talk

LONDON, March 4 [Saturday]—(AP).—Turkey has promised an unofficial Bulgarian envoy to submit to the allies any Bulgarian request for peace, the Daily Mail said today in an Istanbul dispatch. Identifying the unofficial envoy as Prof. Sevov, a close friend of the late King Boris, the dispatch said that he had been in Turkey a month "trying to determine the best means of his country withdrawing from the war."

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 4 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Finnish government has won the Finnish parliament over to its position of declining the Russian armistice demands for internment of German troops now in Finland and restoration of the 1940 boundary, the Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter said today.

Just how categorical Finland's answer to Russia will be is still not clear, the paper said, because the Finnish government still is drafting its reply. It was understood, however, the paper said, that negotiations would be handled in such a way as not to break contact with Russia.

Thru other sources it was learned that the parliament's vote of confidence at a secret session on the government policy in the peace crisis was 105 to 80.

Reds Reported Impatient.

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—The Russians today were reported growing impatient over Finland's hesitancy to accept armistice terms and bomb fearful residents of Helsingfors began leaving the capital lest the soviet air force punctuate Moscow's offer.

The Red army was making Finland's position more untenable with expansion of the Narva bridgehead in Estonia 100 miles from Reval, the naval base which, in Russian hands, would open the gulf of Finland to the Russian navy.

Moscow dispatches said the Russians considered their terms generous and some expressed the opinion that the Red army should open a general offensive against the Finns because delay gives the Germans a chance to strengthen their position.

Swedish Press Annoyed.

Swedish newspapers began to show annoyance with the Finns and the Social Democratic party's Morgontidning said "the Finns have to show their good will. They have a chance to get out of the war and should take it. It won't be an eternal chance. They have to be quick."

Ten trains with Finnish children have crossed the frontier to Sweden, the Finnish radio said today, and a total of 5,000 children now have been sent to Finland's neutral neighbor.

Stettinius Still Hopeful.

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Acting Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius said at a press conference today that the United States still hopes Finland will get out of the war. He did not go into detail as to the present actual prospects for a Russo-Finnish peace.

Moscow Warns Hungary.

New York, March 3 (AP).—The Moscow radio, in a broadcast tonight, warned Hungarian authorities that they "are playing a dangerous game" and "when the hour of reckoning comes they will get what they deserve."

The broadcast said the capture of Hungarian infantrymen, tank crews, and airmen by soviet troops belied statements by Budapest that Hungarian troops were not engaged in front line fighting against the Russians, but were engaged in "security services."

2 Nuns Face Peril to Insure Pupils' Safety

Fire of undetermined origin late yesterday swept thru the third and fourth floors of Our Lady of Lourdes' parochial school at Ashland and Leland avs., causing damage estimated by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan at $25,000. None of the 950 pupils was in the building.

Ten of the firemen who responded to the 5-11 alarm were injured slightly and taken to Ravenswood hospital for treatment. Commissioner Corrigan said they were injured when a blast of hot air swept them from their feet as they were climbing a stairway from the third floor into the fourth.

List of the Injured.

John Hoppe, 45, 3739 N. Hermitage av., of hook and ladder No. 22, suffered a back injury and was hospitalized. The nine other firemen, who received treatment for burns and inhalation of smoke, were:

Reinhold Strathman, 52, of 4217 N. Monitor av., engine company 112.

Capt. Ralph Scavone, 42, of 2039 Erie st., engine company 128.

Lawrence Williams, 35, of 2415 Leland av., engine company 128.

Daniel J. Bresnen, 44, of 6305 Glenwood av., engine company 83.

Lt. Benjamin Doersch, 51, of 3636 N. Christiana av., engine company 83.

Frank B. Leverenz, 28, of 916 Wrightwood av., engine company 128.

Carl Rohr, 46, of 7104 Addison st., engine company 128.

Henry Jansen, 38, of 3300 Lake Shore dr., engine company 83.

Leon J. Noe Jr., 27, of 1606 Albion av., engine company 83.

Nun Searches for Children.

The fire apparently originated in the slate-shingle roof near the chimney and had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Before firemen arrived Sister Mary Conradine, one of the 22 Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary who conduct the school, and Henry Diekow of 4619 N. Ashland, a laundry salesman, had searched three floors to make sure no children were trapped.

"I was coming home and when I saw the flames I recalled that my daughter, Elizabeth Ann, usually was in the school practicing on the piano at the time," Diekow said. "I ran inside and found Sister Mary already there. We hurried to the third floor. The rooms and halls were filled with smoke and it was hot. We could hear the flames roaring above us. She told me to search the second and first floors and she remained to search the third floor. Later the mother superior, Sister Mary Corita, joined us."

Homebound Traffic Delayed.

The fire occurred at 4:45 p. m. and attracted several thousand spectators as homebound traffic was tied up on Ashland, Clark, and other near-by streets.

Two public school boys, John Nyman, 12, of 1506 Lawrence av., and Kenny Scherz, 11, of 1507 Lawrence av., turned in the first alarm. Subsequent alarms brought more than 30 pieces of equipment and 60 policemen to the scene.

The school library and storage rooms were on the damaged floor.

When informed of the fire, Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, telephoned the Very Rev. Msgr. D. F. Cunningham, head of the Chicago parochial school system, and offered him the use of the Chase park fieldhouse for Our Lady of Lourdes classes until the school is repaired. The fieldhouse is across the street from the school.

QUINN DISPUTES DAUGHTER ON DRAKE MURDER

Gun Smuggled Out, Says Lieutenant.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

Lt. John A. Quinn of the Chicago avenue station, testifying yesterday at the inquest into the mysterious murder of Mrs. Adele Born Williams in the Drake hotel, clung doggedly to his theory that she was shot in a struggle with her daughter, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, over a gun. He added his belief that Mrs. Goodbody did not raise an alarm until 10 or 15 minutes after the shooting.

Mrs. Williams, wife of Frank Starr Williams, a state department attache, was shot by an unidentified gunwoman in her Drake apartment Jan. 19.

Dozen Witnesses Heard.

The veteran officer asserted at a previous hearing that the third woman accused of the slaying was a myth. He refused to swerve from his theory yesterday. He was one of a dozen witnesses, including Mrs. Goodbody and Mme. Marguerite Pick, a modiste at 127 E. Chestnut st.

Mrs. Goodbody, even thinner and paler than in her last appearance, created a good impression on the crowd at the session, held in the county morgue, by her readiness to testify. Later she declared that Lt. Quinn's newest presentation of his theory that she struggled with her mother over the gun was untrue, as was his suggestion that she had delayed giving an alarm after the shooting.

Two other witnesses balked. They were Pierre Courtois, 10 W. Elm st., a hairdresser, and his pretty wife, Cecile. Coroner Brodie, who presided, assisted by Deputy James Whalen, directed that their refusal to testify be noted by the state's attorney's office. The hearing was then adjourned to 10 a. m. May 4, at the county morgue.

Others Reached Room First.

Lt. Quinn said that in his opinion the shooting "was strictly a struggle for possession of a gun between mother and daughter." He was asked why, then, no gun was found in the room, and he replied, "I figured some one pretty close got rid of the gun; it would be no stranger."

The lieutenant testified he had found in Mrs. Williams' room on his arrival her former husband, Edgar R. Born, and a lawyer, Thomas Rosenberg.

Quinn also charged that Mrs. Goodbody subsequent to the slaying made two phone calls from the apartment of the Edgar Smiths across from her mother's; that the first was to her father, and that she had refused to say to whom the second call was made.

Detective Backs Quinn.

Quinn said that at one time Mrs. Goodbody seemed about ready to tell more about the shooting, but that Atty. Rosenberg interfered. The lieutenant asserted that in his opinion Mrs. Goodbody never screamed for help until 10 to 15 minutes after the shooting.

This last was disputed by Stanley A. Cook, 7228 Coles av., who said that not more than 20 seconds after the first shot he heard Mrs. Goodbody scream, and saw the killer, followed by Mrs. Goodbody, emerge from Mrs. Williams' apartment.

Another witness, Detective David Sarnow, testified that when Mrs. Goodbody was told the federal bureau of investigation might be brought into the case because Mrs. Williams' husband was a government employe, she protested: "Don't do that, I'll tell you—." Then she stopped short, Sarnow said, "at a knowing look from Atty. Rosenberg."

Neither Searched for Gun.

"She wouldn't say another word," continued Sarnow. Coroner Brodie asked whether Rosenberg had said anything. "No," Sarnow responded. "He advised her with a shrug or gesture, indicating to her that she was not to speak. She looked to him for everything she said or did. Evidently she wanted to tell us something, but she didn't."

Sarnow was asked whether Born or Rosenberg had been searched for a revolver. The detective said neither had been.

HINT PENICILLIN IN MASS OUTPUT

25,000 Gal. Tanks Used to Produce Drug.

St. Louis, Mo., March 3 [Special].—Penicillin, the wonder drug, formerly produced a drop at a time in flasks about the size of a quart milk bottle, is now being grown in specially made tanks, ranging in size up to 25,000 gallons, it was disclosed today.

The disclosure was made here by Lt. Col. R. W. Coward, executive officer of the St. Louis ordnance district, at the presentation of an army-navy "E" award to the John Nooter boiler works, which has been manufacturing the tanks since last November.

Sixteen Firms Making Drug.

Since then, the company has produced 40 of the tanks, most of which are in use by 16 firms engaged in the manufacture of penicillin in various parts of the country.

The new method of growing penicillin already has resulted in greatly increased supplies to the military services, according to W. G. Hughes, chief of the drug and penicillin unit of the war production board's chemical division.

Yesterday's announcement recalled a prediction last December by Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, army surgeon general, that penicillin would be available in "adequate supplies for military and civilian needs within six months."

Develop Mass Production.

It also recalled that the Schenley Distillers corporation, in its annual report last November, disclosed that it had developed a method for mass production of the drug, which then was in operation at a pilot plant at Lawrenceburg, Ind., together with the further announcement that construction of a commercial plant was in progress which was expected to be in operation by February of this year.

In his St. Louis announcement, Lt. Col. Coward said penicillin is the "wonder drug which during this war will save the lives of thousands of wounded soldiers and sailors, and which after the war will be a godsend to millions of people all over the world. This drug can cure gangrene, one of the most dreadful infections of the battlefield. Yet, in the years since its discovery, no one has been able to make penicillin in anything larger than a milk bottle."

Thousands of Acres Plowed Under in Texas Farm Revolt

Brownsville, Tex., March 3 [Special].—More than 40,000 acres of vegetables have been plowed under in Texas' fertile lower Rio Grande valley by farmers angered to almost open revolt by what they term inexcusable government bungling which prevents them from marketing the crops except at a loss.

Emphasizing the seriousness of the situation is that the destruction is being carried out in the midst of administration admonitions to farmers to produce more foodstuffs and the tightening of draft regulations to compel them to step up their production or go to war.

Pull Up Onion Crop.

Most of the acreage being destroyed is in cabbage. But other vegetables turned under included spinach, broccoli, turnips, collard, beets, radishes, and mustard greens.

Despite a nation-wide shortage of dry onions, farmers in Willacy county, the "onion capital," are pulling up their bumper crop and selling them as green onions rather than risk encountering the same difficulties later in trying to market the matured crop.

Farmers assert that the chief cause of their troubles is burocratic regulation as exemplified in the edicts of the OPA relative to ceiling prices and the "red tape" involved in obtaining truck tires.

Shipping Costs Increase.

Because of the low ceiling on the prices at which they must sell their produce, the high cost of harvesting labor, and increased shipping expenses, the farmers contend they would lose money if they marketed the crops.

Before tires were rationed they trucked their produce to such distant markets as Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, and Kansas City. But now they must pay higher freight rates to ship by railroad, further reducing their margin of profit, because they are unable to get tires or, even when they can, the "red tape" involves so much time their perishable crop suffers from the waiting, they claim.

"The government pleaded with farmers to increase production to the very limit and I did just that," lamented one farmer. "I've got as good vegetables as can be found in the country. You know where they are? Those that I haven't plowed under are now rotting in the ground because I couldn't market them."

Another farmer, who already has plowed under about 200 acres of spinach, turnips, cabbage, and mustard because he couldn't find a market, remarked:

"I've still got a fine field of some 30 acres of collard greens, but I can't sell them either."

Citrus Growers Also Angry.

The largest acreage plowed under is in Willacy county, with Hidalgo ranking next. Cameron county, of which Brownsville is the seat, does not produce as much vegetables as the other two, but also has had considerable crop plowings.

Citrus growers in this area also complain that they have suffered from the OPA's off-and-on system of ceilings which they described as "bungling that has so confused the industry that growers don't know which way to turn next." Grapefruit juice, which has been on and off the ration list, was back on today.

NEW POINT VALUES.

OPA reduces ration point values on some vegetables and increases values on fruits. Turn to page 9.

BOOBY TRAP SET BY WASHINGTON'S ARMY IS FOUND

Philadelphia, Pa., March 3 (AP).—A "booby trap" set by George Washington's army in 1777 was uncovered today by army engineers dredging the Delaware river.

The trap, called a "stockade" was found off the New Jersey shore below Hog Island. It was a wooden crib, 30 feet long and 20 feet wide, weighted down with boulders and fitted with long iron spikes facing downstream just below the surface. The spikes were intended to pierce the hulls of wooden ships.

The story shows, however, that a traitor showed the British how to avoid the stockade—and they sailed up the Delaware to capture Philadelphia.

dressed and distinguished looking, was next called. She was represented by Atty. Orville Taylor. She testified she had known Mrs. Williams about 22 years, and that while they were friends, their relationship was mainly that of modiste and client. In 1941, she said, they had discussed a business partnership, and Mrs. Williams visited her salon almost daily for four months. The deal fell thru, but there was no bitterness, Mme. Marguerite said.

The dressmaker said she last saw Mrs. Williams for 15 minutes just before noon the day of the shooting, and Mrs. Williams seemed in good spirits. They talked about a new dress, she said. Mme. Marguerite said she was with friends at dinner the night of the shooting.

Quinn Mistaken, She Says.

Mrs. Goodbody, next to be called upon, replied from her seat among the spectators that she was willing to testify, but could add no new information. "I've gone over and over my story to the best of my ability," she said. "You must remember . . . I lost my mother in this."

Her lawyer, Floyd E. Thompson, said she will be available at all times for questioning. Later Mrs. Goodbody insisted Lt. Quinn was mistaken in his testimony she made two telephone calls over a private wire and refused to tell to whom one was made. She asked that her father and sister be called, she said, and went back into her mother's room to lift the receiver and scream, "Get a doctor!"

The only interruption at the inquest came with the refusal of Mr. and Mrs. Courtois to testify. Their lawyer, Harold Levy, said Courtois already had made eight statements containing all he knew. Courtois had seen Mrs. Williams in his shop half an hour before the shooting.

Attorney Tells of Threat.

"He was asked to take a lie test," Levy said, "and refused on my advice. Then he was told they [the investigators] would find a means of embarrassing him. For that reason he's not going to testify."

Asst. State's Atty. Joseph A. Pope cautioned Mr. and Mrs. Courtois against their attitude, but they remained firm in their refusal to answer questions.

3 WHO LOOTED HYDE PARK HIGH WIN PROBATION

George O'Brien, 18, of 7106 Ridgeland av., who played the musical instruments he stole in order to convince prospective purchasers that the instruments were his, was placed on probation for four months yesterday by Judge Mason S. Sullivan in Boys' court.

O'Brien, Edward McDonald, 17, of 1536 E. 62d st.; Robert Little, 17, of 6751 Cornell av., and Robert Arends, 16, of 3641 N. Parkside av., were charged with stealing instruments valued at $2,000 from Hyde Park High school. They also were charged with burglarizing the Standard Motor Parts company at 6950 Stony Island.

Restitution for most of the stolen articles has been made and the defendants, except Arends, are to enter military service soon, factors Judge Sullivan considered in placing the three on probation. Arends is held in the juvenile home.

EAST CHICAGO STRIKE ENDED; 400 IDLE WEEK

A strike of 400 employes of the Harbison-Walker Refractories in East Chicago, who had been out for a week, was ended yesterday, Julius Kuczma, assistant disputes director of the war labor board announced.

The men walked out Monday after a disagreement with the company over a demand of a sliding scale wage increase for about 50 employes in the dust mill, Kuczma said. The men agreed to go back to work next Monday, and the company agreed to have the plant in operation for them at that time, the WLB said.

Kuczma said the strike issue was not settled, but that both the company and representatives of the United Gas, Chemical and Coke workers, local 120, CIO, had signed an agreement to resume negotiations and to submit the case to the board if they are unable to agree.

Boy's Dog Returns Home and So Does His Appetite

Harburton, N. J., March 3 (AP).—Reunited and happy, a boy and his dog are eating again. Eight year old Stanley Hoffman was so sad he wasn't able to eat his meals after his Great Dane Jatta wandered off on Washington's birthday. Jatta was found in a barn on a farm 17 miles away, and Stanley's father, B. L. Hoffman, an aircraft engineer, said the pet appeared to have been without food a long time. Yesterday, boy and dog started to make up for lost time on rations.

Denied Extra Gas Rations to Run for President

Riley Bender, 5927 Eggleston av., ex-prize fighter and candidate for President in the Illinois preferential primary on the Republican ticket, was denied special gasoline rations of 1,660 gallons to conduct his campaign yesterday. Ration board No. 17, 7923 S. Halsted st., held that in order to obtain special rations a candidate for President or Vice President must be nominated by a national party convention.

GERVASE'S PAST IS SEARCHED FOR CLEW IN SLAYING

The past life of Sam Gervase, 39, an ex-convict, who was slain Thursday night in his refrigerator repair shop at 609 Division st., occupied police attention yesterday as they sought some possible motive for the slaying. Police said they were attempting to learn whether Gervase, who was known as "Snakes" to his friends, had formed new underworld associations recently.

Gervase's body was found late Thursday night crumpled in the rear of the store, riddled by five bullet slugs in the head and chest. Clenched in his right hand was his own .38 caliber revolver from which all six shells had been fired. Mrs. Lessie Curtis, 48, a Negro, who lives above the store, said she heard explosions, which she then thought were from a backfiring automobile, about 8:30 p. m.

The slain man, who lived at 3339 Pierce st., has been in and out of police stations and courts for many years. The last time on official records was in 1942 when he was questioned about a robbery on the northwest side of the city.

'MINISTER' GETS PRISON DESPITE A DIRE WARNING

Buford C. W. Anderson, 30, of 2901 N. Rockwell st., who said he is a minister in the sect of Jehovah's Witnesses, contended yesterday during his trial in federal District court for draft evasion that the prosecution and court will have to answer to "Jehovah God" for prosecuting him. The jury nevertheless found him guilty. In passing sentence of three years in prison, Judge Philip L. Sullivan said, "I have taken my oath to defend the Constitution and I'll take my chances on having to answer to Jehovah God."

MOTORISTS LAG IN BUYING CITY AND STATE TAGS

More than half the passenger car owners who bought city and state license tags last year have failed as yet to purchase their 1944 tags, state and local records disclosed yesterday. Only a slightly higher percentage of light and heavy truck owners have purchased their 1944 licenses.

State records show that 1,592,837 licenses for passenger cars were purchased during 1943, with the great proportion being purchased before the end of February. This year, by the end of that month, only 869,000 license tags have been accounted for by the state department. In 1943 467,423 city tags were purchased, with a sale of only 198,230 tags thus far this year.

BELIEVE MONEY HUNGRY BANDITS SHOT WILLIAMS

Police searching for the shotgun assassins who tried to kill John Joseph Williams early yesterday were investigating a report that a band of gunmen invaded Williams' home last December and carried off $8,000 in currency and a large supply of liquor.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police said the raid was never reported to the police, but news of it came from a reliable source. The raiders interrupted a party being held in honor of Williams' daughter, now 16 months old, Gilbert said.

Learn of Hidden Liquor.

The police also learned that Williams had cached about $20,000 worth of liquor in various places as a hedge against the present shortage, and all of it was stolen. From these reports, the police concluded that the gunmen who trapped and tried to kill Williams were hungry for more of his gambling profits, and may have shot him because he was unable or unwilling to deliver.

Last December Williams and two associates were acquitted of the murder of Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, south side gambling agent for the Guzik gang. Still sought for this murder is James [Red] Fawcett, one-time bodyguard for Danny Stanton, another gambling overseer, who was slain last May 5.

Now the police would like to question Fawcett about the shooting of Williams, who succeeded Quirk in the control of 34 south side gambling houses.

Shot 8 Times in Back.

Williams was shot eight times in the back by enemies who fired two shotgun blasts thru the window and door of his automobile after overtaking him in another car at 57th and Whipple sts. At the Bridewell hospital physicians reported that none of the slugs touched vital spots, and, barring complications, Williams is expected to recover in a few weeks.

As is customary in such cases, he declined to tell police whom he believed to be responsible for the attack. But he expressed himself as content to remain in the Bridewell, presumably because it is safer from gunfire than a private hospital.

During the day, he was visited by his wife, Mary; his mother, Mrs. Ann Williams, former policewoman and 13th ward Democratic committeewoman, and his attorney, James M. Burke, who defended him in the murder trial. They told police they had no information as to why he was shot.

Assassins Fire Second Round.

The assassins pursued Williams as he was driving toward his home at 5623 S. Mozart st., and overtook him at 57th and Whipple sts. They pumped two shotgun blasts thru the windows of his car, drove around the block, and approached Williams' car again as he crouched on the floor. Then they fired two more blasts thru the door of the car.

Police rounded up several of Williams' associates for questioning. Among them was Anthony De Lordo, who was acquitted with him in the Quirk killing. De Lordo, who lives at 6755 S. Wood st., said Williams telephoned his home and asked him to get in touch with him Thursday a few hours after Williams returned from a six weeks' visit at Hot Springs, Ark.

Check De Lordo's Story.

Williams failed to appear at a tavern where they agreed to meet, De Lordo said. He explained that he left the tavern and spent the night with a woman in a hotel in the Englewood district. Police traced De Lordo's movements, found he was telling the truth, and said they would release him.

JUDGE FREES TWO GAMBLERS OVER POLICE PROTEST

Over the strenuous objection of police who said they had worked two years to get such a conviction, Judge Joseph H. McGarry in Felony court yesterday set aside jail sentences imposed by a jury last November on two gamblers and granted them probation. Fines of $1,000 on each of the defendants were not changed.

Jack A. Purpura, 44, of 7947 Burnham av., had been sentenced to four months in the county jail, and Schlime Roitenberg, 32, of 515 Briar pl., to two months, in addition to the fines.

Supervising Capt. Michael Naughton, who has led Commissioner Allman's drive against gambling, entered the police department's objections against probation for the men when they appeared in court yesterday.

"We have worked for 24 months to get a case like this before a jury and get a conviction," Naughton said.

SHOE COUPONS FOR ALL IN MAY, OPA ANNOUNCES

A new pair of shoes will be available for each member of the family in May, the office of price administration announced yesterday. On May 1, the OPA said, it will designate a coupon which will be good indefinitely for one pair. Stamp 18, currently valid for a pair, will expire April 30. The other currently valid shoe stamp—No. 1 in book 3—will be good for at least a few months, the OPA announced, and a month's warning of its expiration will be given.

LEPKE 'STORY' TO BE GIVEN TO DEWEY TODAY

New York, March 3 [Special].—Bristling with names of national importance, the story of Louis [Lepke] Buchalter was being put down on official paper tonight.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan of New York county, only official to visit the mobster chieftain in his Sing Sing prison death house cell, prepared his report to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on his interview yesterday with the man who says he was the link between office seeking politicians and the underworld of New York.

The report will reach the governor's desk in Albany some time tomorrow morning. It contains a rough sketch, an authoritative source disclosed today, of the intrigue by which Lepke hopes to escape death by ripping their mantles of respectability from men in high places.

Talks for 90 Minutes.

It was learned that Lepke was in a highly nervous state when he talked with Hogan in his death cell yesterday. His head had been shaved in preparation for his scheduled execution, then only a few hours away. The conference took place within sight of the door leading into the death chamber. Lepke talked for 90 minutes.

Altho Lepke and his two pals, Louis Capone and Emanuel Weiss, were given a 48 hour stay of execution yesterday 85 minutes before they were slated to die—the governor's office said emphatically that nothing Lepke said had brought about the postponement. They were sentenced for the slaying of Joseph Rosen, a Brooklyn storekeeper.

Gov. Dewey's counsel, Charles D. Breitel, who gave out the order to delay the electrocutions until 11 o'clock tomorrow night, made it clear that the order was issued because Lepke's counsel, J. Bertram Wegman, had announced his intention of appealing to the United States Supreme court in Washington at noon tomorrow for a writ of certiorari.

Approval Means Review.

If the writ is approved it will mean Lepke's already denied plea to be returned to federal custody to finish a 14 year narcotics law violation sentence will be reviewed. The review will be to determine whether the United States District court and th United States Circuit court erred in denying this transfer of custody on Wegman's application.

If, however, the application is denied, it will mean the high court agrees with the lower courts and that Lepke will be executed tomorrow night unless Gov. Dewey sees fit to extend clemency or a further reprieve.

The high court may do one of three things tomorrow: It may deny the writ at once, approve the application at once, or ask that briefs be submitted. This last would presumably mean another stay of execution would be granted at Albany.

Rabbi Asks Delay.

Meanwhile, another attempt to delay tomorrow night's scheduled electrocution was made to the governor today. Rabbi Jacob Katz, Jewish chaplain at Sing Sing prison, who had planned to spend the waning hours with Lepke tomorrow, asked Dewey to put off the execution at least one more day so it would not fall on the Jewish Sabbath, Saturday.

Saturday, Rabbi Katz explained, is a very busy day for him, since he has synagogue duties outside the prison.

That his plea failed to move the governor, however, was indicated when Warden William E. Snyder said arrangements had been made to have the rabbi attend the condemned men.

Mrs. Mildred Merkel, sentenced yesterday for killing of her child, with her husband, Fred.

Mrs. Mildred Merkel, evincing as little emotion as she displayed at the funeral of her 2 year old baby, Claire, whom she killed with a poker last January, yesterday heard Judge Francis B. Allegretti in Criminal court sentence her to "no less than 2 and no more than 4 years" in Dwight reformatory for women.

The demeanor of her husband, Fred, was in sharp contrast. His lips trembled and his hands shook as he told reporters: "I think my wife got a good break by the court. Time will tell whether I can take her back, and whether I can trust the two other children with her again. In the meantime, I'll visit her at Dwight."

COURT EXCUSES JURY PANELS IN LONERGAN CASE

BY ROY GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 3.—The Wayne Lonergan murder trial, which for a week has been sputtering to false starts amid an atmosphere likened by spectators to a three ring circus, came to an abrupt end at one minute before noon today.

Judge John J. Freschi in General Sessions court dismissed two special panels of jurors and ordered Defense Counsel Edward V. Broderick to show cause within one week why he should not be cited for contempt of court and for attempting "to make this trial a farce and mockery."

Lonergan, 26, who is accused of choking and bludgeoning his heiress wife, Patricia, 22, to death in the bedroom of her Beekman Hill apartment last Oct. 24, sat impassive thruout the proceedings.

A further development in the case was the granting of a motion by District Atty. Frank S. Hogan to have a transcript of all records forwarded to the Appellate division "for such action as may seem warranted."

This step was taken as an indication by court attaches that punitive proceedings may be contemplated against Broderick, as the Appellate division can disbar him.

In any event, it was said by members of the district attorney's office, trial of the young R. C. A. F. aircraftsman and night club habitue will be postponed for another week or ten days until a new panel of talesmen can be chosen.

Broderick, however, said he would "fight any attempt to bring Lonergan to trial a second time," on the ground that it would place his client "in double jeopardy."

But Judge Freschi in his written opinion granting dismissal of the panel said that since no jury actually had been sworn in, the question of double jeopardy did not enter the case.

Judge Freschi deplored that the state had been put to the expense of calling the talesmen, adding, "however, there is a human life involved and those other things must take second place in our consideration."

STIMSON ASKS YEAR EXTENSION OF LEND-LEASE

'Stoppage Unthinkable,' He Tells House Group.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—War Secretary Stimson today asked congress to continue the lend-lease program as a means of shortening the war, but dodged the question of whether the United States will recapture unused lend-lease goods from Russia after Germany has been defeated.

The secretary appeared before the house foreign affairs committee which is considering a bill to extend lend-lease authority one year beyond its present expiration date of June 30.

Calls Stoppage Unthinkable.

Asserting that a stoppage of lend-lease aid at this "crucial" time would be "unthinkable," Stimson said:

"Not to extend this legislation would prolong the war and increase the cost to our people in lives and dollars. As the tempo of the fighting in both the Atlantic and Pacific areas is increased, the need for uninterrupted flow of lend-lease supplies becomes more vital. This program is designed to hasten the day of victory by permitting us to put the weapons of victory into the hands of our allies with a flexibility based on strategic considerations."

Rep. Jonkman [R., Mich.] observed that we have sent more than 5 billion dollars' worth of goods to Russia, including 8,300 planes, 4,300 tanks, and more than 220,000 motor vehicles.

Hold Right of Recapture.

Jonkman then asked Stimson whether the United States has any assurance that unused planes and other munitions will be returned to this country by Russia when Germany is beaten, in order to step up the fight against Japan. Russia, he reminded, is not at war with Japan.

After conferring with aids at the hearing, the secretary said we "have the right to recapture lend-lease goods that have not been destroyed" under the agreements with allies.

"Munitions we are sending to Russia will be badly needed to fight Japan," Jonkman replied. "My question is not about our rights, but whether you have confidence the goods actually will be returned to us."

"I can't answer that question," Stimson said.

Dollar Angle Perils Unity.

The secretary went on to say that it is "folly to try to deal with our allies on a dollars and cents basis in the midst of the war." Such "commercial acrimony," he asserted, would endanger the unity so necessary to win the war.

Jonkman retorted that he was not "waving the dollar sign" but was simply raising a question which involves basic military strategy and will affect our power to defeat Japan as quickly as possible.

Foreign Economic Administrator Crowley, who followed Stimson as a witness, also warned against using dollars as a gauge in considering the amount of so-called reverse lend-lease we have received from allies. Crowley previously reported that in return for 20 billion dollars of goods and services lend-leased to all allies, we have received about 1½ billions of supplies and services, nearly all of it from Great Britain.

"I think too much emphasis has been put on the question of reverse lend-lease," Crowley said. "I want as much of it as we possibly can get. But we don't want to be so niggardly in our demands as to endanger unity with our allies. You may be sure that I do not want to give the country's assets away."

PUPILS TACKLE JOB OF EATING 648,000 U. S. EGGS

Fifty thousand Chicago public school children began yesterday the job of eating three carloads of fresh shell eggs that have been allocated free to the bureau of lunchrooms thru the office of distribution of the war food administration, which bought them in eastern states to help hold the price up.

The three cars contained 54,000 dozen eggs, worth $27,000 at the present price of about 50 cents a dozen.

The eggs were hard cooked scientifically in 10 high school lunchrooms and redistributed to more than 200 elementary schools, with a fleet of trucks, hired for the job, making the deliveries before 10:30 a. m., when most elementary schools take time out for the school milk program—with eggs added these days.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools reported yesterday that 1,542,973 hot lunches were served in 569 city and county schools in January, with the federal government paying $153,813 and the state $45,265 of the cost.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR RED CROSS DRIVE MARCH 15

Plans for the annual Red Cross drive to raise $12,000,000 in the Chicago area were laid before 150 community leaders of the Chicago Red Cross chapter last night in the Palmer House by Otto C. Doering.

The drive will open March 15 and will embrace a house to house canvass in the eight communities into which the city has been divided. Block organizations of the civilian defense setup will be utilized in the canvass, Doering said.

WOMAN ACCUSED BY JUDGE FREED IN PERJURY CASE

Verdict Repudiates Leibowitz Action.

New York, March 3 [Special].—Mrs. Edna Hancock, 30, wife of a Seabee, was speedily acquitted in Kings County court today of a perjury charge brought against her thru the urging of another jurist in the same court. She had been accused of perjury in conection with an alleged attempted rape case.

A wave of applause swept the courtroom when the foreman of the jury announced the not guilty verdict after less than two hours of deliberation.

"Mrs. Hancock actually was on trial for her life," said her attorney, Hyman Barshay, "because a woman's most valued possession is her good name and without it her life would have been wrecked."

Accused Fellow Worker.

The perjury charge arose from Mrs. Hancock's testimony against Murray Goldman in which she said he tried to rape her last July 1 in the Brooklyn State hospital where they both then worked as attendants.

Goldman was convicted by a jury on the attempted rape charge and faced 10 years in jail, but the conviction was surprisingly reversed by Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz after Goldman had submitted to a lie detector test. Leibowitz then ordered Mrs. Hancock's arrest on a charge of perjury.

"You have had the misfortune," presiding Judge P. J. Brancato observed to Mrs. Hancock, "of getting yourself entangled in a web of circumstances not entirely of your own spinning whereby your fidelity as a wife and your veracity have been challenged.

"These issues have been passed upon by two different juries who alone in this state have the authority to determine them without the aid of any mechanical device. The final verdicts of both juries vindicate you and negate any inference that might be drawn from the so-called lie detector test given to Goldman."

Goldman Called "Moral Leper."

Judge Leibowitz was the jurist accused in the senate some time ago of smearing Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.] by inducing the convicted operator of a house of degradation to name Walsh as a frequenter of his resort. The statement later was repudiated and Leibowitz was accused by Sen. Clark [D., Mo.] of being guilty of perjury.

The man Leibowitz freed in the rape case was described by both the prosecution and Judge Brancator today as a "moral leper."

'LET US ALONE,' PLEADS DAD OF QUADRUPLETS

[By Wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 3.—Grief stricken at the death of one of his quadruplets last night, Staff Sgt. William Thompson Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., came to London today and made a plea that he and the unmarried mother of his babies be left alone to work out their problems.

MacDonald, last born of the quadruplets and weighing only 3 pounds, died of a hemorrhage in the nursing home at Heanor, Derbyshire, where he and the other babies were being cared for. His death came after Thompson, 26, had returned to his camp in a small west England village after being granted leave to visit the babies' mother, frail, attractive Norah Carpenter, 23, former member of the ATS [similar to the United States WAC].

Mother Is Heartbroken.

The other three children were reported doing well today, but their mother was heartbroken at the death of the little son.

"She's so dreadfully upset, I'm afraid she will have a relapse," said her mother, Mrs. Ellen Carpenter, a munitions worker. "She was so overjoyed about the babies and was making all sorts of plans for them. It worries me terribly to see her so distressed."

And Thompson, all his jubilation and swaggering gone because of the tragedy, said, sadly:

"Norah and I did so much want to rear them all. We were so proud."

Confers with U. S. Officers.

Pale and tense, the young soldier came to United States army headquarters here today to confer with his superiors in an effort to untangle the economic and legal snarl caused by his British romance.

His plea to the public was in the form of a written statement that he handed out to reporters at headquarters while flanked by army officers. It read in part:

"I want to state publicly that I am the father of Norah Carpenter's babies. Norah and I are not married but we hope to be.

"We will always stick together and do all we can for the children because we understand each other and are not ashamed. . . .

Applies for Allowance.

"I have applied for dependent's allowance for each of the children and on top of that they can have all my pay. I want to register the babies in my name and I will support them and their mother from this day onward. . . .

"I am sorry that I have caused unhappiness to my wife in the United States and notoriety to Norah and the babies.

"I hope Norah and I will be left alone now so that we can, together, work out our problems and destinies and so that I may be able honestly to work out my problem with my wife. . . . This is a personal matter to those of us concerned and we only ask that break."

NO OUTSIDE AID FOR PLANTS HERE, OFFICIAL AVERS

Chicago, focal point of the nation's war production with more than 8 billion dollars of contracts in work, will have to turn out the goods demanded by the army and navy without bringing in workers from other areas, Charles P. Casey, state director of the war man power commission, said yesterday.

Casey made his announcement in an appeal to employers to increase worker efficiency by plant studies and training programs. Production in more than 300 plants in the Chicago area has been increased an average of more than 5 per cent per man, and nearly 10 per cent total, thru training programs, he said.

"Sources of skilled labor in Chicago have been drained nearly dry," Casey said, "and it is futile to expect more than a handful of workers can be brought here from less critical areas."

Mrs. Maude Erma Claxton, 39, of 726 S. Madison st., Hinsdale, the wife of an army captain, was placed on probation for one year yesterday on a charge of embezzling $14,573 from the First National Bank of Hinsdale, where she was a trusted employe for many years.

In granting probation on her previous plea of guilty, Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe said he didn't believe society would be served by sending her to prison.

"She has gone thru the worst sort of torture already," he said, "having had to live with her conscience. She has suffered more than she would have to in prison."

An attorney told the court that Mrs. Claxton had given up her home, and had converted her war bonds and other possessions to cash to make partial restitution.

STRATEGY WINS FOR GEORGE, THO HE TAKES PUNCH

George Grimes of 324 S. California av., is only 12, but he knows the value of food, what with ration points and all, so last night when Hogan, the neighborhood toughy, tried to swipe an order of groceries George was delivering, he fought gallantly.

Women ran from their homes as the boys battled in the 2800 block on Jackson blvd., and when Hogan, first name unknown, finally dropped the lighter George to the pavement with a roundhouse right to the nose, Hogan looked longingly at the scattered groceries and then at the angry women and fled.

At County hospital it was said George will be able to resume delivering groceries for Dallas Hartsworn of 2759 Jackson as soon as the swelling goes out of his nose. And on the Warren avenue police blotter is this cryptic description of the case, written by Detective James Fiorito: "Struck on nose with fist by boy named Hogan. Address unknown."

FOUR LIBERALS GIVEN SEATS IN CANADA SENATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3.—Appointment of four new senators to Canada's upper house was announced by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King tonight. All four are liberals from Quebec province.

They are T. D. Bouchard of St. Hyacinthe, minister of public works and roads for Quebec and member of the Quebec legislature; Armand Daigle, Montreal industrialist; J. A. Lesage, official of the Quebec liquor commission, Quebec city, and Cyrille Vaillancourt of Levis, member of the Quebec legislative council.

This brings the liberal representation in the senate to 50 as against 35 progressive conservatives. There are still 11 vacancies. Canada's senate members are appointed by the government.

WAR REPORTER ASSAILS BAN ON PRESS WIRELESS

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent for Collier's magazine, in his new book, "The Curtain Rises," to be issued next Monday by Random House, attacks the federal communications commission for granting a monopoly in transmitting news matter from North Africa to Mackay radio and asks why the "excellent" Press Wireless service was excluded. The chapter touching on Press Wireless, Inc., was written in Algiers last September, according to Reynolds.

Subsequently, RCA Communications also was permitted to set up for business in North Africa. Meanwhile, Press Wireless was blocked in all its efforts to establish stations in the Mediterranean war zone until last Jan. 19 when the FCC finally yielded after the senate interstate commerce committee investigated the discrimination. During these hearings James Lawrence Fly, chairman, spoke of the "complications" of having a "new company" move into the war zone.

Organized 15 Years Ago.

Press Wireless was organized in 1929 by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and associated newspapers after THE TRIBUNE had pioneered the transmission of news matter by radio a decade earlier.

Reynolds, who has been appearing on the radio program, Victory Is Our Business, on W-G-N and other stations since his return from abroad, states in his book that the stories available in Africa last summer weren't worth the six cent a word cable tolls we had to pay a benevolent cable company to transmit our stories Newyorkwards [as wa say in cables].

"The benevolent cable company in question was the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company which, for some strange reason, was given a monopoly by the federal communications commission to operate from Algiers on the understanding that it 'would give satisfactory service.' The service was distinctly not satisfactory to us and often during the Sicilian campaign the already overburdened United States army signal corps had to handle newspaper stories for the correspondents.

Christmas Messages Delayed.

"Last Christmas, as an example, 10,000 messages from service men to their families were either hopelessly delayed or failed entirely to be transmitted due to lack of communications.

"Our complaints fell on the sympathetic ears of our army chiefs, but they could do nothing. In vain we screamed that Press Wireless, Inc. had leaped into the breach during the collapse of France and had handled not only our news stories, but had handled many embassy messages as well. All of us knew how excellent the Press Wireless service was and we knew, too, that the organization was willing to set up shop in Algiers. We had used it constantly in London and even during the worst days it had never broken down.

"But the FCC had granted a monopoly and we were stuck with Mackay and Mackay alone. Their rates for sending a message 'urgent' [giving a priority over messages of ordinary press rates] were so exorbitant that we got together and agreed not to use the 'urgent' service at all. We never did, and we saved our various organizations thousands of dollars."

Boy, 2, Is Bitten While Playing with Pet Dog

DEMANDS FIRING OF A MILLION U.S. CHAIR WARMERS

Langer Assails Huge Burocrat Pay Roll.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—A resolution to empty 1 million swivel chairs in government agencies and thrust the occupants into military service or "genuine productive effort" was introduced in the senate today by Sen. Langer [R., N. D.]. Langer's resolution also calls for the reduction of existing federal bureaus by half. Passage by congress would make it mandatory for the President to fire 1 million jobholders within 90 days. The proposal was referred to the committee on executive expenditures.

Sen. William Langer.

"The executive branch has been permitted to become a vast network of boards, bureaus, offices, commissions, administrations, committees, and other agencies, with overlapping and duplicative functions," Langer said.

"There are more than 3 million persons now feeding at the public trough," Langer continued. "A visit to any department convinces that at least one-third of the so-called workers are unnecessary. The elimination of 1 million from the pay roll would actually speed up the work of the government and promote efficiency and morale.

"Draft deferment of government employes as 'indispensable' men has assumed scandalous proportions. These desk patriots should be cleared out and put into the army and the navy. Thousands of others, waxing fat in swivel chairs, could be better employed in some other manner than helping to confuse civilian life by a multiplicity of burocratic edicts and decrees. Certainly 2 million are enough to carry on the government's war efforts at present."

It Costs a Bond to Miss, So Rabaul Bombers Don't

AN ADVANCED AIR BASE, South Pacific, March 3 (AP).—The boys who bomb Rabaul have a rule: "It'll cost you a war bond if you miss." The only thing wrong with this bond selling plan, however, said the Mitchell B-25 group sponsoring it, is that it doesn't seem to sell many bonds. Almost nobody ever misses.

NORTH IRELAND TO ENGLAND IN A HOSPITAL PLANE

Thompson Flies with Sick Yanks and a Nurse.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN AMERICAN INVASION TRAINING BASE, Somewhere in England, March 3.—I was on hand when flight hospital planes arrived at a Northern Ireland airdrome to evacuate sick troops to mainland hospitals.

As the planes touched down and lined up in single file a fleet of ambulances rolled out onto the runway. Inside each plane nurses and technicians had knocked down bucket seats and flicked litter racks into place to make ready for their patients.

Take Off in 20 Minutes.

The ambulances backed up to the open plane doors. Litters were lifted gently and slid onto the planes where two bearers carried the patients to the racks, bolting their litters solidly to avoid shifting. Sandwiches were taken aboard. In 20 minutes each plane had its quota, the ambulances left, the pilots started their engines, and we took off.

Each week a similar scene is enacted to move nearly 300 patients weekly to hospitals in the interior of Britain. Some are mental cases, which have priority now.

These patients will be treated in Britain until cured or pronounced unfit for further duty. Soldiers with severe wounds requiring long treatment will, after preliminary treatment, be held in Britain during the invasion and then probably shipped home across the Atlantic in four engine transport planes.

Pilot from Wisconsin.

On the flight to England, our crew included Capt. Edward A. Bronson of Racine, Wis., the pilot; Sgt. Ted L. Groach, 3659 Shakespeare av., Chicago, the radio operator; Nurse Lillian Mary Kinkela of San Francisco, Cal., and her technician, Sgt. S. T. Farley of Provo, Utah.

Among their patients were Pvt. Robert Templeton of Marion, Ind., an airborne truck driver who had irritated an old injury by carrying a wounded soldier, and Pvt. Vincil Stephenson, 223 Milo ct., West Chicago, Ill., a rifleman suffering from ulcers.

Capt. Bronson took us off the ground smoothly, but the trip was rough. Several patients became slightly air sick.

Could Operate in Sky.

On a flight from the front, the plane's nurse and technician would be prepared to administer blood plasma or to perform any of the other functions of a normal hospital during war. In an emergency, the physician who rides on the plane with the most serious cases could even perform an operation.

As we flew over the sea chatting with the patients, the nurses and the technician, Crew Chief Tech. Sgt. Frank Cavallo produced the sandwiches, made hot coffee on a small stove, and opened K-ration boxes.

The plane had a heating system but the air soon became quite cold. Nurse Kinkela was not uncomfortable, however, and inquiry disclosed she was wearing bright, scarlet, long handled underwear under her trim, blue flight suit. The suit was modeled after the British battle dress, and on it Miss Kinkela proudly wore the tiny gold wings of an air evacuation nurse.

She Will Stay Thru War.

Was our pretty nurse interested in going home? She answered:

"I came over here to do a job. When the war is over, then I'll think about returning home."

We were lost for nearly an hour, not an uncommon occurence, while the pilots circled about seeking a tiny airport. Then down we came. Ambulances rolled out, directed by Capt. J. G. Stone of 1907 S. Cicero av., Cicero, Ill., a premedical liaison officer, and in 20 minutes the planes were empty and ready to return to their home field.

WARNS OF PERIL TO CHURCHILL IN ARMY PAY ROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, March 4 [Saturday].—As a result of his near defeat in the house of commons on the question of higher army pay Thursday and the general criticism of the inadequacy of the pensions bill yesterday, Prime Minister Churchill will make a statement on the subjects, probably at the next session of the house, it was understood today.

Indications were that while the government might agree to increase certain army pay rates and allowances, it will be reluctant to make major concessions on the grounds that all-around increases might lead to a serious inflation.

Today's News Chronicle, however, warned that unless the government goes a long way toward satisfying demands by members of parliament, "another crisis will develop," adding: "Parliament may be relied upon to be watchful but resolute, and will refuse to be 'fobbed off' with a feeble compromise."

NORTHERN ITALY HIT BY STRIKES AND TERRORISM

Price Rise and Labor Export Protested.

BY P. E. BRIQUET.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHIASSO, on the Swiss-Italian frontier, March 3.—Violence has flared in most of neo-Fascist northern Italy as a result of inflation and soaring prices, newspaper accounts disclosed today.

In Milan this morning, numerous strikes were called because of inadequate food rations and wages. Street car service was at a standstill while the strikers demonstrated against the exporting of Italian labor to Germany.

[Other dispatches said that a general strike was spreading thruout northern Italy affecting an estimated 6,000,000 workers.]

Police Chief Missing.

Earlier, the kidnaping of the Milan police chief was announced. Partisans dressed as German soldiers left Milan on a stolen locomotive several days ago, taking the kidnaped official with them, one report said.

Food prices in Milan restaurants were raised this week by decree, the Milan Sera explaining that when a raw chicken leg costs a restuarant owner 25 lire, he cannot serve a meal for 40 lire as had been required by law.

In Turin, the government issued a decree against the current "business strike," ordering that "all closed stores must be reopened within a fortnight at the penalty of loss of license and the confiscation of all wares."

The decree states further that "the measure has been taken to ease living conditions" for the people of Turin. It charges that strikers "are reserving their wares for the black market or as a means of putting pressure on the authorities in order to force higher price levels."

Linked to Florence Mop-up.

Foreign observers saw a connection between the strike movement in Milan and the mopping up operations against guerrillas in Florence, an activity said to be highly pleasing to the neo-Fascist authorities.

It was asserted that following numerous outrages of a political nature the Republican Guard discovered a huge terrorist organization directed by the Action Party of the National Liberation Front.

Meanwhile a wave of terrorism was reported sweeping the countryside in Umbria, on the south of the province of Tuscany. Two militant neo-Fascist priests were found shot in the neck at Foligno. The same fate was met by the secretary to the mayor, a communal secretary, and a police officer at another town.

Foreign observers recalled here that "shooting in the neck is a Communist custom and that these are practically the first instances of it recorded in Italy."

12 Die in Crash; 1 Chicagoan.

Shreveport, La., March 3 (AP).—Twelve Barksdale field airmen were killed today when two medium bombers crashed after a collision in flying formation. The planes were buried in the mud of a field, eight miles northeast of Shreveport. There were no survivors. Among the dead was 2d Lt. Joseph Frank Zacharias, 23, co-pilot, of Chicago. His wife is Mrs. Lillianne Zacharias of 8416 Luella av.

Cadet Killed in Plane Leap.

Newburgh, N. Y., March 3 (AP).—A Stewart field aviation cadet was killed and his instructor was injured seriously last night when they bailed out of a low flying disabled training plane near Liberty. The cadet who lost his life was Monte U. Nestingen of Westby, Wis. The injured instructor is 1st Lt. Lyman R. Hunter of Atlanta, Ga.

REDS 5 MILES FROM PSKOV IN NEW ADVANCE

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—A Red army column closing in on Pskov from the east drove to a point only five miles from that key communications center today, Moscow announced.

This represented approximately a six mile advance in the area and put soviet troops in the city's outskirts in two directions.

Moving along two railroads, the Russians swept up 17 towns and four railway stations, bringing their lines to a point eight miles southeast of Pskov. They are already six miles from Pskov in the north. At another point 17 miles southeast of Pskov the Russians were only six miles from the Pskov-Ostrov railway, which they seek to cut.

Improve Narva Bridgehead.

Three of the railway stations captured were on the Pskov-Polotsk railway. The nearest to the city was 15 miles southeast. The fourth station was on the Pskov-Staraya Russa line about 12 miles east of Pskov.

Other troops farther north continued to improve their positions in their Estonian bridgehead southwest of Narva, said the broadcast war bulletin recorded by the soviet monitor.

[A Moscow radio broadcast recorded by United States government monitors said the Russians south of Pskov were fighting in Pushkin state forest, named in honor of the 19th century poet, and were on the approaches to a district center 30 miles southeast of Ostrov.]

Report Narva Afire.

Altho the terse soviet announcement gave no details of the northernmost fighting at Narva, unofficial Moscow reports said Narva was in flames and that the Germans were setting the torch to nearby Estonian villages. A freakish spring-like thaw melted ice and snow and made many roads in the wooded and swampy area impassable.

The last soviet statement of the position on this front said that the Russians had driven a 22 mile bridgehead across the Narva river to a depth of nine miles. The spearhead of this drive cut the Narva-Tallinn railway nine miles west of Narva at Auvere.

Narva, an ancient fortress town, is still held by the Germans but the Russians have it almost surrounded and the only German escape route appeared to be by sea.

No mention was made in the soviet bulletin concerning fighting north of Rogachev and around the bastion of Vitebsk in White Russia, or northwest of Nevel where the Red army was driving on the Pskov-Polotsk railway.

NAZI WAR BULLETIN

The German Friday war bulletin as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press said:

"On the southern sector of the Russian front there was only small scale local fighting yesterday [Thursday].

"German combat plane formations attacked Russian troop concentrations and deployments in the Polonnoye-Shepetovka area [Dnieper bend] with good success.

"North of Rogachev [White Russia] the enemy continued his tenacious breakthru attempts after bringing up additional divisions. After heavy fighting, during which 20 tanks were shot up, German troops achieved another defensive victory.

"At Vitebsk the Russians attacked in two sectors with infantry and tank formations. The attack was repelled. Southeast of Vitebsk German troops destroyed 14 out of 18 attacking Russian tanks. Northeast of the town 17 tanks which had broken thru the German lines were destroyed by German assault artillery and anti-tank weapons.

"Northwest of Nevel heavy defensive fighting continues. The Russians sustained heavy losses during futile attacks.

"Southeast of Pskov enemy attacks failed.

"Fierce fighting is still going on in the Narva river area, where Russian troops are attacking."

Japs Plan to Move Famed Java Treasures to Japan

San Francisco, Cal., March 3 (AP).—The Japanese are reported preparing to remove some of the unique treasures of the world famed Borobudur monumental mound from Java to Japan. Aneta, the Netherlands news agency, reported from Melbourne today Japanese experts are directing the uncovering of the mound, believed to have been built by a Hindu cult between the 8th and 10th centuries.

Bar Men Called for Draft from Air Cadet Training

Aviation cadet training was closed yesterday to draft registrants who have received orders to report for pre-induction examinations and to enlisted men in the army who previously were permitted to apply for transfers, according to Capt. F. A. Wilgus, president of the army aviation cadet selection board. Emphasis now is being placed on 17 year olds youths who can qualify for training as members of combat flying teams.

ADEQUATE HELP GOING TO PACIFIC NOW, SAYS KNOX

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Navy Secretary Knox today expressed regret the "impression has been created that the brave men taken prisoner on Bataan and Corregidor were neglected and abandoned by their government," and said adequate supplies to crush Japan are now reaching the South and Southwest Pacific fronts. Replying to a letter from Sen. Chavez [D., N. M.] about "our gallant prisoners in Japanese hands," Knox wrote that "every means at our command at the time were utilized in an endeavor to succor these men."

"The news of their subsequent plight as prisoners of war was withheld to avoid any possibility of impairing negotiations with the Japanese government relative to the treatment of prisoners," he said.

"Only when it had been conclusively determined that the Japanese government, after repeated representations by our department of state, was not disposed to permit any further aid to prisoners of war in its hands, was the report of the atrocities made public."

OUST TUGWELL, PUERTO RICAN SENATORS URGE

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Removal of Rexford Guy Tugwell as governor of Puerto Rico—by impeachment if necessary—was asked of congress today by a delegation of island legislators.

The group was composed of coalitionist senators who are political opponents of Puerto Rico's Popular party and, among other charges, they said Tugwell had allied himself with the Popular party.

The governorship of Puerto Rico is an appointive office and Tugwell was named to it by President Roosevelt.

The spokesman for the delegation, Jose Balseiro, told a house insular affairs subcommittee that Tugwell had built up "a vast bureaucracy at great expense to the people of the island in order to gain supporters" and was "seeking to bring under government control and under government ownership every possible type of private business and every aspect of the island's economic life."

PLAN TO AWARD THIRD OF ITALY'S FLEET TO REDS

Stalin Idea, Says F.D.R.; Congressmen Protest.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—President Roosevelt disclosed today plans to transfer one-third the surrendered Italian fleet or its equivalent to Russia. The announcement brought an immediate storm of protests from Capitol hill.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference the suggestion was advanced by Marshal Stalin in a recent message transmitted thru Soviet Ambassador Gromyko. He said the plan is only about half decided.

He explained that Italy surrendered to Britain, Russia, and the United States, and that the soviets would be entitled to a division of the results of the surrender. Aside from the fair division, he said, the United States is anxious to give Russia any aid it can.

It is believed that the number of Italian warships of all types which surrendered totaled more than 100. Official figures are lacking but naval headquarters in North Africa listed 80 Italian ships in allied hands last Sept. 14.

Five Battleships on List.

Listed in that recapitulation were five battleships, one aircraft carrier, eight cruisers, 27 destroyers, 19 submarines, 12 torpedo boats, six corvettes, one auxiliary cruiser, and one hospital ship.

The fleet is now operating under its own officers, taking directions from Marshall Badoglio's admiralty which, in turn, is under control of the allied high command.

"I can't see what need the Russians have of a fleet at present," said Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.], "especially at a time when we are engaged in a two ocean war and Russia is active only on the land front. The Russians do not have ports for a fleet.

"Evidently the soviets are seeking to build sea power for after the war, and evidently they intend to acquire ports in this war. There have been reports Russia intends to take ports on the Atlantic and warm water ports in the middle east.

"I also do not understand what is meant by 'the equivalent in other ships.' I would assume it means giving American vessels to the soviets."

Jonkman Protests Action.

Rep. Jonkman [R., Mich.] expressed himself against transfer of any American ships to Russia while this country is fighting a two ocean war. Such a proposal is entirely without justification, he said.

"Under any such agreement Russia should use its part of the Italian fleet in the war against Japan," said Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.]. "We have given Russia millions under lend-lease for its war against Germany without getting any help against Japan in return."

Rep. Chiperfield [R., Ill.] said he knew nothing of the legal complications involved, but felt that if such a transfer is made Russia should employ the ships at least to escort convoys of American materials moving to Russia under lend-lease so as to release American war vessels for war against Japan.

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that Undersecretary of State Stettinius will soon go on a diplomatic mission to London.

Stettinius is expected to discuss war and post-war problems with British and soviet representatives in London. The President said one of the matters for consideration is the organization of the European committee collaboration, composed of British, Russian, and American officials.

President Roosevelt refused to discuss the congressional tax revolt. Asked if he had seen Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader who broke with him over the tax veto, Mr. Roosevelt replied no and went on to other matters.

British Fear Repercussions.

[Copyright: 1944: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 3. — President Roosevelt's announcement that the Italian fleet would be divided among the United States, Britain, and Russia came as a surprise to the British who fear the announcement may have "awkward repercussions."

It was not explained what these "awkward repercussions" might be but the general feeling here is that the announcement is not calculated to inspire much confidence in the Italian crews manning these ships now in important naval operations.

French Want Some.

Incidentally, the French feel they have a claim on the Italian fleet. Their argument is that they were attacked first by the Italians and since their fleet has been virtually wiped out they contend it would be no more than fair to hand over to France at least some of the Italian fleet which was designed mainly for operations in the Mediterranean.

Both the Greek and Jugo-Slav governments also have shown considerable interest in getting Italian ships. Their officials are said to be disappointed by the decision to divide the ships among the United States, Britain, and Russia.

GREENWICH HIT IN RAID? BRITISH REFUSE TO SAY

LONDON, March 3 (AP). — Broadcast German claims that London's famed Greenwich observatory and naval school and the Bank of England were destroyed in recent German air raids on the British capital brought only noncommittal answers today.

"Mind you, we're not telling whether they are even damaged," one authority warned, "because Jerry obviously is fishing for information.

"But even if everything was done to them that DNB [the German news agency] claims, I would like to point out that none comes near to being a military objective in the strict sense."

Sforza Calls for Super-League Shifted from Geneva to Fiume

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

SOMEWHERE IN ITALY, March 3.—Restoration of the Dodecanese Islands to Greece on a plebiscite basis and the establishment of an international zone housing a new league of nations in Fiume and the largely Slav populated hinterland around it were recommended today by Count Carlos Sforza in an interview.

This noted opponent of fascism said that "as atonement for the crimes of fascism against Greece and the new proof of Italian loyalty to the principles of nationality we should be glad as Italians to favor the Dodecanese going to Greece if the inhabitants wish to do so." Concerning the complicated problem of Slav claims to the Fiume and the Trieste regions, he said:

"The Fiume and the Slovenian regions belonging to Italy cannot be considered in the light of a perfect frontier such as exists between Italy and France. On the other hand it is senseless to think of narrow minded, nationalistic frontiers which change every 25 years."

Suggest Fiume as Seat.

Fiume is an excellently equipped port, he continued, and the new league of nations must be more powerful and better equipped than that of Geneva, Switzerland, therefore Fiume and its adjoining territory could well be offered as a seat for a new super-league. He added:

"The league would become stronger on the problems of eastern Europe. It would please Russia, which has not received very courteous treatment from the Swiss."

Urges International Port.

Sforza suggested that Trieste should remain territorially Italian, but that its port be internationalized under a central European commission.

Altho conceding that Ethiopia's independence was a "necessary compensation" for the crime of invasion, Sforza contended "it would not only be ungenerous but unwise to take away from democratic Italy her own pre-Fascist colonies."

U. S. TO RETURN SHIPS SEIZED IN FALL OF FRANCE

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—A substantial number of French merchant ships requisitioned by the United States and Britain after the fall of France will be turned over to the French committee for national liberation for service under the French flag.

The British-American-French agreement to this effect was announced by the war shipping administration today.

Crews will be supplied and paid by the French committee in a step toward revitalizing the French merchant marine. The WSA said the French group would put all its ocean going tonnage at the disposition of the allies until the axis is defeated.

YANK BOMBERS HAMMER ROME RAILROAD YARDS

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, March 3 (AP).—American heavy bombers struck a new blow at the enemy's railway communications thru Rome today as the Italian campaign entered a new deadlock following the breakdown of a third German attempt to smash the allies' Anzio beachhead.

Despite bad weather which blanketed much of the peninsula, Flying Fortresses bombed the Littorio and Tiburtina rail yards in outlying sections of the capital, while Liberators bombed Viterbo air field 35 miles north of the city, which has served as one of the Nazis' main military air bases in central Italy. Fighter planes escorted the big bombers.

Fifth Raid on City.

This was the fifth time Rome has been bombed by the allies. The yards hit today are along the main rail route for German military traffic from northern Italy to the battle areas. They are several miles from Vatican City.

[The Rome radio said some bombs fell in the vicinity of the Vatican. It reported that windows in the basilica of St. Paul were damaged, that some 40 dead had been removed from ruins and that there were 200 wounded. The Protestant cemetery also was reported damaged.]

Rain Deepens Mud.

After the brilliant sunshine of yesterday, which permitted 1,600 allied planes to deliver the coup de grace to the routed Germans with heavy blows at troop concentrations and gun positions, more spring rain poured down today and deepened the Italian mud.

The latest enemy attempt to liquidate the allied holding near Rome was described officially today as a "costly failure." The crack American 3d division, which bore the brunt of the German attack, was credited with having scored "a complete defensive success." Most of the 3d division men come from the Pacific coast.

Regain Lost Ground.

Extremely heavy casualties again were inflicted upon the attacking German forces, and probably half of a force of 70 to 80 Nazi tanks that led the offensive were destroyed or knocked out of action. All lost ground was regained.

On the Cassino front Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's 5th army troops still are being held up by the stubborn German defense.

[A Berlin broadcast said German light naval forces had shelled the Corsican harbor of Bastia Wednesday night "with good results." It added that in the Netunno beachhead "German troops carried out numerous shock troop operations with good success," and reported that bombers and artillery had hit two destroyers and one transport vessel at Anzio and Nettuno.]

NAZI RAIDS KILL 50,324 BRITONS, INJURE 163,075

SHEFFIELD, England, March 3 (AP).—Home Security Minister Herbert Morrison said in a speech tonight that 50,324 British civilians have been killed by bombs and 163,075 have been injured.

He said the renewed raids on London were not so bad as the Germans' "worst performances" of 1940-'41, but "there have been some few episodes comparable with the worst single incidents of the big blitzes."

More Pilots Lost: Germans.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 3 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Boebachter, today said Germany has lost more air force pilots during the war than civilians killed during air raids. It gave no figures in either category.

The Berlin radio yesterday announced that Ensign Fritz Todt, 19 year old son of the late munitions minister, Dr. Fritz Todt, had died a "hero's death" as a German fighter pilot.

Super-Bomb

6-TON BRITISH SUPERBOMBS NOW HIT NAZIS

Few of Them Wreck Big Factory.

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—Bombs weighing 12,000 pounds are now crashing down on German targets with enormous destructive effects, the air ministry disclosed tonight. The largest previously announced bomb used by the R. A. F. was a four tonner.

R. A. F. bombers have been carrying the giant bombs for at least a month but the existence of the "super-super blockbusters" has been a closely guarded military secret. This new weapon of destruction was invented by British scientists for attacks on special targets.

"Its destructive effect on a big factory is already proved to be enormous," the air ministry said. "A few of these bombs brought down the greater part of the very large Gnome-Rhone aero engine works at Limoges on the night of Feb. 8."

Lancasters Carry Bombs.

The missile was carried by Lancaster bombers which attacked a German aircraft factory at Albert, in nothern France, last night.

"Night photographs showed the 12,000 pounders hit the factory fair and square," the announcement said. "The crews had been given strict instructions to bring the bombs back if there was the slightest doubt about identifying and hitting the target."

"To produce a bomb of this size was a remarkable feat of engineering," the air ministry said.

Create Intense Fire.

Describing last night's operations, a squadron leader said he "made a very careful search for the factory buildings."

"They were well camouflaged by the Germans," he said. "When I was absolutely certain, my deputy leader put the markers right in the middle works. The rest of the crews bombed and the 12,000 pounders went off one after another within a very few yards of the aiming point. The whole attack took about a quarter of an hour. Each bomb was deliberately and carefully aimed. Immediately after the first bomb went off there was intense fire and a cloud of dense smoke."

U. S. PLANES FLY OVER BERLIN FOR 1ST TIME IN WAR

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—Fleet twin-engined, twin-fuselage P-38 Lightning fighters of the United States 8th Air force carried out an offensive sweep over Berlin today, marking the first time American war planes had flown over the German capital.

The sweep was made as American Flying Fortresses and Liberators blasted industrial and shipping targets in northwest Germany and American medium Marauders smashed Nazi air fields in France. In all these operations six American fighters and ten bombers were lost and at least eight enemy fighters shot down.

United States air force headquarters announced simply that the Lightnings had "carried out an offensive sweep" over Berlin, but it was learned later that the fighters, after flying at least 575 miles to their target, raced back and forth across the city at high altitudes for several minutes without opposition.

The pilots also flew at least 15 miles beyond Berlin for a probable record penetration of the Reich, the army said. They expressed surprise at the lack of Nazi fighter opposition.

Yanks Near Berlin Previously.

The Lightnings were looking for trouble while the heavy bombers were hitting the northwest German targets, but they apparently failed to find it, for the returning pilots made no claims of damaging or destroying enemy aircraft.

The German news agency DNB reported in a broadcast dispatch: "Berlin and its environs had no raid alarm Friday. American bomber formations heading for north German territory did not penetrate beyond the coastal area." It claimed 28 American planes, including 21 four engined bombers, were shot down.

The long-range American fighters were the first American warplanes ever seen over Berlin, altho some fighters previously had flown within sight of the capital while escorting bombers on penetrations to Leipzig, about 100 miles to the southwest.

The Lightning dash over Berlin marked only the second time that daylight offensive operations over Berlin have been reported. On Jan. 30, 1943, R. A. F. Mosquitos, also twin-engined, twice bombed the city by daylight to disorganize the celebration of the 10th anniversary of Hitler's rise to power.

Calais Coast Raided.

While these operations were being carried out over Germany today, thousands of American planes bombed the Pas-de-Calais area of the French channel coast.

The exact targets hit by the heavy bombers in northwest Germany were not immediately identified, but one airman said: "We got a good bomb run."

After dark, R. A. F. bombers in large formation roared east to strike a new night blow at the continent.

The Marauders enjoyed clear weather over France and made a highly-successful series of bombings without loss to themselves or escorts.

The French air fields hit by the Marauders are believed to have been used as bases for the recent German night raids on London. All the targets are about 60 miles northwest of Paris, more than 130 miles inland and the deepest point of Marauder penetration in almost eight months of operation from Britain. The air fields are at Rosieres-en-Santerre, Montdidier, Beauvais-Tille and Laon.

All types of allied aircraft took part in today's operations, which included an assault on German installations along the "rocket gun coast" of France by Mitchells, Bostons and Mosquitos working with a protective cover of Typhoon escorts.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In a story from Washington, D. C., published in THE TRIBUNE Feb. 23, the statement was made that Henry R. Luce, head of the Time-Life-Fortune magazine axis, had "never donned a uniform — in this war or the World war." Luce's biographies show that in August, 1918, he joined other members of the Yale university R. O. T. C. at Camp Jackson, and three weeks after his induction into service as a 2d lieutenant, field artillery, was assigned to the 7th training battery, F. A. C. O. T. S., at Camp Zachary Taylor, from which he was discharged on Dec. 15, of the same year. Altho Luce, now 45 years old, was of military age at the start of this war when his publications were fanning war fever, he has not enlisted.

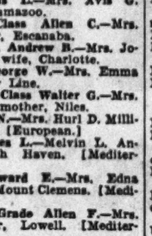
TOP YANK ACE IN BRITAIN LOST; BAGGED 18 NAZIS

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—Maj. Walter Carl Beckham, the leading American fighter ace in the European theater of operations, was officially listed tonight as missing in action. He was the victim of a single burst from a German anti-aircraft gunner who accomplished what scores of German fighter pilots had failed to do.



Maj. W. C. Beckham.

The 27 year old Thunderbolt pilot from De Funiak Springs, Fla., who had 18 victories, went down recently with the safety of his airmen uppermost in his mind. "Take the boys home, George," he called over the radio as flak bit into his ship. "I can't make it." As Lt. George Perpente of New Brunswick, N. J., hesitated, Beckham barked: "Get the hell out of here. Take a course of 310 degrees, stay low, and get going. I hope to see you all later."

Then Beckham nosed his plane up to get altitude, apparently in an effort to bail out. When last seen, he still was flying, tho his plane was afire. While downing 18 German planes, Beckham established a remarkable record. Never did a bullet from a Nazi plane ever scratch the paint of his P-47.

GERMANS EAGER TO MAKE PEACE IN WEST: DARRAH

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LISBON, Portugal, March 3.—Altho we internees were guarded carefully at our Baden-Baden hotel on the edge of the Black forest, it was still possible to get a view of conditions in Germany from scraps of conversation with servants and Gestapo guards, from walks in town and country, and from reading newspapers.

The German population, I am convinced, while still unbroken is apathetic and war weary. Nazi leaders while defiantly arrogating to themselves the title of civilization's defenders against bolshevism, are desperately eager to get the war stopped and to come to terms with Germany's enemies in the west.

Promise Post-War Paradise.

To all appearances, the discipline, organization, and considerable ability of the leadership have contributed much toward enabling Germany to carry on thru four and a half years of war. Nazi leaders have been able also to impress the people with a horrifying picture of what life would be if the bolsheviks became the masters of Europe. In addition, they have buoyed the hopes of the people with their promises of a National Socialist paradise to follow the German victory.

Socially and politically the German position is likely to be dramatically affected by the fact that some 12,000,000 foreign workers are employed in Germany. Half are prisoners and half represent volunteer or requisitioned workers. They constitute a sort of Trojan horse which might become really dangerous any time.

For the moment they are in hand and the Germans say this labor is satisfactory. They also expect favorable political results from it, inasmuch as the workers will come to know Germany and the German people from first hand contacts.

All Labor Mobilized.

In all areas of Germany labor is performed by these foreign workers and prisoners or by women. Since last February every man between 16 and 65 years old, and all women 18 to 45, have been mobilized in totalitarian warfare, thereby releasing man power to the army. In Baden-Baden hotels nearly all personnel was foreign, mainly French.

The German leaders themselves admit there has been growing unrest and resistance in occupied countries. They attempt to counter this by telling conquered peoples Germany is defending European unity against the Communists. Much is made of the bogey that the Russians will transport German workers to Russia after the war to repair damages. On all sides in Germany can be seen signs reading, "Victory or Bolshevism."

Admit Price Rise.

Field Marshal Hermann Goering, as president of the Germans' four year plan and ministry of economic defense committee; Dr. Walther Funk, president of the reichsbank; Dr. Albert Speer, chief of armament production, and Dr. Ley, chief of the workers' front, control among them the economic life of the nation which is organized on a beehive basis.

Funk, early in February, admitted that German price levels had risen 10 per cent. Speer asserts production has not been affected by allied bombings, but it is believed armament production generally is down 15 per cent. Germany's public debt at the beginning of the war was 34 billion marks. It is now 228 billion marks. Bartering of civilian goods is common, for there is little to buy.

To prevent open expressions of dissatisfaction, Heinrich Himmler, head of the dread Gestapo, last August was made minister of the interior. Newspapers thereafter frequently reported executions of defeatists.

GREEK PATRIOTS AGREE TO HALT THEIR CIVIL WAR

CAIRO, March 3 (AP).—With the aid of American and British liaison officers operating in the mountains of Greece, the two main Greek guerrilla organizations have signed a peace agreement to end their bitter civil war, it was announced officially here today.

The two groups, the Edes and the Elas, agreed to devote their efforts jointly to fighting the Germans, immediately and permanently ending their hostilities against each other and releasing all prisoners and hostages within 15 days.

Look for Renewed Activities.

The allies now look for stepped-up guerrilla fighting against the Germans in Greece.

The pact was praised officially by American and British authorities in Cairo as a long step forward in the troublous situation in this important Balkan country, where there has been little organized opposition to the Germans because of the internal conflict.

The Edes are the Greek national democratic army, led by Gen. Napoleon Zervas, while the Elas are the military organization of the national liberation front, which is known as the EAM.

Supplies Once Cut Off.

It is expected generally in Cairo that the allies will once more increase supplies to both parties. Supplies were cut off completely at one time from one of the factions on the ground that they were being used only against Greeks, rather than against Germans.

The peace pact was signed in a Greek mountain retreat where leaders of the guerrilla factions have been negotiating since Feb. 10 with liaison officers, who also signed the agreement.

YANKS REPULSE JAP BLOWS, GAIN IN ADMIRALTIES

Re-enforcements Widen Grip on Air Base.

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 4—[Saturday]—(AP).—Fifth cavalry regiment reënforcements have expanded the invasion hold around Momote airdrome on Los Negros Island in the Admiralties, headquarters announced today.

Los Negros was invaded Tuesday. The new advances gave the allies a firmer foothold on a strategic position in the Bismarck sea which has by-passed Rabaul and severed Japan's supply route between Truk and New Guinea.

From a beachhead a mile long, running north and south the cavalrymen moved ahead Friday in all directions against the few thousand Japanese holding the bulk of Los Negros, after earlier throwing back Nipponese counter-attacks.

Bomb Jap Airdrome.

Mitchell and Boston bombers pounded the Japanese on Los Negros and enemy positions on the larger Admiralty island of Manus, including its big Lorengau airdrome.

Japanes planes tried to interfere and eight Zeros were shot down.

On Los Negros, where reënforcements were put ashore Thursday to switch the operation from reconnaissance in force to full-fledged invasion, contact with the enemy is constant.

From the beach the invaders moved west and all along the western boundary there has been bitter fighting. Several enemy counter attacks were repulsed Thursday and Thursday night. The dismounted cavalrymen fought from rude foxholes and hastily built pillboxes.

Yanks Rebuilding Airdrome.

The Japanese battled from ridges about a mile and three-quarters inland. Because of their desperate resistance, the American gains were slight.

Rain since the original landing has hampered work on captured Momote air field but construction is progressing. The field was seized in fairly good condition but had been cratered by the preparatory bombardment and since has been a target of Japanese mortars.

The consecutive run of daily raids on Rabaul, New Britain, a fortress whose neutralization made possible the deep excursion into the Bismarck sea, was cut off at 15. Bad weather prevented continuance of the recent unchallenged assaults.

The air war in the Solomons, which has been held in abeyance while planes from those bases moved against Rabaul, grew in intensity. Headquarters reported nearly 200 tons of bombs have been dropped in the latest attacks on Japanese positions on Bougainville.

ALLIED PLANES AND SUBS SLASH JAP SEA LINES

CHUNGKING, China, March 3 (AP).—Allied air and submarine action which has sunk nine ships totaling 75,000 tons has forced the Japanese to suspend shipping service between Formosa and Hongkong and disrupted service between Japan and Formosa, a Japanese war prisoner has informed Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's command.

The prisoner said Formosa-Hongkong shipping was suspended after three 5,000 ton steamers were sunk, two by submarines, one by planes. The Japanese adopted a devious passage from Japan to Formosa, requiring three months travel, after six 10,000 ton ships were sent to the bottom.

Mitchells of the 14th United States air force sank a 750 ton cargo vessel near Moncay, French Indo-China, yesterday and started fires in an attack on railroad shops and coal plant at Campha port, Stilwell's headquarters announced.

ENVOY TO RUMANIA TO SEE PETAIN.

NEW YORK, March 3 [AP].—Paul Morand, Vichy French minister to Rumania, left Bucharest yesterday to return to France for conferences with Chief of State Marshal Petain, the German controled Paris radio said today. The broadcast was reported by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence service.

HOW MEN, TANKS LEAD AND FLAME WON PARRY ISLE

Tribune Man Tells of Destruction.

ters. In foxhole after foxhole Jap dead in twos, threes, and fours sit huddled where our grenades caught them.

The charred interiors of the foxholes and dugouts show that our flame thrower crews, indispensable units in these hunts, missed no tricks.

Our Flame Throwers Win.

Ironically, at the north beach, where the marines landed, two Jap flame thrower operators, their weird apparatus still strapped to them, lay half cooked, their lips shrunk across white teeth in ghastly grins. Our flame throwing lads got the drop on them.

You hear stories of strange Jap actions during battle, such as their failure to use the cocked machine guns found a few feet from their bodies. Our own shell-shock cases are a clew to that answer. Men who have survived the nerve shattering shock of blast after blast are slow witted and drunk. It takes hours, perhaps days, not minutes, for their full faculties to return.

Tales of the Jap being a superfighter seem to be greatly overdone. Our boys who meet them personally in conflict say they are often confused and frightened, their faces showing that they know death is only a moment off.

Tank crews report that the Japs darted back and forth aimlessly as the turret guns sought them out. Many dashed into the water to escape the tanks but were mowed down there. Their bodies now are being washed up on the beach.

U. S. REPATRIATE SHIP DELAYED TILL NEXT WEEK

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LISBON, March 3.—Sailing of the repatriation ship Gripsholm with American diplomats from Vichy and civilians from French and German concentration camps has been delayed. Originally set for yesterday, it probably will not take place before Sunday or Monday.

The delay has been caused by the nonarrival of the civilians' train. One report was that the railway line thru Spain and Portugal had been blocked with snow.

Meanwhile the American diplomatic party here was enjoying itself. Several members were on shopping tours in Lisbon. Others have made excursions into the interior of Portugal by train or car. There was a record attendance yesterday at the luncheon of Lisbon's American club.

U.S. FLYERS RAID 2 KURILES BASES; NO PLANES LOST

Blast Paramushiro; Ponape Also Hit.

U. S. PACIFIC HDQ., Pearl Harbor, March 3 (AP).—Japan's far northern homeland islands of Paramushiro and Shumushu in the Kuriles, Ponape in the eastern Carolines, and three enemy bases in the eastern Marshalls were raided by American warplanes on March 1 and 2, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

No planes were lost in any raid. There was no interception over any of the targets and only sporadic anti-aircraft fire was encountered over Paramushiro and Shumushu.

A small force of navy Ventura bombers made the thrust at the Kuriles on March 2, dropping five tons of bombs. It was the first announced raid on those islands, about 1,200 miles south of Tokio, since Feb. 19.

Hit Outpost of Truk.

The strike at Ponape, defense outpost for the enemy's naval and supply base of Truk, was made March 1 by navy search planes. They bombed and strafed enemy installations.

On the same day army and navy planes hit three enemy bases in the eastern Marshalls. Twenty-eight tons of bombs were dropped on the unidentified positions. Such attacks have been continuing almost daily for two months.

Flying Cannon Help Win Marshalls.

Metuchen, N. J., March 3 (AP).—Speedy B-25 Mitchell bombers equipped with powerful 75 mm. aircraft cannon played a major part in softening up the Marshall Islands for the successful invasions of Kwajalein and Eniwetok atolls, Col. Max A. Elser, commanding officer of Raritan arsenal, said today.

The 7th air force's flying artillerymen, he said, incessantly attacked the Japanese positions with the devastating cannon, followed with bombings and concluded their assaults with strafing by .50 caliber machine guns.

Elser said pill boxes, air fields, and enemy shipping were pounded by the 75 mm. shells.

ACCIDENT KILLS 1, HURTS 2.

Kendallville, Ind., March 3 [Special].—John Crager, 38, a farmer of near Garret, was killed today and a companion, Pvt. Harold Gingrich, 34, from Camp Maxwey, Tex., was injured in a head-on collision on route 8 east of Avilla. Henry Duehmig, 40, a farmer, driver of the second car, was also injured.

ALLIED FORCES GAIN ON SEVERAL BURMA FRONTS

NEW DELHI, India, March 3 (AP).—Allied forces continued to gain at widely separated points in the Burma hill country warfare yesterday, with several bodies of Jap troops surrounded and undergoing annihilation, the Southeast Asia command said today.

Enemy activity slacked off in the whole Arakan area. A large force of Japanese, trapped in a valley northeast of Ngakyedauk, was being liquidated. The Japanese mounted a weak counter-offensive against African troops east of Kyauktaw and the Kaladan river. Northwest of Apaukwa in the Kaladan valley, the enemy offered some resistance.

[A Chinese army spokesman at Chungking said four columns of Chinese troops crossed the Tawang river and penetrated within two miles of Maingkwan, an important highway juncture, after capturing several villages. Capture of Maingkwan would threaten Myitkyina and safeguard the new Ledo road, the spokesman pointed out.]

TWO IN MICHIGAN INQUIRY TELL OF BRIBERY SCHEME

Lansing, Mich., March 3 [Special].—Stories of legislative bribery from two men who have pleaded guilty to participation in a graft conspiracy allegedly involving 20 members of the 1939 Michigan legislature were told from the witness stand today at the preliminary hearing for 22 of 26 respondents indicted by Judge Leland W. Carr's one man grand jury.

The witnesses were Miles M. Callaghan, Reed City, fomer Republican state senator, and Ernest J. Prew, Detroit, vice president of the General Finance corporation, one of six small loan company executives named in the grand jury warrant. They both identified Maj. Charles Hemans, former Democratic regent of the University of Michigan, as a lobbyist who bought legislative votes to further the interests of a group of independent loan and finance organizations.

Admits Accepting Bribes.

Callaghan, 77 year old veteran of many terms in the state assembly, admitted accepting bribes at various times from Hemans. He said he "needed money badly" after depression losses and two "disastrous years" with his apple orchard near Reed City. He specifically identified a cashier's check for $150 which had been entered in evidence along with the bank's record showing that Hemans provided the money to cover the draft.

Callaghan said other sums had been paid him but he did not reveal the aggregate amount received. He conceded his votes on legislation in which Hemans was interested had been "influenced" by the payments.

Callaghan, a senator in 1939 but a representative when indicted in January, described Heman's suite in a local hotel in which he said "an elaborate bar" was maintained. He said legislators and "other persons" frequented it.

Limitation on Interest Rates.

Kim Sigler, special prosecutor, brought out in his questioning of Callaghan that the former senator had accepted the $150 check entered in evidence with the understanding that he would accept Hemans' instructions relative to his position on a bill to limit the interest rate on small loans.

Prew, whose guilty plea several weeks ago was accompanied by a statement in which he admitted what he said were legal acts in an "illegal way," testified that he and a committee of finance company officials hired Hemans, now attached to the provost marshal's office in Washington, as their lobbyist in 1937 and again in 1939.

Other Members Named.

Prew identified as other members of the committee which hired Hemans Co-Defendants Abraham Cooper, president of the Union Investment company, Detroit; John E. Hancock, Detroit branch manager of the Associates Discount corporation, South Bend, Ind., who previously had been identified as treasurer of the legislative committee, and Mark S. Young, Detroit, who in 1939 represented the National Discount corporation, South Bend.

Prosecutor Sigler subjected Wayne Otis, Lansing, president of the Michigan association of small loan companies, to a strenuous cross-examination when Otis professed not to know the fate of the state association's records which Sigler inferred had been destroyed.

The hearing was delayed briefly during arraignment of Rep. Adam W. Sumeracki [D., Detroit], one of the defendants who was making his first appearance at the hearing.

His arraignment increased to 22 the number being examined prior to a decision by Judge Carr, sitting as magistrate, as to whether they shall be held for trial before another judge.

NBC CHIEF SEES MIDWEST CHAIN FOR TELEVISION

Chicago to Be Hub of Giant System.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A midwest television chain, with Chicago at its hub, is projected as part of the post-war television plans of the National Broadcasting company, Niles Trammell, president, disclosed yesterday. Trammell envisioned the formation of a television network radiating outward from Chicago which would include Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Des Moines, St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Cleveland.

A television station now in operation in New York and another to be built in Washington will form the nucleus of an eastern network, he said. A Pacific coast chain also is planned, eventually to be linked with the two other sections to form a cross country system.

File Construction Applications.

Applications for construction of NBC television stations in Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, San Francisco, and Los Angeles have been filed with the federal communications commission. The chain has leased the top of the Civic Opera house for its local television transmitter.

W-G-N, Inc., recently announced plans for building a television station. The station filed an application for a construction permit with the FCC and placed an order for a transmitter and auxiliary television equipment with the General Electric company for delivery after the war or as soon as priorities permit.

Requests Zenith Frequency.

NBC, in its application for a Chicago television station, requested that it be assigned to channel No. 1, covering 50 to 56 megacycles, which is assigned to W9XZV and WTZR, television stations of the Zenith Radio corporation. The former station has been operating experimentally continuously since March 30, 1939, longer than any New York station, it claims.

FORM COURTNEY LABOR CLUB AT HOTEL MEETING

The Thomas J. Courtney Union Labor club was organized yesterday in the Hotel Sherman and an arrangements committee appointed. State's Attorney Courtney, Democratic candidate for governor, appeared to thank the labor representatives for their support and was assured that those present represented between 200,000 and 250,000 votes.

Among those named on the arrangements committee were William L. McFetridge, head of building service employes union; Michael Sexton, president of the carpenters district council; William Lewis, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Allied Printing Trades council; Joseph Keenan, secretary, Chicago Federation of Labor; Hugh Milligan, president, Asbestos Workers union; Thomas O'Donnell, president, Bricklayers and Stone Masons; Wilson Frankland, president, Pipe Fitters union; John F. Hogan, business representative, Pipe Fitters association; William Ryan, business representative, Electrical Workers union; Anthony Imhahn, president, Operating Engineers union; Joseph Moenich, secretary, Painters district council, and Albert Fox, secretary, Metal Trades council.

Plans were made for a meeting of the arrangements committee within the next two weeks.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN TO REGISTER ALL ELIGIBLE VOTERS

Civic Bodies to Aid in Drive.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

In tribute to our front line fighters, every citizen should exercise his right to vote this year, election officials said yesterday in launching a drive to spur the pace of registrations.

Many organizations are aiding the election board. Bulletin board notices were distributed to places of employment yesterday by the Joint Civic Committee on Elections, a nonpartisan group made up of representatives of the Chicago Bar association, Chicago Association of Commerce, City club, Woman's City club, Cook County League of Women Voters, Citizens Association of Chicago, and the Union League club.

Both Parties Active.

Republican and Democratic political organizations, including independent units engaged in the primary election contests as well as the regulars, have urged their workers in the 4,572 precincts of Cook county to register every one possible. The Chicago election board controls all 3,795 precincts of Chicago and 221 in suburban territory.

Just as important as signing up for the first time under the permanent registration system is correcting your present registration, if you have moved or changed your name since last voting. Below normal were the 50,000 changes and 5,800 new registrations in January and February, altho this was attributed in part to a decline in moving.

New registrants may be persons who are citizens and are or will be 21 on or before April 11, primary day, and have lived in Illinois one year, in Cook county 90 days, and in their precinct 30 days before the same date.

Offices Open Evenings.

Original registrations or changing of registration names must be in person at the city hall office of the election board between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. five days a week, and until 5 p. m. on Saturdays, up to March 13. From March 8 until March 13 there will be neighborhood registration facilities at 137 fire stations and 25 other locations, between noon and 10 p. m. Sundays are excepted.

Changes of address may be reported by mail. A postcard will suffice, or you may use the reverse side of your voter's identification card and an envelope. You must indicate your new address, your old address, and the date you moved.

The voter's signature should be the same as it appears in the election board records.

CIO Wages Campaign.

Democratic machine leaders are boasting of the activity of at least 1,000 CIO members in helping them to swell registration totals. Under the CIO political action program relatively large committees have been set up for each congressional district, ward, and precinct. These groups are canvassing thruout the county, propagandizing for the fourth term and requesting registration for votes in the Democratic primary.

TRUCK DRIVER HELD UP.

William H. Wolff, 54, of 5111 Addison st., a driver for the Logan Laundry company, reported to police yesterday that two young men robbed him of $132 when he stopped his truck at the rear of 4509 N. Albany av.

BRITISH AGENCY 'EXPLAINS' PUFF FOR 4TH TERM

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—A statement by Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, identifying the British United Press as the news agency which sent to England a story that opponents of President Roosevelt were raising 50 million dollars to defeat him if he ran for a fourth term, elicited a reply from the British United Press today.

Frank Fisher, managing editor of the agency, said:

"The story of a campaign fund being raised to beat Roosevelt was cabled to London as a routine part of the news report for British clients and the BUP has no knowledge of how or why it later appeared in a folder distributed by the ministry of information to newly arrived American troops."

The British United Press is a subsidiary of the United Press association in the United States.

Appeared in Greeting Sheet.

The story, which was published in British newspapers late in January, later appeared in a four page newspaper distributed by the British ministry of information to newly arrived American troops at British ports of debarkation.

As reproduced in the ministry's newspaper it said:

"Roosevelt's opponents are ready to spend $50,000,000 [12,500,000 pounds] to beat him if—as they assume—he makes a fourth term bid for President at the November elections."

Branded Propaganda.

This version was credited to no source of agency, but the story as it appeared in the London Daily Express of Jan. 30 was credited to "the British United Press from Washington."

Davis identified the agency in a letter to Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], who had characterized the story as "obvious propaganda." Previously the OWI had said that its inclusion in the ministry of information paper was done by a local editor without the knowledge of the ministry and that its reproduction was a "mistake" in judgment on the part of the editor.

OPA TAKES SLIDE IN OWN GREASE AT CLEVELAND

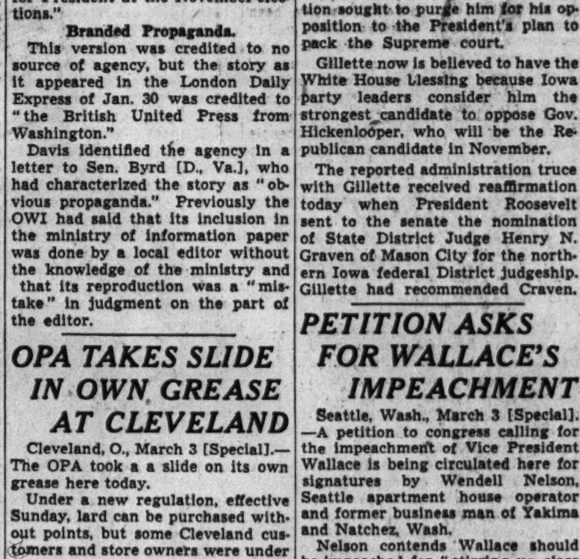
Cleveland, O., March 3 [Special].—The OPA took a a slide on its own grease here today.

Under a new regulation, effective Sunday, lard can be purchased without points, but some Cleveland customers and store owners were under the impression the regulation already is in effect.

A patron appeared at a market and purchased 20 pounds of lard without surrendering points. Later he brought the lard back and turned it in as grease, which entitled him to two meat points per pound. "Now," said the customer as he handed over 40 points, "I'll buy a ham."

The befuddled store owner handed over the ham. Other customers also purchased lard without points. Then the proprietor telephoned the OPA and said: "My customers are buying lard, converting it into grease, and turning it in for meat points before it can cool. I know it isn't right."

From the OPA the storekeeper learned lard should not be sold without points until Sunday.



"Mind if I join you? Every time I see anybody eating Wheaties I just gotta have some too!"

Here's a Wheaties eater who likes company. And he has plenty. Wheaties — America's favorite whole wheat flakes—are making new friends, every day. Better get acquainted with that famous "Breakfast of Champions,"—tomorrow morning.

W-G-N OPERETTA BACK IN HOME STUDIO TONIGHT

The Chicago Theater of the Air company will return to its home studio in the W-G-N building this evening to present Emmerich Kalman's operetta, "Countess Maritza." The operetta will be broadcast over W-G-N, WGNB, and the coast to coast Mutual Broadcasting system from 8 to 9 p. m.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, will speak during the broadcast.

Marion Claire will be starred in the title role in tonight's production, which has a Hungarian setting. Bruce Foote, baritone, will sing the part of Bela Torek and Ruth Slater, contralto, will sing Manya. The dramatic cast will include Laurette Fillbrandt as Maritza; Olan Soule as Torek; Eloise Kummer as Manya, and Cliff Soubier, Norman Gottschalk, and Dick Good. John Barclay will be the narrator; John Holbrook, the announcer. Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus and Jack La Frandre will be in charge of production.

The operetta series, which has been broadcast from the auditorium of Medinah temple since Nov. 6, 1943, also will emanate from the W-G-N main audience studio next Saturday. On March 18 the operettas will return to Medinah temple to finish out the season.

REPORT GILLETTE TO MAKE SENATE RACE AFTER ALL

Des Moines, Ia., March 3 [Special].—Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.], a critic of many New Deal projects, is expected to announce within a few days his candidacy for reëlection this fall. He previously announced he would retire at the expiration of his present term.

Sen. Gillette.

If Gillette does make the race, it is understood it will be with the White House blessing, a situation in direct contrast to that in 1938, when the administration sought to purge him for his opposition to the President's plan to pack the Supreme court.

Gillette now is believed to have the White House blessing because Iowa party leaders consider him the strongest candidate to oppose Gov. Hickenlooper, who will be the Republican candidate in November.

The reported administration truce with Gillette received reaffirmation today when President Roosevelt sent to the senate the nomination of State District Judge Henry N. Graven of Mason City for the northern Iowa federal District judgeship. Gillette had recommended Graven.

PETITION ASKS FOR WALLACE'S IMPEACHMENT

Seattle, Wash., March 3 [Special].—A petition to congress calling for the impeachment of Vice President Wallace is being circulated here for signatures by Wendell Nelson, Seattle apartment house operator and former business man of Yakima and Natchez, Wash.

Nelson contends Wallace should be impeached for "stirring up class dissension when we need unity; holding government office as chairman of the board of economic warfare while at the same time being the elected Vice President, and

CANNED FRUITS UP, VEGETABLES DOWN IN POINTS

No Changes Are Made in Frozen Foods.

Some cuts in canned vegetable point tables, and sharp increases in fruit and catsup values, were announced yesterday by the office of price administration.

Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, in commenting on food supplies, said midwest home canners did "an amazing job" last year and indications were that even more home grown produce would be put up in 1944. He said no accurate estimate of home production had been made because housewives "apparently don't want to let us know how fine a job they did."

Dried Fruits Removed.

The new point values are effective tomorrow. Tomatoes, peas, and corn will have substantially lower values in the point lists, but frozen foods, jellies, dry beans, canned soups, and baby food will remain the same. Canned fresh shelled beans, dried fruits, and mixed dried fruits are removed from rationing.

No. 2½ cans of cherries, mixed fruits, peaches, pears, and pineapple will go up 7 to 13 points, and citrus fruit juices, now off the lists, will be put back on at 1 and 2 points per No. 2 can.

List of Chief Changes.

The more important point changes will be as follows:

	Old point val.	New point val.
Canned vegetables—
Asparagus [No. 2]	15	10
Beans, fresh shelled [No. 2]	8	0
Beans, fresh lima [No. 2]	20	25

Tomato catsup [14 oz.]	18	23
Canned fruits—
Apples [No. 2]	12	18
Apple sauce [No. 2]	20	25
Sour cherries [No. 2½]	27	36
Mixed Fruit [No. 2½]	36	43
Peaches [No. 2½]	30	43
Pears [No. 2½]	30	43
Pineapple [No. 2½]	36	43
Canned juices—
Fruit nectars [No. 2]	2	6
Grapefruit juice [No. 2]	0	1
Citrus juices [No. 2]	0	2
Grape juice [pint]	4	6
Tomato juice [No. 2]	3	6
Dried fruits—
Prunes, raisins, currants or mixed [per pound]	4	0

The OPA said grapefruit juice was returned to rationing because little remains of last season's pack.

ERRORS IN STORY ON DECISION BY JUDGE ARE TOLD

[The following dispatch is printed at the request of the Associated Press.]

Columbus, O., March 3 (AP).—The Associated Press made two errors of fact in reporting a decision of Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood, Feb. 9, ruling military courts hold jurisdiction over civilian personnel working on vessels operated in army supply lines.

Judge Underwood denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus sought by Jacob N. Berue, a CIO merchant seaman, serving a term in the Chillicothe, O., federal reformatory. Berue was sentenced to seven years at hard labor by an army court-martial at Casablanca, Morocco, on a charge of provoking an incident on the high seas. The sentence later was reduced to two years. It was alleged that while a member of the crew of the S.S. Anthony Wayne, he struck the master of the ship.

The Associated Press dispatch on Feb. 9, erroneously stated Berue's petition admitted he struck the ship's master. The petition contained no such admission. The dispatch also erroneously quoted Judge Underwood as saying that the vessel "was carrying soldiers and military supplies in convoy thru seas infested by submarines to actual fighting lines of the army." The ship did not carry soldiers.

Heavy Damage Reported in New Turkish Quakes

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by David Deutsch, New York.]

THE QUESTION.

What is the most unpredictable thing your wife ever did?

WHERE ASKED.

Insurance Exchange building, 175 W. Jackson blvd.

THE ANSWERS.

Lou N. Bowen, insurance man, 7212 Coyle av.—Each time my wife gets into the car and backs it out of the garage I never know for sure what's going to happen next. The other day, without the slightest warning, she backed out without hitting a tree or anything.

Frank A. Barnes, statistician, 4150 Kamerling av.—When my wife came home with a rather antique looking cuckoo clock my first thought was to wonder what would happen next. She followed thru by having the whole living room redecorated to match the clock.

Antone P. Herzo Jr., yeoman 2d class, 807 Lincoln way, San Francisco, Cal.—When we were first married we ate all of our meals out and then we moved to an apartment of our own where we had facilities for cooking. It was a huge revelation in my life to discover that my wife was a good cook.

William T. Fairchild, salesman, Rochester, Ill.—After 10 long years of being the perfect homemaker type my wife stepped out of the role. She arrived home late one night to tell me that she had decided to go to work in a bank. I never guessed that she would do that.

Harold E. Crow, yeoman 2d class, Yuma, Ariz.—You can well imagine the proportions of a yeoman's family budget. The other day my wife forgot all about things like budgets and came walking in with a new fur coat. She was so thrilled with it I just had to pretend that we could afford luxuries like that.

Jan Tangdelius, advertising copy writer, 9860 Prospect av.—My wife never seemed to pay any attention to the neckties I've been wearing. She must have been silently enduring them all of these years because the other day she bought me a dozen of them and for the first time people began to compliment me on my neckties.

PROMOTION FOR 5 MAJOR GENERALS IS RECOMMENDED

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt today nominated four major generals of the army and one of the marines for promotion to lieutenant general, including Richard K. Sutherland, chief of staff for Gen. MacArthur, allied commander in the Southwest Pacific. The other army nominations:

Raymond A. Wheeler, 58, now in the China-Burma-Indian theater, and a native of Peoria, Ill.; John C. H. Lee, 56, commanding the services of supply in the European theater of operations; Courtney Hodges, 57, commander of the 3d army, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and of the southern defense command.

The marine is Holland M. Smith, who commanded the victorious forces in the battle of Tarawa.

PLAN POST-WAR INSTITUTE.

Springfield, Ill., March 3 [A.P.].—The Illinois Municipal league will begin a five day post-war planning institute here Monday.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with queries.]

L. W. writes: "When my son went into service he had an insurance policy on which I have been paying premiums ever since he went into service. People tell me the policy is worthless and not necessary. When he went into service he took out $5,000 service insurance in my name and $5,000 in his brother's name. I understand there are two kinds of this insurance, one of which isn't payable on death in action. How can we parents distinguish between them? My son entered the army in 1942."

ANSWER: Perhaps you had better have a good lawyer or insurance man check over your son's civilian insurance on the chance it may have a "war clause" [disclaimer of liability] in it. If it has, you will not receive any payment in the event he is killed while in military service. The national service life insurance your son has will protect the beneficiaries as long as the premiums are paid. Both you and his brother should have received "certificates" by this time indicating the insurance was taken out. If the certificates have not been received, write to the Director of Insurance, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C., giving your son's full military identification and army serial number. If he meant that he was insured for $5,000 automatic insurance, the beneficiary does not receive a certificate nor would premium payments be deducted from his pay.

Dr. Pt. M. writes: "My brother-in-law, serving with the army in North Africa has written me asking that I mail him numerous items of clothing for his fiancée, a civilian living in Algiers. Am I allowed to send him these things? If not, may I send them directly to his fiancée?"

ANSWER: It is advisable that you send the requested articles directly to your brother-in-law's fiancée by parcel post. The package must not weigh more than 11 pounds or be over 18 inches in length or 42 inches in length and girth combined.

F. R. H. writes: "I am 39 years old, going on 40. I was classified 1-A but did not receive an induction notice until after I turned 38, so I was not inducted. I am registered in a California draft board. I was in war work until after I became 38 and then I went back to selling insurance. The draft board has now sent me notice to take a pre-induction physical. What is the idea?"

ANSWER: California selective service local boards as well as those in several of the more sparsely populated western states have for more than a month been opening and reclassifying cases of men in the 38-45 year old group who have remained in nonessential work or who have returned to such activity. The authority for this activity is contained in state selective service bulletins issued Jan. 4, 1944.

LEADERSHIP AT ANZIO.

That the Anzio adventure has miscarried has been apparent to the people of this country and Great Britain despite official attempts in London, Washington, and at the beachhead itself to put a more favorable face on the matter by censoring unpleasant news.

The American public may not have enough facts at this time to judge just where the opportunity for success was neglected. While it seemed, when the beachhead was seized, that the allied troops found the door to Rome open, only to sit on the doorstep for 10 days, during which the Nazis organized counter-attacks, good reasons for that delay may appear when the full story is told.

That is immaterial. The failure is attested by a single fact. What obviously was started as an offensive operation has resulted to date only in placing a considerable body of our troops on the defensive in an unfavorable position.

The suggestion that the vigor of the Nazis' attacks is for propaganda purposes as much as military gain is entirely reasonable. Their army has inflicted major defeats, at one time or another, on every one of its opponents except the Americans. If the American troops on the beachhead could be crushed the boost to the morale and will to resist of the German people would undoubtedly repay severe Nazi casualties. But no commander can justify an attack launched on the assumption that the enemy is not going to resist to the full extent of his resources.

At the Anzio beachhead, actually 5 to 8 miles deep, the American and British troops occupy a plain. The Germans are in the hills, from which they can reach most or all of our area with their artillery, and our troops are at a severe disadvantage in consequence. American soldiers are in a position which pride forbids them to yield, and from which poor leadership has prevented them from advancing successfully.

Other phases of the Italian campaign have shown little to retrieve the reputations of either of the British high commanders, Gen. Wilson in the Mediterranean theater or Gen. Alexander in Italy. A change of command is indicated. If objection is raised across the Atlantic that the blame may rest in part with American commanders in the area the United States can offer the name of Lt. Gen. Hugh Drum, who, in France and in the succeeding peace time years, showed that he possessed ability equal to that of Gen. MacArthur. If any one can redeem the Italian situation he can.

THE BUROCRATS AND THE SKOBEKKOS.

As was predicted in this column when his difficulties first came to public attention, the burocrats have backed down in the case of Paul Skobekko, the honorably discharged veteran whom they tried to prevent going back into his pre-war business as a coal dealer.

Coal is rationed to dealers by the solid fuels administration on quotas determined by the amount of fuel they sold in the year ending last April 1. Since Skobekko was in the army during that year, he did not have a quota and thus could not buy coal to fill orders that had been given to him. One of the little minds of the SFA complained that "The trouble with Skobekko is that he wants to do what he wants to do."

Mr. Skobekko is now doing what he wanted to do. When the heat was put on them and they recognized the public indignation that their stupidity had aroused, the burocrats backed down, as they always do. The trouble is that they do not back down until the heat is put on.

As long as they can oppress little and friendless people, they have the courage of a lion. The war man power commission backed down in the case of the little discharged soldier whom it had assigned to peonage on a Lake county dairy farm at his former army pay without his army perquisites, but it only backed down after an employe of THE TRIBUNE intervened vigorously on the veteran's behalf. The little man's own efforts to obtain relief were fruitless.

In spite of the best intentions, THE TRIBUNE and other newspapers that are fighting to preserve freedom in this country can only turn the light on one in a hundred or a thousand of these vicious cases. The rest of them go unnoticed. The victims have no recourse and will have none until the voters and congress strip the burocrats of the power that they are abusing so grossly.

WHERE THE THESAURUS IS NEEDED.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his message vetoing the tax bill, said:

"The nation will readily understand that it is not the fault of the treasury department that income tax payers are flooded with forms to fill out which are so complex that even certified public accountants cannot interpret them. No, it is squarely the fault of the congress of the United States in using language in drafting the law which not even a dictionary or a thesaurus can make clear."

Mr. Roosevelt was seeking to deceive the taxpayers by the implication that because congress passes laws it also writes them. This is not true. Unless important principles are involved the language in revenue statutes, which, as Mr. Roosevelt says, "not even a dictionary or a thesaurus can make clear," is most frequently supplied by Mr. Roosevelt's own treasury which he is seeking to defend, and not by members of congress.

The treasury is not unprejudiced in drafting revenue legislation. It is a partisan, seeking to collect as much as it can under any tax provision. As a partisan, it is willing to sacrifice clarity to ambiguous and ponderous language, knowing that such hazy verbiage gives it an opportunity, thru its regulations, to interpret the tax law to its own advantage.

Frequently the gentlemen from the treasury outdo themselves. The following gem of legal composition is an example:

"If contributions are paid by an employer to or under a stock bonus, pension, profit sharing, or annuity plan, or if compensation is paid or accrued on account of any employe under a plan deferring the receipt of such compensation, such contributions or compensation shall not be deductible under subsection [a], but shall be deductible, if deductible under subsection [a] without regard to this subsection, under this subsection, but only to the following extent."

This could continue for several thousand words more, all equally unintelligible. Whoever originally drafted the section must have died soon thereafter, because no one in or out of the treasury has been able to figure out since what it means. Last July the treasury sought to interpret the law in a set of regulations. The regulations, written in the same crystalline literary style, are also unintelligible.

The result is that no corporation can put into effect any pension plan without sending it to Washington for treasury experts to approve. Inasmuch as nobody can say with certainty what either the law or the regulations mean, the pension plans are approved or rejected on a more or less arbitrary basis under subsidiary regulations which interpret the regulations, which interpret the law.

In short, in the matter of private pension systems the treasury has written so much law and so many regulations that all of them are ineffective and approval or disapproval of the plans rests on what laws are supposed to prevent, namely, the personal whim of some burocrat. That may be the purpose for which the New Dealers and Mr. Roosevelt have been working, since they would have all benefits flow from government and not from the private employer. It is not the purpose for which congress included pension plan provisions in the revenue act, nor is it the method of constitutional government.

CAMPAIGN ORATORY.

Wendell Willkie has been campaigning thru the west, trying to bamboozle the Republican voters in 1944 as he did in 1940 with the connivance of the Wall street interests that engineered the Presidential nomination for him at Philadelphia.

The people who listen to Mr. Willkie this time will get an earful of the kind of "campaign oratory" that he peddled in 1940. Shortly after the 1940 election, Willkie, who had not allowed his Republican candidacy to interrupt his close association with New Dealers, started out on a tour of the British Isles. He got Mr. Roosevelt's official blessing for the trip and obtained his traveling papers thru the personal intercession of Sec. Hull. While Willkie was in England, the Roosevelt administration attempted to force thru congress the lend-lease bill, which many of the internationalists now admit made America's entry into the war inevitable.

When the lend-lease bill got before the senate foreign relations committee, the New Dealers cabled Willkie to return to the United States immediately. They saw in him a star witness for the crown's case.

Willkie appeared as the final witness before the committee on Feb. 11, 1941, and there and then made an admission that he can never live down.

Sen. Clark, the Missouri Democrat, questioned Willkie at length on what he had learned about England's needs and progress in the war against Germany. Willkie expressed himself wholeheartedly in favor of lend-lease and all-out aid to Britain, military and otherwise. Sen. Clark asked him how he could square such assertions with the statements he had made during the 1940 campaign, only a few months before.

The senator quoted, among others, these particular bits of Willkie verbiage: "I cannot follow the President in his conduct of foreign affairs in this critical time. There have been occasions when many of us have wondered if he is deliberately inciting us to war," and "the President's attacks on foreign powers have been useless and dangerous."

Here is the transcript of Willkie's reply from the committee's minutes:

Mr. Willkie: As to the statement about the President, in the course of the campaign I made a great many statements about him. He was my opponent, you know.

Sen. Clark: You would not have said anything about your opponent you did not think was true, would you?

Mr. Willkie: O, no, but occasionally in moments of oratory in the campaigns we all expand a little bit.

In those few words, Willkie let the people of America know that he is a man who has no respect for the truth, and least of all for the truth of what he says from the political platform. Nobody can believe him, for he has admitted that his public expressions are insincere and calculated only to catch votes. That's why Republicans thruout America are repudiating him today. They know that with his reputation he can't win.

MR. PEPYS VISITS ITALY.

4th March—Spent an evening in Italy the other night, thanks to Burton Holmes, and saw pictures of famous places that have figured in the war news. Wondered what that country will look like when the world stops exploding. Had many glimpses of Mussolini wagging his jaw from balconies, and meditated upon the fatal influence of mountebanks with loud, persuasive voices.

Michigan av. seems like its old self with Mr. Holmes lecturing in one block and Walter Hampden acting in another. Now if the Pompeian Room would come to life, and Diaghileff's Ballet Russe would appear at the Auditorium theater, every one would feel 25 years younger and history would be forgiven.

Have been taking things easy, and walking no more than necessary, and reading old books instead of new because they are less exasperating. Now begin to feel recovered from my touch of the prevalent malady, and wish to acknowledge many good wishes from friends and contributors, who didn't know I had been sick until I got well enough to talk about it.

Dined with August Derleth, down from Sauk City, Wis., in an egg truck as usual; Vincent Starrett, Leo Weissenborn, and other learned characters last night. There was much talk about first editions, detective stories, and other literary affairs until Weissenborn, an architect, began to tell about his discovery of a large batch of termites chewing up a building on the water front. Then we wondered what would happen if termites changed their diet and devoured stone and steel instead of wood. Civilization would crumble in earnest, we decided. Derleth said this would be a great idea for a horror story, and was disappointed when I told him it had already been written and printed in a magazine.

Now for another quiet week-end, conversing with my dog.

War Is Like This.

A victim of shopper's fatigue, she dropped into a drugstore that advertised "Cup of Rich, Hot Chocolate, 10c."

She ordered a cup of rich, hot chocolate made with milk. The waiter brought a cup of hot chocolate made with water.

She glanced at it and said: "I'm sorry. I asked for hot chocolate made with milk. Isn't this made with water?"

With a withering look the waiter replied, "Don't ask me!" and tossed her the check.

That night the tired shopper had a dream. She dreamed of a large silver cup filled with rich, steaming hot chocolate, the top foaming over with marshmallows and whipped cream. An attendant, dressed in a purple suit with gold braid, supervised a servant who placed the cup before her and said in dulcet tones:

"This cup of hot chocolate has been prepared especially for you. It did not come out of a hot water faucet. It is made with the best grade of chocolate and the richest milk, and is delicately flavored with two and one-half drops of the purest vanilla. We hope you enjoy it."

He was courteous. The shock was too much. She woke up. Ipse Dixit.

CUCKOO CLOCK.

My cuckoo clock is old and fine,
Its carving is ornate;
The little cuckoo stays in line
And never makes me late;
But in the middle of the night
I like him not at all—
When I would know what time is right,
He gives one lonely call.

One call is half-past anything;
Perchance night's just begun;
Or then again, that call may bring
Me news the hour is one;
Perhaps it may be half-past five—
Time does peculiar stunts!
How can I know, when, man alive!
That cuckoo calls but once?

Why is it, when old Morpheus
Deserts me in the night,
And I must toss, and turn, and fuss,
And long for broad daylight,
And wonder what the time can be,
And why I'm such a dunce—
Why must the cuckoo call to me,
And call to me but once?

Casual.

PULLING OUT OF A MENTAL TAILSPIN.

THE chances are that a multitude of individuals have recovered from mild types of mental illness. They have surmounted intervals of depression, anxiety, or some problem of behavior. But few of these persons have received medical treatment. For the most part, the victim has recognized his mood and taken counsel with himself. The recovery period may require a day, a week, or a month.

We can all recall cases of this kind among friends and neighbors. When Mrs. G. suffered a profound shock thru the death of a beloved member of the family, she was "queer" for several weeks. She didn't want to see anybody and shunned her usual social duties. After all, this is a natural reaction. It was necessary for her to make a striking readjustment in her life and she brought it about unassisted and alone.

Time dulls the sharp edge of grief. Odd, indeed, is the one who can go blithely on his way in the face of disaster. The patient is obliged to think the thing thru to a logical conclusion and to acquire compensations.

After all, temporary emotional storms may be stabilizing. Perhaps they function in developing immunity so that later assaults—which might prove devastating—will be repelled with ease. In time, a defensive barrier is erected just as an attack of measles confers protection against a subsequent seizure.

As a rule, the speed with which equilibrium is regained will depend upon will power. The stalwart looking man or woman who exhibits weeping tendencies upon the slightest provocation has a far longer road to travel to well being than the one who gets hold of himself quickly and who possesses a hopeful philosophy of life.

Most of us maintain mental health because we have learned to evaluate rebuffs and disappointments. Gradually, we acquire poise until even severe blows will not upset clear thinking. Then it is that we say, "Jones is a strong character because he overcomes difficulties which would crush one who is weaker." In other words, he is able to accomplish things because he has conquered his apprehensions and has learned not to waste his energies indulging in useless worries.

As we know, nature tends toward repair and, more often than not, a warped mentality will regain equilibrium if given a chance. I have always felt that understanding friends and relatives can do more for the patient because they know how to help him to help himself.

There is no necromancy about a cure. It is merely the making of adjustments thru the recognition of realities. The one who accomplishes the feat under his own power is a million times better fortified than he who is obliged to lean upon a crutch. These unfortunates must regain self-esteem and confidence. The master word is encouragement.

TROPICAL MALADY.

L. G. writes: I recently received a letter from my brother, who is stationed in New Guinea, saying that he has dengue fever. Can you tell me something about this disease?

REPLY.

This is a virus infection which is transmitted by mosquitoes. It is widely prevalent in the southwest Pacific but cases have appeared in our own south and southwest states. The period of incapacity is one to two weeks. There is no specific treatment but bed rest and skilled nursing are called for.

BLOOD BUILDERS.

M. T. B. writes: My husband has been taking liver and iron capsules for some time because of a low blood count. Is it wise to continue their use indefinitely, without interruption?

REPLY.

Probably no harm but blood checks should be made now and then to make certain that the remedies are effective. Perhaps a change to some other preparation is in order.

NOISY EAR.

Mrs. W. K. writes: My son swims in an indoor pool three times a week. About a month ago he complained of a cracking in his ear when he swallows or yawns. Should he give up swimming?

REPLY.

The maneuver merely opens the Eustachian tube. The sound is made by the movements of the drum. If this structure is intact, there is no danger.

HAPPY.

Miss A. writes: I am 18 years old and love to laugh and make others laugh. I was recently told by a friend that laughing puts a strain on the heart and one should not indulge too much. Will you advise?

REPLY.

Don't repress the tendency. You can't hurt your heart. The world needs more like you.

CIRCULATORY.

F. L. writes: What is the cause of Buerger's disease?

REPLY.

It is thought to be of toxic origin. The blood vessels, especially of the feet and legs, become blocked. The most characteristic symptom is a sharp, stabbing pain which disappears on rest.

SLEEPLESS.

E. W. B. writes: My mother, aged 85, has some very restless nights. Would it be harmful for her to take sleeping tablets?

REPLY.

No. She might try a tepid to warm bath at bed time. This will help.

Domestic Note.

There is nothing unusual about this story of the Chicago housewife who no longer can get a cleaning woman to clean two days a week, except that she now is paying herself 75 cents an hour to do the work. In the past she paid the cleaning woman 50 cents an hour, but she decided her college degree was worth something. Says she gets a big kick out of it now that she is getting paid for it.

War Time Mixup.

From Mrs. Mildred Barber of the University of Illinois comes the tale of how a friend named Fern telegraphed an order for an ivy plant to her mother in a distant city, requesting the florist to put on the accompanying card, "With love from Fern." Time passed, and her mother made no mention of the gift, so she asked the florist to trace the order. After some delay he found that a fern had been delivered with a card stating, "Love from Ivy," and the dear little old lady was quite exhausted from asking all her friends if they knew any one named Ivy.

The Aging Young.

Letter from an aviator: "Was at some people's house for dinner the other night, and they were entertaining a couple of young cabin boys from an English tanker. One was 17, the other 19, and both had been at sea for more than three years, had been torpedoed a couple of times, and had seen more than their share of the war. What really got me was when one of them began to talk about 'the good old days.' Almost made you want to cry, hearing it from kids that age."

Nomenclature.

R. Goodfriend is a loop income tax expert [Bruce Caldwell reports], and Miss A. Hunting is a personnel locator for an employment agency. And probably is using all her self-control to keep from changing her name to Poor Hunting.

Two Soldiers Speak.

A Chicago business man was surprised to find the following letter in his mail the other day:

"Dear Sir: My buddie and I found your name and address in a foxhole here in Italy. Figuring that the people at home were wondering about the boys over here, decided to write you. We've been over here for approximately two years and we are not complaining yet. Except about a few minor things.

"One thing is our C rations which consist of three different meals: 1. Meat and vegetable hash, which is good when you're hungry. 2. Meat and vegetable stew, which is good when it's hot. 3. Meat and beans; some one always eats these first, and they're hard to get. With each can of these we get our can of biscuits and sugar and once in a while coffee. That's the complaint.

"The story comes to us that a research was made, and the men overseas prefer cocoa instead of coffee. They're all wet. We want coffee. Also, us cigar smokers have a hard time getting a good smoke out of these cigarettes they put in our rations. We're not asking for much, but if the people at home want to do anything for us, this is the best we want."

Three pounds of coffee and a box of cigars now are on their way to the two boys, but the Chicagoan still is wondering how his name and address got into that foxhole.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE CANDIDATES SHE WANTS TO HEAR.

Chicago, March 1.—It seems to me that the featured speakers at all Republican ward meetings and party rallies should be the candidates for delegate and alternate delegate to the national convention. No candidate for President can be any better than the delegates who name him. If our Republic is to survive the American electorate in every state must fully investigate and closely interrogate every candidate for delegate.

Nothing any aspirant for a state or county office could say would interest me half as much as a revealing talk by a prospective delegate, naming his personal choice for President and explaining his reasons for his selection.

We must prevent a repetition of 1940, stop Willkie for good, and block any move to nominate any one like him. Let's put every candidate for delegate or alternate delegate on the spot—and keep him there. E. T.

RECALLING THE 2 PER CENT.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 26.—I noticed where Paul McNutt stated in a speech that the people know that the Republican party is the party of Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover. There are a lot of fathers and mothers who remember that Wilson "kept us out of war" with honor and Roosevelt told us "again, again, and again." Some of us remember Paul McNutt and his 2 per cent club. Whenever things get so putrid in Washington that Sen. Barkley can smell them, boy, they stink to the heavens.

VACATIONE AHEAD?

Chicago, Feb. 27. — Harold Ickes and the New Deal big shots now tell us that all "A" card gasoline ration coupons are to be again cut, this time to two gallons each. With this sudden need to accumulate a greater reserve supply, coming as it does at the approach of the vacation season, we can only assume that Eleanor is planning another trip in a Flying Fortress with a 100 plane escort.
L. G. TOOTHAKER

IS THIS ANOTHER SMEAR?

Wilmette, Ill., Feb. 28.—I note that incoming bands of marauding robins are being greeted with whoops of joyous welcome by good citizens who evidently do not know robins. These birds are just rodents — rats with feathers. There should be a law requiring that any robin daring to stick his beak north of the Mason and Dixon line be promptly shot. Robins? Bah!

NO HELP.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 24.—Mr. Churchill has said that Poland has his sympathy.
The Poles shall have his sympathy
But they will get no more.
I don't think this will help them much
For they've had it before.
MARION ROSS.

A DIVIDEND ON THE INVESTMENT?

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Now that the administration and draft officials are so desperate for men why not turn to our loyal neighbors, the South American countries? Could it be they are only our friends so long as we are pouring huge war contracts into their country? It seems they could easily make up the shortage in man power. It's about time our government asked for something from somebody. M. T.

HE CAN'T VOTE DEMOCRATIC.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 22.—There are two immediate reasons why I cannot force myself to vote the traditional Democratic southern way. First, whether any one else believes it, I consider myself to have normal intelligence, and I cannot understand the President's reticence about the fourth term. Every one must assume that he has never stopped running and the reason for his silence is to stifle any competition in the ranks. Second, we are asked to do without things, buy more bonds to finance the war, and pay stiff taxes, which has been done, but on the other hand the government has turned around and wasted this same tax and bond money on some of the most ridiculous things imaginable. Burocracy rides on and so does the WPA in South America and about every foreign country on and off the map.
DON R. WILSON.

ADJUSTMENT TEACHERS.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Recently in your column several parents said they are at a loss to understand the "E" markings on report cards. Just ask the parents to look in the metal cabinets in every school room in our fair city. They will find an accumulation of tests made by the adjustment teachers. What do they adjust? In my sister's building the adjustment teacher tries to adjust the teachers' lives.

She doesn't have one class set up in remedial reading, but she flits from room to room, trying to be an efficiency expert. She counts broken windows—the engineer's work. She counts stamp and milk money—the clerk's work. She chases truants—the truant officer's work. No one seems to be able to make use of the adjustment work as there are no follow up classes.
MOTHER OF THREE.

ANTI-WALL STREET.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 21.—I don't care if his name is Dewey or Manila. If he's a New Yorker I'll vote for the best third party.

The real fight in the convention is against New Yorkism. By that I mean the Wall street gangsters, not the good citizens of New York.

Willkie is just a red herring. The true danger is another dark horse.
G. C. ZACHE.

FROM AN IMPLEMENT DEALER.

Harvard, Ill., Feb. 27.—Why give foreign countries 30,000 tractors when our concern, the Manley Motor Sales company, like all other dealers, has urgent, signed orders for more than double the manufacturers tell us they will be able to furnish?

CONTEMPT WRIT IN DANIELS CASE EXPECTED TODAY

Senate Group to Decide REA Probe Action.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Determined to bring White House activities in connection with the rural electrification administration scandal to light, a senate agriculture subcommittee tomorrow is expected to cite Jonathan W. Daniels, administrative assistant to President Roosevelt, for contempt of the senate.

Jonathan W. Daniels.

Daniels has refused to answer questions put by the subcommittee concerning the palace guard's efforts to oust Harry Slattery, head of the REA, because he refused to join in alleged political manipulation of the agency.

Letters written by the wife and one of the sons of the President in regard to REA activities have been mentioned as a partial explanation of the White House refusal to permit Daniels to testify. The refusal is ostensibly based on the ground that testimony by Daniels involved "confidential" matters "contrary to the public interest."

Letter from Eleanor.

One letter is from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last April, urging the appointment of Arthur W. Gerth, 30, as chief of the REA division of applications and loans. Gerth got the job but the appointment is under fire in congress.

The other is a letter written by Elliott Roosevelt in March, 1941, on behalf of the Texas Power company in connection with an REA deal. It asks President's Secretary Stephen Early to see "that nothing is decided until I can see you in Washington."

The subcommittee probably will ask the full agriculture committee's approval for the expected contempt citation of Daniels, after which the case will be carried to the senate floor for a vote of indorsement.

Affords Test of Powers.

Sen. Aiken [R., Vt.], a member of the subcommittee, said the case will afford a test of the power of congress to investigate a situation despite the opposition of the executive branch.

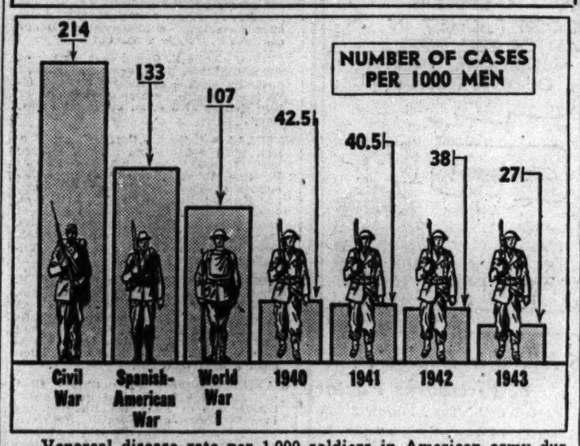
Two courses are open to the senate in seeking to punish Daniels. Prosecution may be referred to the District of Columbia attorney, or the senate itself may order the arrest of Daniels and his detention for as long as it wishes.

The maximum penalty prescribed under the law is a $1,000 fine and a year "in the common jail." President Roosevelt could pardon his assistant upon conviction in court, but he would be without power to interfere with the action of the senate. The committee, therefore, is expected to advocate the latter course.

NEGRO MINISTER TO GIVE REPORT ON ARMY CAMPS

Dr. J. L. Horace, president of the Illinois Baptist convention, will report on the treatment of Negro soldiers in 10 southern army camps at a meeting to be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the Liberty Baptist church, 56 E. 46th st. The National Negro council and the Chicago Citizens' Committee of 1,000 are sponsoring the meeting, which will be conducted by Edgar G. Brown, president of the council. Dr. Horace is pastor of the Monumental Baptist church, 746 Oakwood blvd.

Army Cuts Venereal Diseases



Venereal disease rate per 1,000 soldiers in American army during the last four years as compared with high rate in previous years.

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—The army venereal disease rate reached a record low of 27 cases per 1,000 men during 1943, and the use of penicillin in extensive trials of gonorrhea cases resistant to the sulfa drugs effected cures in 96 per cent of them. Re-treatment of failures in these gonorrhea cases raised the percentage of cures to nearly 99 per cent.

The new bulletin of the army's medical department, in announcing the low rate in 1943 for gonorrhea, syphilis, and other venereal diseases, compared it with 38 per 1,000 men in 1942, 40.5 in 1941, and 42.5 in 1940.

"In the Civil war," the bulletin said, "the rate reached 214 per 1,000, in the Spanish-American war, 133, while in World War I, the rate went to 107 in 1918."

PRE-DRAFT AGE TRAINING EXAMS SET ON MARCH 15

Eligibles to Get Pay and Uniforms.

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—College training at the government's expense was offered today to boys at the war time "awkward age"—finished with high school but not old enough to be drafted.

Tests for acceptability for the training, a short term specialized system in preparation for eventual army and navy duty, will be held thruout the nation on March 15. Those accepted will wear uniforms and draw pay.

Tonight President Roosevelt urged every American boy "who will be a high school graduate by July 1" to look seriously and immediately into the government's new plan.

"It is of the greatest importance to the nation," he said in a statement, that as many of them as possible take the examinations.

A joint army navy announcement told of the plan, saying it was designed to "replace some of the loss" which many colleges already hard hit by the war, are due to suffer this month with the curtailment of the present army specialized training program from 145,000 trainees to 35,000.

No figures as to the number to be accepted were given. However, educators have suggested that as many as 100,000 may be eligible.

Principal courses projected are applied sciences, chemical and biological sciences preparatory to advanced medical and dental studies, mathematics and physics. A limited number will specialize in foreign languages.

Those successful in the March 15 tests may choose army or navy training, under this arrangement:

Navy—Be enlisted in class V-12 and receive the same training as others in the navy college program designed to provide officers. Attend college for 16 one-week terms, the number of which will be determined by the course studied.

Army—Those less than 17 years and 9 months old on July 1 may expect at least six months college training before being called to active duty. Those less than 17 years and 6 months on July 1 may expect nine months of college work.

STATE PAYS IDLE THOUSANDS AS WAR WORK LAGS

Thousands of workers are receiving unemployment compensation altho Chicago was classified as an "acute labor shortage area" on Feb. 28 by the war man power commission.

Francis B. Murphy, state director of labor, revealed that the number of unemployed workers receiving compensation has increased steadily. He gave these totals: November, 7,439; December, 7,485; January, 11,619; Feb. 1 to 15, 10,427. Applications are being received at a rate of about 2,000 a week, he added.

Fear Long Periods of Idleness.

Labor union sources revealed that thousands of other workers, including carpenters, electricians, plumbers, bricklayers, and other skilled workers are jobless because building construction is virtually at a standstill. These workers are refusing to take jobs in war plants, it was learned, because of the federal job freeze and because jobs offered them are below union scale.

The union leaders expressed concern over their refusal because they said many of the skilled workers "may be out of work for some time." Another excuse given for the workers' refusal to enter war plants was that the insurance companies are refusing to insure the older workers.

Spokesmen for the WMC and the United States employment service last night placed the blame on the present Illinois unemployment compensation act, which provides that unemployed workers must be paid compensation unless they can be provided by the USES with "customary work at customary wages."

Denies Freezing Into Jobs.

"With this provision in the act," a spokesman said, "there is nothing the USES can do but offer a person work and if he refuses it the law provides that he must be referred for unemployment compensation. If Murphy wants to relieve the condition, he should try to remove this provision which lets the unemployed select their own jobs. In Indiana the law was changed so that a worker who refuses to take offered work is barred from receiving unemployment compensation."

Charles P. Casey, state WMC director, yesterday appealed to the building tradesmen to take jobs in war plants.

Casey denied that the tradesmen and workers will be frozen to their jobs. He said a WMC rule in effect provides that if these workers will take jobs in war plants they will be given immediate referrals back to their old employers when they have work for them.

Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, and other union leaders expressed surprise when they learned of this rule. Olander said he would meet with union heads next week in an effort "to induce workers to take jobs in war plants under these conditions."

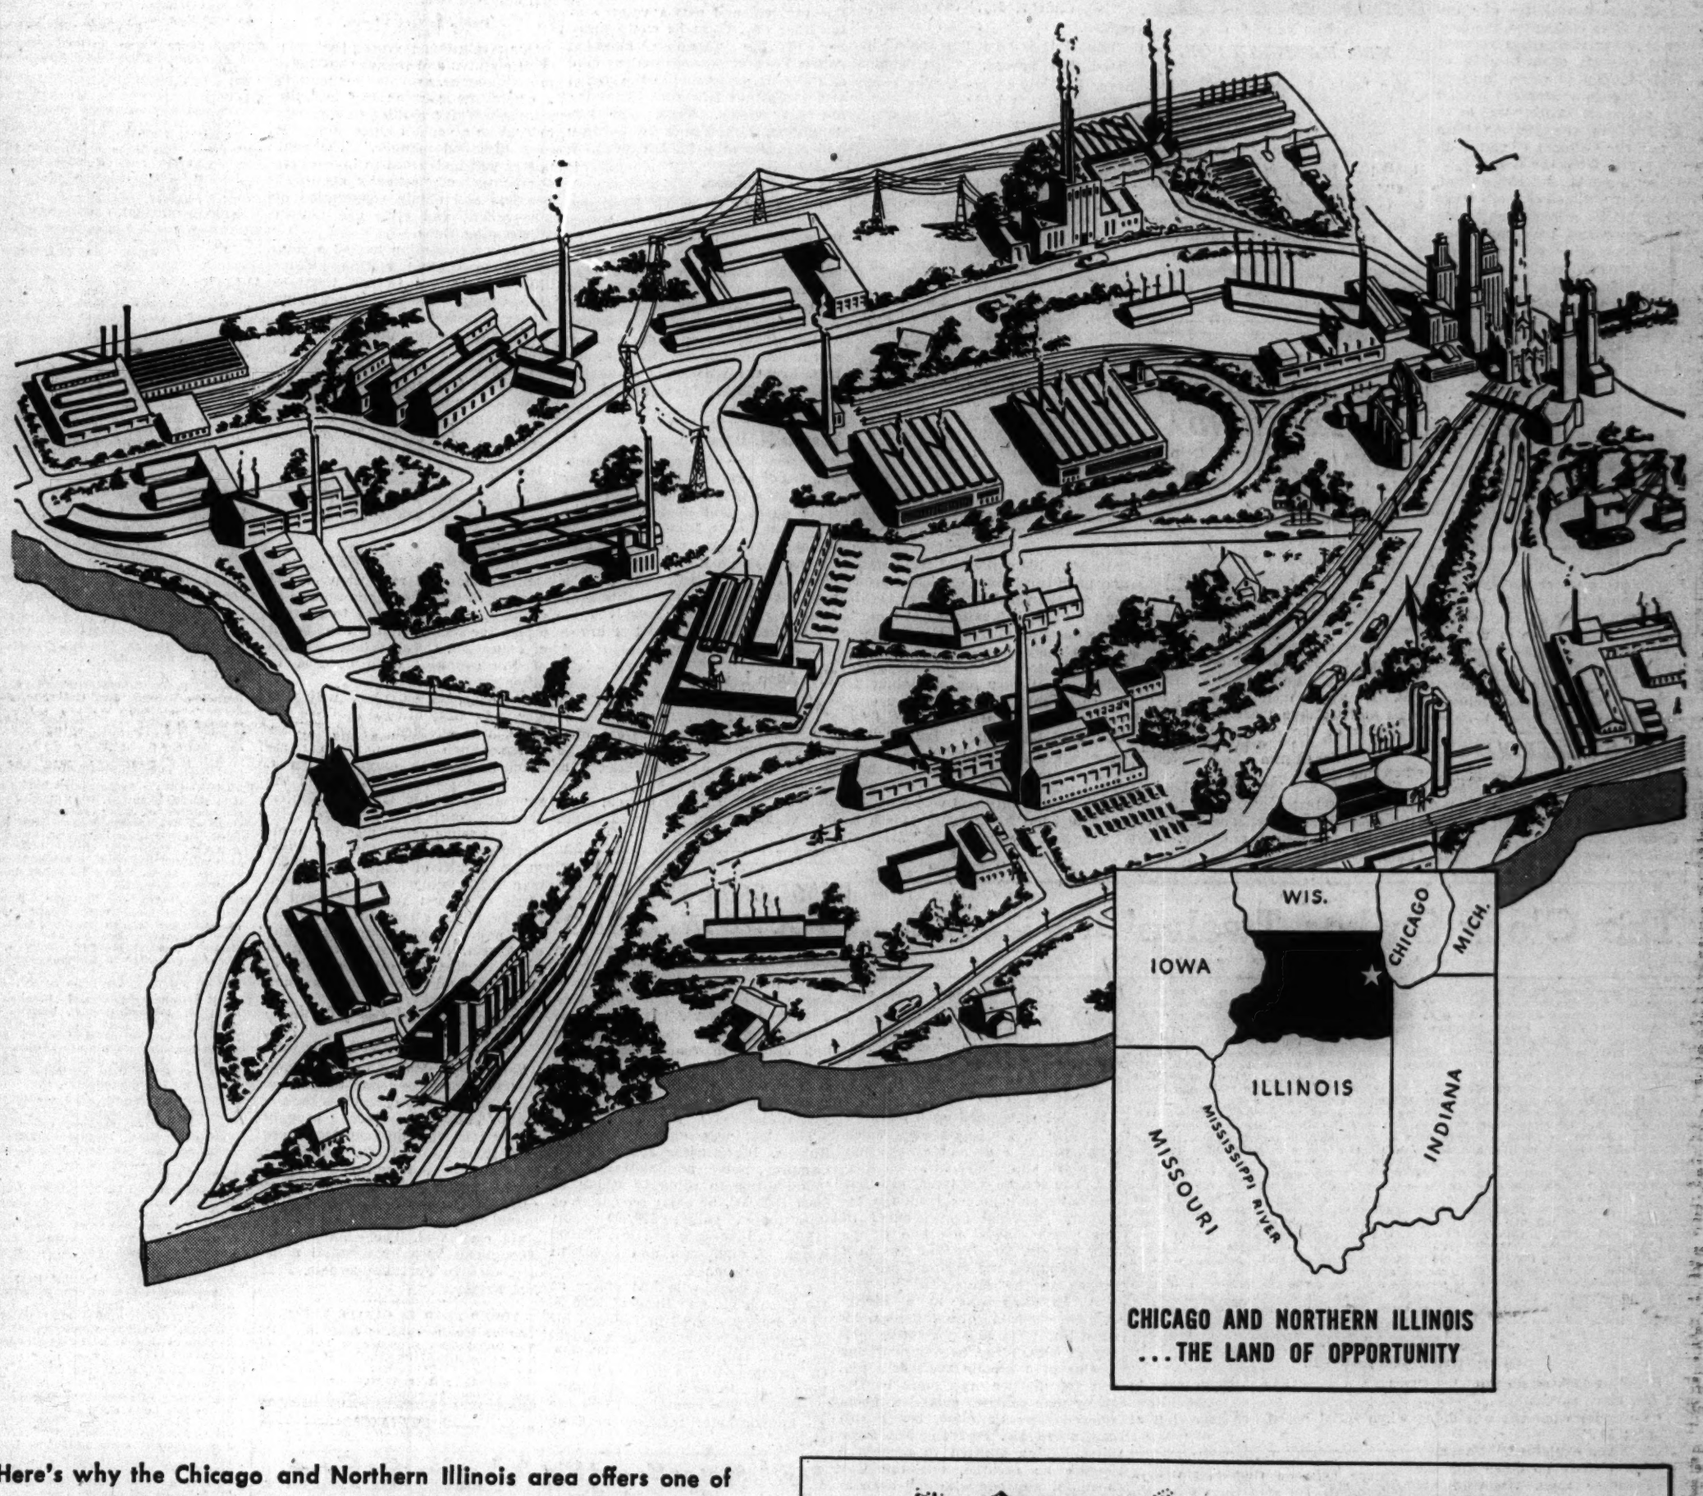
What Northern Illinois means in the nation's industrial future



CHICAGO AND NORTHERN ILLINOIS
...THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

Here's why the Chicago and Northern Illinois area offers one of the world's most favored regions for industrial progress

Today, the area of Chicago and Northern Illinois is the center of the nation's greatest war production region. According to present schedules, more materials and supplies will be sent from here to the fighting fronts in the final stages of the war than from any other region in the United States.

And tomorrow, when victory is won, Chicago and Northern Illinois will continue to offer exceptional advantages to industry. For here rail, truck, water and air traffic converge to form the hub of the nation's transportation. Here, concentrated within a radius of a few hundred miles, is the marketing and distribution center for nearly one-half the nation's population.

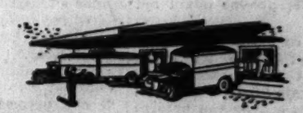
Chicago's rank as one of the greatest financial centers of the world is a factor of prime importance to this industrial region. Important, too, is the fact that it has an ample and reliable supply of electric power.

Certainly, the Chicago and Northern Illinois area has all the requisites for an industrial region with a bright future. Its favorable combination of economic factors makes it the land of opportunity for industry and for the worker.

Rich Farm Lands. Located in the area of Chicago and Northern Illinois are more than 54,000 farms which represent a prolific source of food as well as a fertile market for industries.

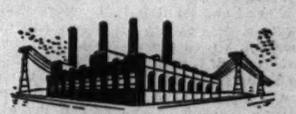
Reservoir of Skilled Labor. The wide diversification of industry in this region has resulted in the development of skilled labor that will be available for peacetime production.

Hub of America's Transportation. Here, 22 trunk-line railroads, reaching all sections of the country, converge. Here, too, air and water transportation afford unrivalled service.



Major Market of the Nation. Every type of product manufactured in this area can be delivered to nearly one-half the population of the United States in forty-eight hours or less.

Important Financial Center. Chicago ranks as one of the greatest financial centers of the world, being surpassed only by New York and London.



Plentiful Electric Power. The integrated system of the four companies serving this area, insures adequate and dependable service to industry.

2 CIVIC GROUPS BACK PLEA FOR POLLUTION AID

Health Authorities Fight to Confine Typhoid.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Physicians and engineers from the United States public health service, the state of Indiana and the Chicago city health department were in Northern Indiana yesterday battling to stamp out a typhoid epidemic in which 221 cases and a dozen or more deaths have been recorded. Meantime other authorities prepared to demand that war department engineers authorize sanitary works that will eradicate the danger of such diseases being carried into the city thru its drinking supply.

After a warning by Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt that the Indiana epidemic, covering 19 north central counties in the state, is certain to contaminate the city's water supply and result in an epidemic here, civic authorities took action.

Hearing Set for Monday.

The Chicago Association of Commerce executive committee, the City club and other authorities planned vigorous protests at a hearing to be held Monday in Gary, Ind., by Col. H. J. Woodbury, district United States engineer, concerning locks to be built in the Indiana Ship canal and the Calumet river for diverting waste from the lake.

As now planned, say Hewitt and all the other authorities, both locks would be too far inland from points where they would have maximum effect in preventing pollution. All the local authorities say they are trying to induce the government to authorize that at least one of the locks in the Indiana Ship canal be placed between the lake and the waters into which most of the industrial and municipal waste from northern Indians now goes.

Army Prohibition Sought.

The Association of Commerce adopted a resolution asking that army engineers prohibit Indiana municipalities and industries from emptying sewers either directly into the lake or into the surrounding river and canal waters at points where the projected locks will not divert the contamination from Chicago's drinking water supply.

A statement by the City club to be sent to Monday's hearing, signed by Paul E. Darrow, son of the late Clarence Darrow and chairman of a special committee on water pollution, warned that an epidemic is "almost certain" unless pollution is stopped.

MRS. MARJORIE FOX.

Her husband said he was "just tired of married life" and deserted her on Sept. 1, 1942. Mrs. Marjorie Fox, 24, a model, of 5240 Sheridan rd., testified yesterday before Judge Robert J. Dunne in Circuit court. She was granted a decree of divorce from Pvt. Irving Fox, a military policeman at Fort Custer, Mich. They were married Sept. 18, 1940. Mrs. Fox, questioned by her attorney, Samuel H. Shapiro, offered no explanation for leaving her except that he was "tired."

DR. J. C. DELPRAT FUNERAL RITES AT 2:30 MONDAY

Services for Dr. John C. Delprat, 72, attending surgeon at the Illinois Central hospital, who died in the hospital Thursday, will be held at 2:30 Monday in the chapel at 4141 Cottage Grove av.

Dr. Delprat, who was graduated from Loyola and Northwestern university medical schools, and studied in Vienna and Berlin, practiced surgery in Chicago for 40 years. He was chief surgeon of Cook County hospital for 13 years before joining the staff of Illinois Central hospital. He was a member of the Illinois and Chicago medical societies, a fellow of the American Medical association, and of the American College of Surgery.

Surviving are the widow, Louise Mower Delprat; a son, Robert, and three daughters, Mrs. Jane D. Flood, Mrs. Bruce Gephart, and Mrs. William Kincy.

ACHILLES OPENS HIS MOUTH, AND PUTS HEEL IN IT

Barber 'Pushes' Hair Tonic Too Much.

Achilles Georgiou, 60, owns a barber shop at 956 Wrightwood av., and is rated a very competent workman with either clippers or shears. But like some of his fellow craftsmen, he is inclined to talk too much to his customers. Like two weeks ago.

Achilles Georgiou.

"You want some tonic, maybe?" Achilles asked a customer.

"No, comb it dry," the customer replied.

"But this is very fine tonic," insisted the barber. "You maybe never had any so good. You could even drink it, I bet."

The customer said he wasn't interested in hair tonic, but agreed that with liquor prices the way they are thirsty souls probably would be eyeing the tonic counters.

Tonic Raises a Thirst.

"Well, this stuff you could drink and it wouldn't hurt you," said Achilles. "Come, I show you."

The customer, showing greater interest, followed the barber into his living quarters behind the shop. In the room, boiling merrily, was a five gallon "pot" still. Nearby were bottles of the finished "tonic."

The customer, after trying a sample and smacking his lips appreciatively as Achilles looked on, bought two bottles of the stuff and said he'd be back for more.

Meets "Customer" Again.

Yesterday agents of the United States alcohol tax unit raided the barber shop. They confiscated the little still, 100 gallons of fruit mash and 10 "fifths" of the finished product. On the third floor of the building they found 10 gallons of "tonic" and a dismantled 10 gallon still.

Then they brought the barber before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker for arraignment. There he met his appreciative customer and learned for the first time that the "tonic" fancier was an agent for the alcohol tax unit.

He told the commissioner he had the stuff only for his own use, pleaded not guilty and was released on $500 bond for hearing March 9.

"Me and my big mouth," moaned Achilles.

YOUTHS TACKLE PROBLEMS THAT PERPLEX ELDERS

High School Students Act on Moral Issues.

Two hundred sixty-two Chicago and Cook county high school boys and girls, members of and delegates to the recently formed Chicago Youth congress, wrestled verbally for four hours yesterday in the Chicago city council chamber with moral problems that have stumped their elders for a long time.

They tackled with vigor, and in strong voice, such subjects as salacious publications, immoral motion pictures, delinquency, sex education, parental conduct, and relations between parents and their children.

They considered 11 resolutions and by 5:45 p. m. had adopted nine and defeated two.

Press to Get Views.

One resolution, charging that salacious pictures and stories contribute to delinquency, provided for naming a committee of nine to "tactfully ask various metropolitan newspapers to deal with certain types of stories in a dignified manner." The committee was instructed to investigate the sources of "sexually exciting" booklets and obtain coöperation of government and civic agencies in suppressing them.

Another resolution named a committee to contact motion picture studio executives to ask them to stop making pictures "glorifying lawlessness and immorality."

Other resolutions provided for appointment of a committee of five to investigate sex curricula thruout the nation and recommend a sex instruction course for high schools; for naming a committee of three on "principles for parents," with findings to be reported to a responsible staff member of each Chicago newspaper within 11 days, and for naming a committee of five to form liquorless clubs for youths 14 to 18 years old.

Asks Schools Be Open.

Still another resolution urged opening of Chicago public schools at night, with a committee to present a plan for such opening to the board of education. Organization problems of the congress were covered in other resolutions.

An organization plan, with the city and county divided into five sections, was adopted, subject to revision. Each section is to name members to the executive board. Maj. Lennox R. Lohr is head of the sponsoring Adult Chicago Conference for Youth.

The unsupervised meeting went smoothly until near the end when Ralph Spinks of Lane Tech, chairman of the gathering, and Frederick Lurie of Tilden Tech, chairman of the resolutions committee, clashed on a point of order. Here for the ceremony and small reception to follow at Sevenroofs, the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Johns of Wayne, are Miss Johns' grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Olive Saxby and Miss Phyllis Saxby of Minneapolis, Minn. Representing Lt. Off's family are his father, Frank B. Off of Philadelphia and Atlantic City; his sisters, Mrs. Charles Clark and Miss Isabelle Off of Philadelphia; his brothers, Frank Off of Philadelphia and George Off of Linwood, N. Miss Johns had hoped to have Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham III as matron of honor. However, Mrs. Burnham will miss the wedding as she has gone to Seattle, Wash., to join Lt. Burnham while he recovers from injuries in a navy hospital there. In place of a wedding trip, Lt. Off and his bride will go directly to Columbus, O., where he will be stationed and where they will live.

Other Wedding News.

Invitations for the marriage of Miss Alma Louise Seippel and Harry H. Coon, originally planned for March 19, were recalled suddenly by telephone and the ceremony moved ahead to day before yesterday when Mr. Coon received orders to report to Yorktown, Va. The wedding took place at 5 p. m. in the chapel of the First Methodist church in Evanston, and later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Seippel, gave a reception in their home in Evanston. Miss Eliza Worthington Seippel was her sister's maid of honor. Their brother, John, came from Detroit to serve as best man, and another brother, Arthur, ushered.

With her wedding ensemble the bride wore a rose point cap belonging to her aunt, Mrs. John B. Newbold of Baltimore, Md. Mr. Coon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Coon of Evanston, left yesterday for Yorktown, where he will be stationed as a third class petty officer in the navy. His bride is remaining here to continue her studies at Northwestern university.

In the Washington, D. C., home of the bride's cousins, Pvt. and Mrs. Thomas Leiter, Miss Audry Nancy Campbell and Lt. Middleton Train will be married at 5 p. m. today. The ceremony will be small, limited to relatives and a few close friends, and will be followed by a larger reception.

Capt. Colin L. Campbell went east Sunday to share in the pre-nuptial festivities and to give his sister in marriage. Also in Washington for the ceremony and for the bridal dinner last night at the Sulgrave club are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Rogers, who left Chicago Thursday, and the bride's aunt, the former Daisy Leiter, whose husband was the earl of Suffolk and who now lives in Tucson, Ariz. Miss Campbell is the daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Colin Campbell. Her fiancé's parents are Rear Adm. and Mrs. Charles R. Train of Washington.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

The first Chicago SPAR recruiting drive will begin March 20 and continue thru April 10, Lt. [j. g.] James J. Kenny, public relations officer of the coast guard, announced yesterday.

Five hundred additional members of the coast guard women's reserve must be recruited from Chicago to meet increased demands due to expanding military operations. The city's drive will be headed by Mayor Kelly as honorary chairman. Stuart Logan, Chicago business man, will be general chairman. Wilson W. Lampert, banker, and Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, are the other members of the advisory committee.

Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will head the women's division of the recruiting drive.

"The recruiting campaign will serve the twofold purpose of familiarizing Chicagoans with the SPARS and of adding 500 more women to the ranks," Lt. Kenny said.

Lt. Mary K. Daly is senior SPARS recruiting officer for Chicago, with headquarters at 53 W. Jackson blvd.

Dorothy Ann De Vries, a student at Thornton Fractional Township High school, Calumet City, is the grand prize winner in the WAC essay contest sponsored by Gov. Green in connection with the recent WAC recruiting campaign. Winners of awards were announced yesterday by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction and chairman of the committee handling the contest.

Miss De Vries, as writer of the best essay on "Why I Want to Be a WAC," receives a trip to the WAC training center at Daytona Beach, Fla. Seven other awards, trips to the WAC installation at Fort Des Moines, Des Moines, Ia., also were given. They go to Ann Marie Boblack, St. Joseph's High school, Chicago; Vivian Hill, Du Sable High school, Chicago; Betty Fenton, Immaculata High school, Chicago; Claire Sanders, Crossville Community High school, White county; Audrey Comer, Peoria High school; Jean Clemons, Webber Township High school, Bluford, and Dorothy Sherrard, Cambridge High school.

Miss Harriet McLaughlin, volunteer chairman of the motor corps of the Chicago Red Cross chapter, announces that more drivers are needed to comply with increased duties delegated to the corps by personnel of the 9th naval district.

Lt. Comdr. T. J. McGuire, transportation officer of the district, has notified the Red Cross that it is to expect an increase in driving responsibilities for the navy this spring both in the Chicago area and to convoy more naval vehicles from other localities.

Other motor corps duties will not be relaxed in spite of navy demands. Disabled service men must be called for at railroad stations and taken to military hospitals; thousands of surgical dressings must be taken from production units to be shipped over the world; emergency driving for the home service and canteen corps must be continued, and services of the mobile blood donor unit must be maintained.

Day time drivers are especially in demand by the corps. Qualified women wishing to volunteer are invited to call Miss McLaughlin at headquarters, Wabash 7850.

One of the chairman's most successful recruiters is Mrs. John E. Eddy of Hinsdale, vice chairman of the motor corps, which has supplied official drivers for the navy garage since last July.

Weddings

In the home of the bride's father, Prof. Charles Cheney Hyde of New York, formerly of Chicago, Miss Elizabeth Tilton Hyde and Lt. Oliver James Lissitzyn of the army were married Feb. 22. The bride, daughter of the late Mrs. Hyde and granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. James Nevins Hyde of Chicago, was graduated from Smith college. Her father is professor of international law at Columbia law school. Lt. Lissitzyn was graduated from Columbia and from its law school. His father, James John Lissitzyn of New York, formerly of Moscow, was a member of the Council of the Moscow Bar.

The marriage of Miss Irene Bear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bear of South Shore dr., to Technical Sgt. Philip Kinsler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kinsler of Chicago, will take place tomorrow at the Windermere East hotel. Sgt. Kinsler is stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

Women Told How to Aid in Saving Paper

Mrs. Thomas A. Crossen, state salvage director of the Council of Catholic women, yesterday enumerated ways in which she accumulates more than 45 pounds of wastepaper each month. Salvage men, familiar with the war time need for paper and the vital part homemakers can play in saving it, urged other housewives to take a tip from the Crossen book.

Mrs. Crossen, who lives in Oak Park and has five small daughters and a husband to keep her busy, said that first of all she saves all newspapers, magazines, and advertisments that come to the home. In addition, she salvages butter, egg, cereal, and cookie cartons, soap wrappings, and all paper boxes. She shops with a mesh shopping bag and carries her purchases unwrapped, except when they require some kind of packaging. She saves all tissue paper and presses it for re-use on gift packages.

The time-honored practice of spreading newspapers on her freshly scrubbed kitchen floor has been abandoned by Mrs. Crossen, who said she now depends on her voice and the great outdoors to protect the floor from the onslaught of 10 small feet. She admitted the old method was more effective but that it didn't help paper salvage.

She has eliminated paper towels in the kitchen and uses linen instead of paper napkins. Even her children's examination papers, which she once saved, have been put to work as material for writing notes to the butcher, the baker, and the milkman.

Two of the youngest Crossen children used to have great fun drawing odd items on big hunks of sketching paper. They frequently exercised the artist's prerogative of crumbling up an effort that didn't please and starting afresh. Mrs. Crossen said she discouraged this by the simple expedient of praising their original efforts. She also suggested they draw gremlins on vacant corners so that a sketching sheet would be completely covered by the time it reached the scrap heap.

Waste paper of all kinds goes into the manufacture of containers for ammunition, army rations, and blood plasma and into bomb fins, parachute flares, cartridge paper fuses, gas mask canisters, garbage cans, helmets, and targets.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Both Ends of the Candle.

Breathes there a girl with soul so dead
Who never to herself has said:
"This is the night for sure I'll go
Early to bed at nine or so,
For I'm as fagged as I can be—
No energy left at all in me!"
Only to find that Fate conspires
Just at the hour when she retires
To jangle her phone with a tempting date
Certain to keep her out till late.
How speedily, then, does zest return—
Both ends of the candle brightly burn! —IDEE.

Rhythm.

Various companies employing rhythm to increase production may be interested in a study by John P. Foley Jr. of the response of five different classifications of women workers. He tested 684 young girls in a trade school who were taking courses in machine sewing, hand sewing, beauty culture, commercial typewriting, and domestic occupations such as waitress training or nursery education. The girls were fairly comparable intellectually, near of an age, and of similar educational backgrounds. Since the work of each one involved a rate of speed, Mr. Foley was curious to find whether the girls showed a preference for one tempo over another [when they listened to it] and whether this preference was shared by others doing the same kind of work.

The highest rate of speed [178.08 beats per minute] was chosen by the typists; power machine operators came next, beauty culturists next, trade dressmakers, and domestics last. Using musical terms, the conclusion was that the last three groups [domestics, dressmakers, and beauty culturists] liked an andante tempo; the power machine operators a relatively slow allegro, and the typists a fast allegro bordering on presto.

Occupation and tempo are closely related. As a matter of fact, when we call a typist speedy we are correct. Her whole adjustment and conditioning are to speed. She is a modern, swift Mercury of the keys.

That Dog Fido.

I remember reading a question in the column as to a dog named Fido. I have one. Am I the only owner of a Fido?

Feminine Firsts.

The first Chicago girl to become a member of Northwest Airlines stewardess corps is Rose C. Bubany. She formerly was assistant supervisor of the nursery at St. Anthony de Padua hospital in Chicago. Now she will fly the Chicago-Twin Cities run, not her first experience with twins . . . . A reader thoughtfully forwards information about Sarah Josepha Hale, the editor of Godey's Lady's Book, a crusader in the days of dress reform and equal rights. Not merely did she advocate public playgrounds but she was responsible for the first class at Vassar to be graduated without benefit of stays. . . . The first university course dealing solely with women in the social order began last fall at Syracuse university, introduced by Dean M. Eunice Hilton.

$750,000 Is Willed to U. of Wisconsin by Kemper Knapp

Kemper K. Knapp, Chicago corporation attorney who died Feb. 23, left an outright bequest of more than $500,000 and an additional $250,000 in trust to the University of Wisconsin in his will, which was filed yesterday in Probate court. Mr. Knapp, who was 84 and lived at 55 E. Division st., was a graduate of the university.

He left no mandatory provisions for the use of the bequests to the university, but expressed a desire that part of the funds be used to provide scholarships in the undergraduate or law department to graduates of Illinois and Wisconsin high schools.

The value of his estate was estimated at more than $1,000,000. Royal B. Cushing, his law associate in the firm of Knapp, Cushing, Hershberger & Stevenson, and the Harris Trust and Savings bank were named co-executors and co-trustees.

'What a Woman,' Fast Moving Film Comedy, Is Well Acted

"WHAT A WOMAN."

A Columbia picture, starring Rosalind Russell and Brian Aherne, with Willard Parker, directed by Irving Cummings, and presented at the Chicago.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The devastatingly delightful Rosalind Russell was never more bewitching than in this politely uproarious comedy—which introduces to movie audiences a new "find," Willard Parker—sort of a cross between Tarzan and Nelson Eddy.

Six feet four, in his stocking feet, stands Mr. Parker. Two hundred pounds weighs he. As for his "ummph"—you be the judges. But I anticipate plenty of letters from plenty of girls about this plenty of man.

Miss Russell is cast as an agent and star maker who has just been chosen as the outstanding career woman of the year. . . . Brian Aherne of the "Knickerbocker" magazine appears to write a series of articles on her life. . . . He finds her in the throes of trying to land a man to play the hero in the movie version of a certain dynamic novel called "The Whirlwind" [takeoff on "The Hurricane," I suspect], written by one "Anthony Street," who has sworn his publishers to secrecy as to his identity. . . .

Carol Ainsley, tracked by Henry Pepper [Brian], tracks Mr. Street [Parker] to his lair—which is a university where he teaches under his real name of Prof. Michael Cobb. . . With the amused Pepper chuckling in the background, she finally lures him into her net. . . .

In the meantime, tho, Pepper has decided that this efficient young lady is only 10 per cent woman. . . . He wonders what could be done about the other 90 per cent. . . .

As the action develops the professor goes thru various stages of shyness, brashness, and Hollywoodism; the star maker is alternately enthused, dismayed, and bewildered. The writer is confidante, buffer, anathema, and eventually lover—but from here you go on with the picture.

The piece is fast, rib-tickling, excellently acted and dialoged, and lavishly staged. . . . Miss Russell's gowns will turn her women fans green with envy. And how she wears 'em!

Mr. Aherne is delightful. So, you may think, is Mr. Parker.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 3.—"Cover Girl" turned out to be the picture "Lady in the Dark" should have been but wasn't. "Cover Girl," with Rita Hayworth and Gene Kelly, is the kind of musical story you lick your chops over and say, "Gosh! let's go see it again." Virginia Van Upp and Arthur Schwartz threw away the old formula and made something refreshing, young, and exhilarating. After Gene Kelly had finished his dance with his alter ego, I overheard a voice back of me saying, "That's the best dancing since Nijinsky." My companion whispered, "I'll bet she's related to the Kellys." I couldn't resist turning around and asking her name. It was Mrs. Rabinsky. Don't miss "Cover Girl." . . . George Rector will be happy that "The Girl from Rector's" is on the slate for early production at Metro, and in the capable hands of Jack Cummings." . . . I wish radio and picture people would stop kicking each other around. Each helps the other. When television comes, they'll both be essential, so why not work in harness and prepare, instead of kicking each other's teeth in? They'll have to pull in double harness soon.

A Few Scratchings.

Joy Paige Warner, the boss' daughter, turned down Helmut Dantine's proposal. . . . Elsie Janis flew to Washington on an undisclosed mission. . . . Roy McCarey's signed a producer-director contract at Republic. His first will be "Atlantic City." . . . After Van Johnson signed for "Thrill of a Romance," opposite Esther Williams, Metro discovered he could sing. . . . Charles Coburn insists he'll do "Master of the Revels," the Don Marquis play, on Broadway next November. . . . Until Gypsy Rose Lee's house is ready, she's bunking in with Fanny Brice. Are those two having fun! . . . The luckiest thing Frank Sinatra did was to pry Al Levy away from Jimmy Saphier. Al has become Frankie's business manager and best critic. From now on he hopes his influence will bring out the best in Sinatra's fans, too.

There's Work Cut Out.

One of the hardest stories to put into screen form is Bessie McCoy's "Yama-Yama Girl." They'll have to balance the lives of two brilliant people — Bessie McCoy and her husband, Richard Harding Davis. As a matter of fact, two separate pictures could be made. The Richard Harding Davis yarn could be done after the war. He never stopped preaching preparedness as a prelude to peace. Their daughter, Hope, working on the story here, is a chip off the old block and delightful. She was in France when the Germans came to take over. Her walls were covered with pictures of famous men in uniform, including Winston Churchill. The German officer in charge was pretty brutal when he saw that, but softened considerably as he came across one of Gen. Pershing. Noting the difference in his attitude, she instantly claimed relationship to Pershing and thinks that helped her escape. We reminisced about her mother, whom I knew quite well at a milk cure in New Jersey. We used to meet there every spring. Little did I dream then that I'd be writing about the goings-on of our people. Little did I dream then that the world would be so interested in Hollywood. No, I'm not telling how many years ago that was. . . . Too bad Marjorie Rambeau had to come down with flu. She and Charlie Winninger caught on like wild fire on their recent bond tour. . . . Elliot Paul, who wrote "The Last Time I Saw Paris," is now doing the screen adaptation of "Guest in the House." Plays boogie-woogie like a native.

Something to Work On.

How about Laurette Taylor in "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" with Jimmy Stewart? I can dream, can't I . . . George Raft reports back here in two weeks. There's a contract waiting for his signature. Overseas he developed sinus trouble. It's really been troubling him. . . . Kenneth MacGowan may do a western for his next at Twentieth Century. There never has been a time when the public didn't go for a good one. And if he does, he's going to take a gander at Lee Trent. . . . John Gunther has served the usual six weeks at Reno. He arrives here on the 7th. . . . Eddie Sherman, producing pictures with Abbott and Costello, has another script ready with a rousing title, "Make Way for Freedom." It deals with men and women of the services coming back into civil life and either finding a new groove for their talents or getting back into the old one — or maybe just getting a job. . . . Danny O'Neil, the Irish tenor [boy whose back was broken while serving on the Lexington], is out of the navy and making friends here in "Calling All Stars." . . . Florence Bates had a letter from a male fan wanting her picture — to see what kind of woman she was, that kids in uniform at the Hollywood canteen want to kiss her. . . . The late Edgar Selwyn told me how he gave up acting. He was really at the top of his form in a big hit but, when rushing to the theater for a matinee, was almost run over by a street car. He got to his dressing room shaking, but in time to put on grease paint. Then he looked in the mirror and said, "What a silly way to make a living!" And after that matinee he never acted again.

U. S. O. to Give Usual Service on 3d Birthday

The United Service Organizations will be three years old tomorrow. Because the entertainment of service men is U. S. O.'s first consideration at all times, no special festivities have been planned for the day, thus permitting clubs to extend full hospitality to men in uniform.

Chicago U. S. O. has invitations out to an anniversary luncheon at 12:15 p. m. Tuesday in the grand ballroom of the La Salle hotel, at which Dr. Lindsley F. Kimball, administrative vice president of the national organization, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Kimball commanded a submarine chaser squadron in the last war.

Mrs. Adolph R. Klein is chairman of the arrangements committee for the luncheon, to which all volunteers are invited. Mrs. Klein also is on the executive committee of the club at 203 N. Wabash av.

All the city's U. S. O. clubs will have their regular scheduled parties for service men tomorrow. The event at the 131 S. Wabash av. club will be a buffet supper from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. A committee of Chicago Junior league members and their husbands will be hosts and hostesses. Mrs. Lee Fletcher is chairman, and Mrs. Edward Harkness has charge of table decorations.

The women of St. Bride's parish will give the party at the 1122 S. Wabash av. club. It will be an all-day event, with a buffet supper from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Instead of having a traditional 25th wedding anniversary celebration, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kroner will mark the day tomorrow by giving the service men's party at the 203 N. Wabash av. club, a breakfast from 9:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.

It will be open house all day tomorrow for men in uniform at the Midway U. S. O., with a tea-dance from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. in Ida Noyes hall.

The Evanston Art Center and Market will open an exhibit of photographs tomorrow afternoon with a program and tea sponsored by the University Guild of Evanston. Dr. Miles C. Martin, professor of physics at the University of Wisconsin and an authority on photography, will speak at 4 o'clock on "Photography —A Modern Art." The exhibit will include works of Elizabeth Anrod and Russell Hamm of Chicago, 30 prints from members of the North Shore Camera club, and a group of Dr. Martin's photographs. The exhibit will continue in the gallery and studio at 528 Dempster st. until April 2.

* *

Goodwill Group to Hear Langston Hughes Monday

Women of Goodwill have a tea planned for 3 p. m. Monday in the Arts club at which the group, which is the women's branch of the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews, will present Langston Hughes. Mr. Hughes, winner of the Harmon gold award for literature, is the author of "Shakespeare in Harlem," "Not Without Laughter," "The Big Sea," and other poetry and prose. He will read from his poems.

* *

Art Institute Movies to Have Dance Subjects

Today's program in the motion picture series at the Art institute will be given entirely to films on the dance. Pictures to be shown include a Doris Humphry dance, the Paris ballet with Serge Lifar, an authentic hula, folk dances, and Walt Disney's "Skeleton Dance." The program, free to the public, will be presented at 2:30 p. m. in Fullerton hall.

Kitchen Pointers

—By Mary Meade—

It seems that some details of the new ration stamp program need additional explanation. The advantages the system offers Mrs. Consumer are: [1] A longer period to budget points; [2] less chance for error in budgeting, as figuring can be done more easily with 10 point stamps; [3] avoidance of the last minute rush before expiration dates, as periods of validity are longer; [4] permanence of tokens since they have no expiration date; [5] longer life for ration books. Another advantage is that tokens may be spent by any member of the household. Children sent to the store can pay for purchases with tokens, thus reducing the chance of losing ration books.

Meat stamps [red] with point values of 10 points each, regardless of the number printed on each stamp, will become valid every two weeks and be good for from 8 to 12 weeks. Blue stamps for processed foods become valid five at a time at 10 points each, or in amounts of 50 points. Tokens, each of which has a value of one point, are given in change for both meat and processed food stamps. Tokens are also given in change for any leftover brown stamps [Y and Z in book 3] and green stamps K, L, M in book 4. Point values of these stamps are not changed to 10, but remain as marked.

SALVAGE TIN CANS!

Two Piece Mode

The jacket of this two piece outfit is unusual in its paneling and hemline. The scalloped collar to contrast echoes the treatment. Style No. 3686 is designed for sizes 12 to 48. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch fabric; ¾ yard contrasting; 1 yard of edging.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, New York City. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Silver Costume Jewelry Supply Is at New High

BY REA SEEGER.

Silver costume jewelry in stunning collections of chest pins, bracelets, clips, buckles, and earrings is a big surprise in this period of restrictions and regulations. For the first time in fashion history all silver jewelry is plentiful, in fact it's just about all you can get—with the exception of high colored plastics, shell pieces, and amusing creations made of wood, felt, or fabric. This silver loot arrives almost weekly in many beautiful pieces—handwrought patterns from Mexico, copies of Italian filigree, and expert copies of lacelike Swedish jewelry.

The newest earrings are those that fasten around the entire ear, cleverly worked in a design of graceful leaves and stem with a tiny bee clinging to one of the blossoms. Others are most realistic dragon flies, with larger dragon flies to serve as decorative chest or lapel pins. Huge multipetaled daisies also are stunning silver accents, as are effective geometric designs and abstract designs of circles within circles or squares and oblongs.

Wide, barbaric band bracelets are exceptionally dramatic as accents for long, loose, or fitted dress sleeves. The extremely wide silver bracelets are being worn high above the elbows with the newest shoulder cap-sleeve sweaters and also will double for contrast duty with the very brief sleeved sheath dresses scheduled for summer.

Large flowers worked in silver and large sprays combined with semi-precious stones in color complete the silver showings. The huge earrings are top of the list buys for a lovely shimmer to accent gay new flowered or not so flowered spring hats.

Miss Bradley Ranges Far in Vocal Recital

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

A vocal recital with a program of almost grab-bag profuseness was given at Kimball hall last night by Adelaide Bradley, soprano. In the course of the evening Miss Bradley sang four major operatic arias, a miscellany of songs in many styles by composers of many nations, and for good measure, Joseph Vito, the admired harpist of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, added two groups of solos.

Miss Bradley's program making is more ambitious than discreet, more hearty than artistic. The sentimental ardors of Lauretta's aria from Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi" cannot tread immediately upon the heels of austere 16th and 17th century canzoni of Caccini and Buononcini without a mild shock to the sensitive listener, nor the introspective "None but the Lonely Heart" of Tschaikowsky follow the melodramatic "Pace, pace mio Dio" from "La Forza del Destino" without damage to the mood of each.

There might have been some mitigation had Miss Bradley herself been more alert to nuances of style. Her voice and her manner of singing may best be described as healthy. The voice is voluminous and it suffers from little restriction of emission. When used full strength, as it was a good share of the time, it might conceivably be called brilliant. That it is but slightly susceptible to variations of color, that it does not always select the exact pitch, and that it makes one language sound about like another, are matters that Miss Bradley should attend to if she wishes to advance in her profession.

The indisputable artistic pleasures of the evening were dispensed by Mr. Vito, who can take trifles of such dubious musical worth as Alberstotter's Concert Waltz and Tedeschi's Andante Sostenuto, and by his artistry and virtuosity, convert them into gems of purest ray. The harp may, indeed, be a limited instrument, but Mr. Vito is not a limited artist.

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Mrs. V. Betts, 1011 Dwillard dr., Kalamazoo, Mich.—When dampening clothes, remember this: Tiny drops from a whisk broom do a better job than a pelting shower from your fingers.

Ruth G., Evanston—For years my mother has added a little lard to her starch water. She insists this is a help in keeping clothes from sticking when they are ironed.

Mrs. Bill J., Chicago—I never add salt to oatmeal until it has been cooking a moment or two. Mother taught me this—and also to "let oatmeal fall in a steady rain from left hand while pouring with the right." Mother was born in Scotland and certainly knew how to cook oatmeal to the queen's taste.

Thru the Looking Glass

If you're planning to shop for a new face powder we'll tell you about one you might like to investigate. It's a fairly recent addition to the cosmetic shelves, having been introduced late last fall, and is the creation of a house that has an enviable reputation for its nail polishes and lipsticks. This addition to the line maintains the family prestige.

This is a wonderfully, unbelievably light powder that gives the skin a smooth, velvety finish and, for all its airiness, clings in a most satisfying manner. The lightness, we suppose, is due to the fact that the powder is put thru a special wind treatment to mix color pigment and powder. The process is effective judging by results, for the color is evenly and inseparably incorporated thru the powder. It's so well blended that there is no chance of its showing up in little patches of darkness on the face. It stays evenly and lastingly distributed, a factor which will be appreciated particularly by those who like to use dark powders. So often a dark powder has a tendency to turn reddish in spots, especially about the nose or chin where it is apt to be heavily applied, making the wearer look a little like an Indian and feel a bit self-conscious. This newcomer is designed to eliminate the hazard and it seems to do so remarkably well.

The powder comes in eight beautiful shades, ranging from a delicate off-white tint to a rich and warm dark color. This last will be good to keep in mind for summer if you're the kind who tans well or likes to simulate a healthy tan. There are no frills about the packaging of the product and we're sure that budgeted beauties will be delighted with the inexpensive price tag it wears. LOUISE DOOLEY.

Shrine Circus Opens; It's Big Day for Kids

Hundreds of Chicago children got their first taste of the traditional "tops" in peace time entertainment for youngsters yesterday afternoon, when they attended the opening of the 10 day annual Medinah Shrine circus, at the temple, Ohio st. and Wabash av.

Their first sight of human and animal actors doing nothing more murderous than trying to provoke laughter obviously was startling to the junior commandos, kindergarten rangers, and flying tiger cubs.

When the hulking elephants lumbered thru their baseball game, while the scarlet coated Shrine bandsmen made old timers' scalps tingle with their double quick rendition of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," the children remained only expectantly silent.

Nor did a top hatted tight rope walker, who added zip to his act by pretending to be drunk, evoke any sound from the staring young sprouts with his breath-taking near spills and break neck plunges.

Trained bears, balancing precariously on high one wheel bicycles and riding motorcycles, had no more luck with the youngsters. One of the animals, given roller skates, even stood erect and did a King Kongiike circuitous dance while the band played the mellow old "Skaters' Waltz."

Buddy, the sea lion who balanced an umbrella on his nose and played expert soft ball with his trainer, finally took matters into his own flippers. Clapping them vigorously, he begged for applause with a frankness that would have shamed the veriest "ham" in a kerosene circuit "mellerdrammer." A few feeble hand claps came from the children.

Then came the clowns, putty nosed and gargantuan-footed. Insistently they called out to the youngsters, demanding that they participate in the slapstick fun on stage.

That completed the thawing. So when the acrobatic little white dog came out, the children began shouting directions to the clown who held the hoop for him to jump thru. Soon they were shouting so loud it was lucky the band was playing "The Old Gray Mare." Otherwise you couldn't have heard it. Maybe you remember, that's the tune where the trombones come out real loud, every now and then.

School Child Needs Special Kind of Care

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Young children who have been promoted from kindergarten to the first grade often find the change a trying one, physically and in other ways, too. From a play atmosphere and a great deal of physical freedom, they are suddenly [at least in the average school] expected to conform to a more confining and academic routine.

A great many little boys and girls don't adjust easily to the change, and this lack of adjustment may show itself in an open reluctance to go to school, morning nausea, loss of appetite, fearfulness, and other symptoms which might not appear to have any connection with a child's relationship to school.

If you notice that things seem to be awry with your children in their early years of school, glance over these suggestions for a possible remedy:

Whatever we do to safeguard the health and happiness of young school children has to be done before 9 o'clock in the morning and after 3 in the afternoon.

This means that on school days the child's rest has to be planned so that he can still sleep adequately and yet get up early enough in the morning to do quietly everything he has to do.

To my mind, some time between 3 o'clock in the afternoon and bedtime a child should have at least one short rest period. This could either come when he gets home after school [and he should then have something light and nourishing to eat], or it could come just before bath and supper. Since eating and digestion seem to be interfered with by school in these early years, it is particularly important that eating time should have a little circle of quiet around it.

As to Saturdays and Sundays, they should be used for big stretches of play, rest, and relaxation. It is advisable not to pack too much excitement and visiting into that time. I have heard teachers complain that many children come back to school on Monday morning tired out from their week-ends.

One more thing and that has to do with school itself. During these early years of study every child should have a mid-morning rest and some sort of light nourishment, such as milk and crackers or milk and bread and butter. In schools where this is done a lessening of fatigue has been noticed. And instead of interfering with your child's appetite for lunch, his lessened fatigue makes him eat and digest it better.

As you can see, the refrain of this advice is: "Food and rest"—food and rest. This is a refrain that we who advise on child care cannot sing too loudly.

According to Culbertson

In the following deal North-South had their opponents, rather than their own prowess, to thank for the fact that they reached a makeable game contract.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	Pass
1 spade	2 hearts	3 clubs	3 hearts
Pass	4 hearts	Pass	Pass
Pass

Altho I have implied that East-West bid badly in helping South to reach a makeable game contract, the truth is that they were more unfortunate than guilty. East could not be expected to know that it was dangerous for him to "reopen" with one spade. After all, the supposed experts in the North-South seats had stopped at a measly one heart! The real culprit in this deal was South. The one heart overcall he chose to make did not do justice to his hand, nor carry sufficient invitation to his partner. Surely, North had nothing approaching a free raise of one heart, and indeed his subsequent raise to three hearts was highly courageous.

South's correct action over one diamond was a takeout double. Then, when he later bid his hearts, North would have the strength for a raise.

The play at four hearts was not difficult, but required care. West opened a diamond; East won and correctly shifted to a trump. Declarer won and returned a diamond. East won and led another trump. Declarer won, led to the club ace, and returned a low spade. East had to split his honors, and declarer found it easy to establish the spade jack before he ruffed a diamond, then to discard his last diamond on that spade jack.

WELLS, AUSTIN CONTINUE DRIVE TOWARD CROWN

South Shore and Harper Other Winners.

Two south section teams, South Shore and Harper, and Wells and Austin from the west section continued their march toward City league senior championships by winning quarter-final games yesterday.

The best game of the afternoon was Wells' determined battle with Amundsen of the north section, ending in a 53 to 50 victory for Wells on its floor. It was a personal victory for Wally Mroz of Wells who, altho hindered by a sore shoulder, pulled his team out of a hole in the last few minutes of play besides accounting for 14 field goals and two free throws for 30 points. Don Rehfeldt, 6 foot 5 inch Amundsen center, played his best game of the season. Don scored 15 free throws out of 17 attempts in addition to seven field goals for 29 points.

Austin Tops Waller.

South Shore, south section champion and a favorite to reach the finals, beat Farragut of the central section, 53 to 35, while Harper whipped Morgan Park of the south section, 27 to 23.

Austin upheld the west section by beating Waller of the north division, 59 to 41. Willie Mann of Austin made nine field goals and four free throws for 22 points.

In the junior games, Lake View defeated Lane, 39 to 29, in a contest between two north section teams, while Hyde Park was upsetting Lindblom, 27 to 23. The other semi-finalists are Marshall, defending champion, and Parker. Arrangements for the semi-final games are to be made this morning in the office of August H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education of the City league. Lineups:

Jack Bramhall, 82, Former Band Director, Dies

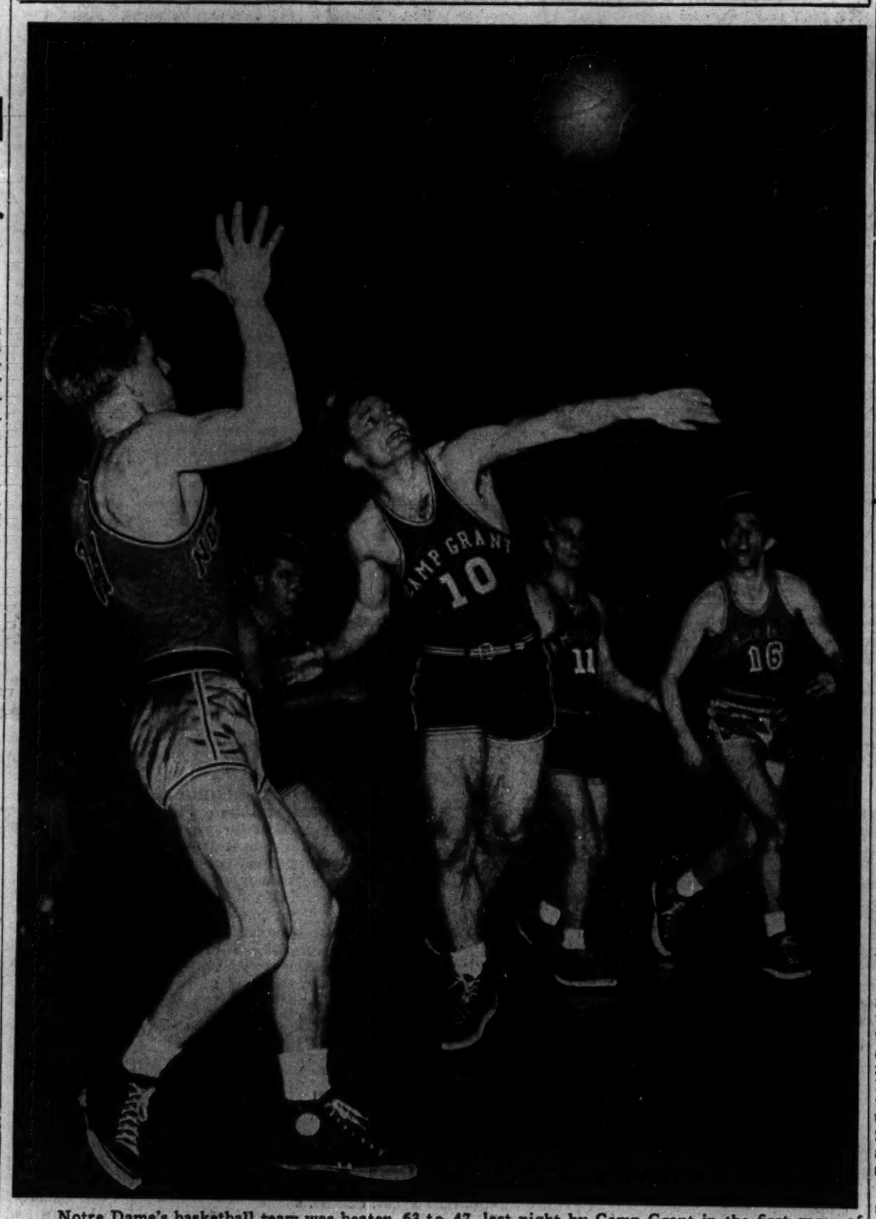
Jack Bramhall.

John [Jack] Bramhall, 82, of 3318 Walnut st., whose band played at season opening baseball games in the Cubs' park each spring for 45 years until a few years ago, died yesterday at his home. He had been in poor health for two years and bedfast for five weeks.

He was born in Lancashire, England, and came to the United States as a boy. For a number of years he traveled with a minstrel show as cornetist and singer. He had lived in Chicago for 53 years and Bramhall's band came to be regarded almost as an essential feature of sports events and political conventions. It also played concerts in Garfield park and the Municipal pier [now Navy pier]. He was especially proud of his white bandmaster's uniforms, on which he wore a number of medals which had been presented to him. His largest band numbered 75 pieces.

He is survived by his widow, Merit, and two brothers, George of Chicago, and Thomas, who lives in California. Services will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in funeral parlors at 624 N. Western av.

ANOTHER NOTRE DAME PASS



Notre Dame's basketball team was beaten, 63 to 47, last night by Camp Grant in the first game of the Chicago Stadium double header, but it was thru no fault of Leo Klier (left), Irish forward who scored 22 points and broke the Notre Dame season scoring record. Klier caught this pass from Johnny Kelly (16). Paul McCall (10) of Camp Grant was unable to break up the play. In the background is Johnny Niemiera (11), Warrior forward. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

13 WILL RUN IN $25,000 RACE AT HIALEAH TODAY

Miami, Fla., March 3 (AP).—Form players will have their money on Sun Again, but their eyes will be on Jockey Eddie Arcaro tomorrow when 13 finely trained thorobreds burst out of Hialeah Park's starting gate for the running of the $25,000 Widener handicap, Florida's richest horse race.

Blood and past performance give Calumet farm's Sun Again an edge over the field, and Trainer Ben Jones has pronounced the 5 year old chestnut fit for the mile and one quarter grind. Jones made sure the horse would have ready handling by giving the mount to Ted Atkinson, leading rider of the Hialeah meeting.

No bettor can feel safe, however,

Golden Glovers Stick to an Old Formula—That K. O. Wallop

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The knockout copyright which has endured thru 17 years of Golden Gloves punching will be in evidence again Friday night, when the championship finals of boxing's top show will be conducted in the Chicago Stadium ring, a survey of the Tournament of Champions results revealed yesterday.

The final night of the Tournament of Champions produced seven knockouts, two of them quite convincing and the other five going into the records as technical victories. Most impressive of these was the 20 second volley from Lawrence Watson, 18 year old Negro packinghouse worker from the Omaha World-Herald team. Watson's speedy triumph over Joe Bietell of Evansville in the 175 pound division was one of the fastest ever completed in the west side building.

Light Heavies Can Punch.

Watson may have looked like top man of the night by the swift dispatch with which he completed his assignment, but he can expect a busy evening next Friday, since his three rivals in the light heavyweight quartet constitute the strongest set of opponents in any weight class in the finals. They are Ray Standifer of Cleveland's always powerful team, Pvt. Vince De Venti of Camp Ellis and Peoria, and Dave Colquitt of the Gary Post-Tribune squad.

The author of the other clean knockout was Joe Damato, another Clevelander. Joseph, a carrot-thatched Italian, needed only one round to floor Rudy Payasappe, Indian featherweight from the Oklahoma City crew. Damato does not anticipate an easy evening of it himself, for he, like Watson, also will find three tough men in his league. They are Sgt. Manny Ortega of Fort Worth, no stranger to Golden Gloves; Tommy Inskeep, another Peorian, and Major Jones, Negro puncher from Kansas City who survived one of the most grueling battles of the Tournament of Champions in beating Del Cockayne, a Cedar Rapids citizen who didn't know when he was licked.

Ott Scores a T. K. O.

Another out of town candidate is Aviation Cadet Orlan Ott, a Texas teammate of Sgt. Ortega. Cadet Ott had an interesting evening before he finally was awarded a technical knockout over Sgt. Louis Kahn of Sioux City, Ia., in the best armynavy bout of Wednesday's program.

Chicago, which came out of the first two nights of swinging with six survivors, now is reduced to two representatives, but they were chosen as the two that would go farthest during the local eliminations at Marigold Gardens last month. They are Collins Brown, Negro middleweight from the Catholic Youth organization, and Johnny Bratton of the Savoy A. C.

Glovers on W-G-N

GOLDEN Glovers will be presented on the W-G-N Sports Review tonight from 5:45 to 6 o'clock. Among them will be Sgt. Manny Ortega, featherweight, and Corp. Dick Young, middleweight, both of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Collins Brown, city middleweight champion; Pvt. Ragon Kinney, heavyweight, Los Angeles Times, and Charley Kucharz, Chicago light heavyweight title holder.

DE PAUL BEATS BADGERS, 48-35; WARRIORS WIN

Klier Sets Notre Dame Scoring Record.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

De Paul climaxed the Stadium program of double headers last night by defeating Wisconsin, 48 to 35, and insuring its claim to the midwestern basketball championship. A crowd of 7,400 watched the Demons win their fifth contest in six games with Western conference teams and their 19th in a 22 game schedule.

Camp Grant won the opening contest from Notre Dame, 63 to 47, but this high scoring battle was scene of a personal triumph for Leo Klier of the Irish. The brilliant Notre Dame forward established a season record of 293 points when he made nine field goals and four penalty shots last night. The former mark of 290 points was made by Johnny Moir in the 1937-'38 season. Moir played in 22 games, while Klier's record was made in 19. Notre Dame ended its season last night.

Warriors Pull Ahead.

Paul McCall, a surprise starter at center for Camp Grant, opened the scoring but Klier immediately tied it with a follow-up. The teams traded points for 10 minutes with Klier and John Kelly getting the Irish markers and John Niemiera, Micky Rottner, and George Hogan making the scoring column for the Warriors.

Stan Szukala was away on a quick break but Klier's point on Rottner's foul tied the score at 10-all. Szukala then led the Soldiers' rally, scoring twice from the field, and Hogan added another goal by taking a pass from Bill Davis on the pivot play. Behind 16 to 10, Notre Dame rallied to cut the margin to 22 to 20, but Camp Grant again applied pressure in the last four minutes of the half and took a 30 to 22 intermission advantage.

Notre Dame kept the pace at the start of the second half, but with the count 32 to 26, Niemiera made three consecutive field goals and the Warriors led 38 to 26. Klier and Kelly then hit from the court. After six minutes Camp Grant led 42 to 31. Rottner, Szukala, and Niemiera started another barrage which scored seven points and Camp Grant held complete control thereafter.

Dick Injures Elbow.

While Wisconsin and De Paul did not play an unusually rugged game there was an exceptional number of petty fouls which made for ragged play and bitter feeling. Don Dick fell and dislocated his left elbow in the early minutes, Russ Wendland, former Northwestern star, suffered a bruised thigh muscle, and Ed Kachan's glasses were broken. Kachan returned after his accident and eventually was sent from the game on personals.

Wisconsin's defense for big George Mikan, De Paul's 6 foot 9 inch center, was a zone with two men guarding Mikan. Almost immediately the guards and Mikan shoved for position and Mikan got four consecutive points on two free throws and a field goal.

The Demons never relinquished the advantage and the half ended 29 to 17. Mikan finished the half with three field goals and five points from penalties. His game total was 18 points. Midway in the second half the Badgers got eight consecutive points and trailed 37 to 29. With four minutes to go they were behind, 42 to 35, but Mikan and Gene Stump rushed thru the defense for the final scores. Lineups:

Iowa City, Ia., March 3 [Special].—With two scoring spurts, one in the first 5 minutes and the other in the last 5 minutes of the game, the University of Iowa Hawkeyes beat Northwestern 45 to 39, here tonight to come within one game of a share of the Big Ten basketball title. The Hawkeyes need another victory over Northwestern tomorrow in the final game of the season to give them their first share of the Big Ten championship in 18 years. Ohio state already is sure of at least a tie for the title.

Dick Ives and Dave Danner, as usual, carried the load in Iowa's offense. With 192 and 185 points, respectively, they now rank first and second in the Big Ten individual scoring race. Danner made 15 points and Ives 14 tonight.

George Felt, N. U. center, led the losers with 10 points.

Hawks Lose Early Lead.

After losing an early 10 point lead the Hawkeyes were tied, 23 all, at the half time and then fell behind the Wildcats in the second half. A late rally, set off by a pair of free throws by Danner, freshman forward, turned the tide.

Inaccuracy at the free throw line cost Iowa its early lead, but four straight conversions late in the game put the Hawkeyes ahead. They made only nine of 19 free throws.

The Hawkeyes raced to an early 12 to 2 lead, then Northwestern's long shot artists set their sights, and with 4 minutes of play remaining in the first half, the score was tied at 18 all.

Late Rally Saves Game.

A free throw by Ned Postels made it 19 to 18 for Iowa, and a charity toss by Ronnie Schumacher of N. U. again tied the count. Danner got a field goal, but Duane Sickels and Schumacher made a basket each to give Northwestern a 23 to 21 edge. Lloyd Herwig tipped in a goal in the final minute of the half to tie the count again.

Ives broke the tie in the second half with a field goal, but six quick points by the Wildcats gave Northwestern a lead Iowa didn't overcome for 12 minutes—until only 5 minutes of play remained. Then Danner got two free throws to make it 40 to 39 for the Hawkeyes. Jack Spencer added two more free tosses and Ives got a basket and a free throw to give Iowa its ninth victory in 11 conference games. Lineups:

JACK LOSES TO MONTGOMERY IN GARDEN BATTLE

New York, March 3 (AP).—Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia slashed out a 15 round decision tonight over Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., to win the New York version of the world lightweight championship. Montgomery weighed 135 pounds and Jack 134.

The largest indoor crowd in years, 19,086, paid $111,954 to see the thrilling duel between the gladiators, and watched Montgomery take the laurels from Beau just as he did last May. In November, Jack won the title back.

GRABINER HAS SIGNATURES OF 15 SOX PLAYERS

Thornton Lee Says Arm Trouble Is Over.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Harry Grabiner, White Sox vice president, cashed in some extra beef points yesterday and as a result was able to deliver an announcement that three more of James Dykes' boys were ready for the season—at least so far as salary arrangements are concerned.

The stepping up of his daily marketing to an approximate 500 pound mark revealed that Bill Dietrich, who always is going to have a good year on the mound; Flychaser Wally Moses, who invariably has a good year, and Infielder Tony Cuccinello, who is handy because so many of the youngsters have gone away, are in the tent awaiting orders from their boss.

Dietrich Rejected in Draft.

This brings to 15, according to the vice president's count, the number now under contract and, of course, there are others secreted in his desk, but he refuses to provide a field day for the ball writers by turning the entire batch loose in one gesture.

Grabiner's announcement on the Dietrich document was perfectly timed with information handed down by a pre-induction examining board in Philadelphia. The board looked over Dietrich with the idea of suiting him up in Uncle Sam's style but declared him fit only for limited services for which he might not be summoned for many weeks. The bespectacled right hander failed to make the 1-A grade because of a skull fracture suffered some years ago in competition.

Grove Tries Arm, Too.

Thornton Lee, who came on from Phoenix, Ariz., for a checkup of the left arm and shoulder on which surgical work was done last fall, vows that after two seasons his troubles are at an end. He bases his optimism on two weeks of exercise in which the problem wing was subjected to daily strenuous throwing. He claims no complications ensued, but nevertheless may have to be satisfied with a $1 per year contract until he proves his case.

Orval Grove, rejected by the army because of operations on his knees, also has been testing his arm preliminary to the training excursion to French Lick, Ind.

Hawks Battle Jinx and Red Wings Tonight

The Chicago Blackhawks, their confidence in a Stanley cup play-off berth strengthened by Thursday's 4 to 2 triumph over the Boston Bruins, tonight will storm the gates of Detroit's Olympia with a view to handing their all-time jinx opponents, the Red Wings, the first defeat they have been able to administer to the Michigan sextet on the latter's ice since March 15, 1940.

On that evening, the Hawks emerged with a 4 to 3 triumph. Since then they have made 18 invasions of the Detroit rink without scoring a victory. Including the aforesaid play-off loss, the Chicagoans have an embarrassing record of 15 defeats and two ties in Detroit.

It's Getting Monotonous.

Following the 1940 decision, Manager Paul Thompson's crew could eke out no better mark than four defeats in the 1940-'41 campaign, losing by scores of 3 to 1, 2 to 1, 2 to 1, and 3 to 2. The following season was not even as close in a scoring sense, for the Wings chased our boys out of the Olympia with lickings of 4 to 1, 2 to 0, 6 to 1, and 6 to 4.

Last year Jack Adams' players went even farther by winning three games, 6 to 1, 5 to 0, and 6 to 5 and permitting the Hawks the solace of a couple of ties, 3 to 3 and 1 to 1. The 6 to 5 Detroit victory was the one that hurt, however, for it cost the Chicagoans a role in the play-offs.

They Need This One.

The Hawks tonight have a particularly strong reason for winning, beyond the satisfaction of trimming the Wings on their own ice. Victory virtually would assure Thompson's men of one of the four Stanley cup spots, since they now command a third place tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs, with whom they find themselves four games in front of fifth place Boston. A decision over the Wings would favor the Hawks for an encore when the two teams return to the Stadium tomorrow night.

13 to Run in Rich Widener Race Today

because Arcaro's in the race with a longshot. Astride Greentree stable's Four Freedoms, the little jockey will be trying to accomplish a racing feat as rare as a 200 to 1 payoff—a riding slam.

With outsiders, he won Hialeah's two big stakes, the Flamingo and the Widener, in 1942—they were not run in 1943—and came back last Saturday to triumph again in the Flamingo.

Arcaro is in great riding form this week, and will be going after his clean sweep on a better than fair horse, which he booted to victory this year in the Palm Beach handicap and guided to second place two weeks ago in the $10,320 McLennan, the Widener prep won by Sun Again.

Marriage Wins $25,000 Race.

The secondary favorite, and another reason why it'll be a gamble to plunge on Sun Again, is the eight year old gelding Marriage. A factor in any race for which he is pointed, the Coward and Dupuy campaigner triumphed Feb. 19 in the New Orleans handicap, only other event of the winter worth $25,000.

Townsend B. Martin's entry of Bolingbroke and Bankrupt will have plenty of supporters in a crowd which promises to be the biggest of a high betting season.

U. OF CHICAGO IS HOST TODAY TO 3 TEAM MEET

The University of Chicago track team will complete its preliminary schedule in a triangular meet with Northwestern and Minnesota at 2 p. m. today in the Maroons' fieldhouse. The meet will be the last opportunity the three teams will have to discover what men should be watched in the Big Ten conference meet in the same arena March 11.

ILLINOIS VS. MICHIGAN.

Champaign, Ill., March 3 [Special].—Superior team balance of the University of Michigan track squad is expected to give the Wolverines the margin over the brilliant individual members of the Illinois squad when the two clash in a dual meet here tomorrow. Altho the Illini showed surprising strength in earlier meets, the Wolverines, with 13 letter men back from last year's Western conference championship team, have well distributed power.

BADGERS BEAT PENN STATE RING TEAM, 6½ TO 1½

Madison, Wis., March 3 [Special].—The University of Wisconsin boxing team won its 23d consecutive dual meet tonight, beating Penn State, 6½ to 1½, before 8,000.

The Badgers scored two knock outs, Dick Miyagawa of the Badgers stopping Frank Serago of Penn State in 1 minute 23 seconds of the second round. A hard left to jaw by Miyagawa ended the bout. Carl Kulawinski of Wisconsin stopped Jack Chabek of the visitors with a flurry of head punches midway in the first round.

The feature bout was Ted Kozuszek's decision over Jack Moran of the Penn State, the Badger scrapper giving away 10 pounds.

Penn State won only one bout and earned a draw in another.

AUTOS, WHISKY SHOW WAY TO WAR INFLATION

Carry Little Weight in Cost Indexes.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

It is in used automobiles, whisky, second hand furniture, and other assorted items that the public is getting its real taste of war time price inflation. These commodities do not carry much weight in the commonly used indices of living costs.

The public is willing to pay prices double the pre-war level for automobiles and whisky. Furniture in use for 6 to 10 years now sells near or above the retail prices at which it sold when new.

Families that have broken up homes because one or more members have gone into service are surprised at the prices that used household articles bring. In normal times many of these articles would have little or no market value.

Stories Are Discounted.

There are many stories circulating about fantastic profits realized by speculators who have bought up commodities in which the big price increases have occurred. These stories can be heavily discounted, dealers assert. The "smart people" who hoped to beat the war time price inflation did not invest their money in used furniture or automobiles except in rare instances. They chose the more conventional inflation hedges such as commodity futures, stocks, and real estate. Some of these purchases have turned out satisfactorily, but by no means all of them.

The dealers in used automobiles stoutly refute the idea that they are getting rich out of the war. They point out that their inventories have turned over many times since the suspension of production of civilian automobiles. They have had to buy their cars at steadily advancing prices and depend for their profits on correct judgment of the market.

Sold Inventory Early.

Some dealers relate mournfully that they cleaned out their pre-war inventory of used cars before the big upturn in prices got under way.

Some automobile men believe that the used car market has reached its peak. They say imposition of ceiling prices at this stage would be a serious mistake. Much of the trading in used automobiles now is between dealers, surveys disclose. Retail demand in this area, it is indicated, is shrinking altho this has not as yet been reflected in market prices. The only effect of a price ceiling would be to drive business away from legitimate dealers into other channels, dealers believe.

They argue they would be without merchandise to sell if ceilings were imposed. This complaint is already made by liquor dealers whose wares are subject to price ceilings.

Average Dealer Gains Little.

Some speculators undoubtedly have made big profits in whisky, but the average liquor dealer hasn't been in on the kill, according to trade spokesmen. The legitimate companies have been unable to realize the profits on their stocks that could be taken if they were able to sell at above-ceiling levels.

The average consumer doesn't understand why he has to pay high prices for liquor when it is theoretically controled. That he is buying different brands and older whisky doesn't soften for the average consumer the fact that he is paying much more today than he did in the pre-price control period.

One business man suggested yesterday that the solution of his individual liquor problem is a further advance in prices.

"I can't afford to drink at present prices but I still buy a quart occasionally," he said. "If it went up another dollar or so there would be one less buyer in the market."

Stocks Mixed; Utilities, Oils, Sugars Higher

New York, March 3 (AP).—Utilities, sugars, and oils improved in today's stock market, rails slipped, and leaders in other departments met heavy going.

Prices turned uneven after a fairly steady opening. Selling cropped up here and there on the belief March 15 tax requirements may produce liquidation. Customers leaned to caution pending international developments.

Utilities apparently responded to reports the securities and exchange commission would approve a number of integration programs. The possibility of a larger demand for sugar bolstered that section. Opposition to the government's Arabian pipe line project stiffened petroleums. Profit taking on the extended carrier upswing retarded rails.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.1 at 51.3, but the utility composite advanced 0.2 to 36.5, its peak mark since Oct. 28. Transfers totaled 756,710 shares compared with 705,850 yesterday.

BONDS ALSO UNEVEN.

New York, March 3 (AP).—Special demand lifted prices of some corporate bonds sharply today, but others were heavy. In active trading New Haven railroad loans moved up 1 to 2 points and similar gains were recorded in bonds of certain affiliated properties. Other issues up more than a point included Hudson and Manhattan refunding 5s, International Hydro Electric 6s, Lehigh Valley Coal stamped 5s, and Central Pacific 5s of 1960.

The Associated Press rail and industrial averages were unchanged and the utility composite was down. Transactions totaled $9,955,700 face value against $11,684,600 yesterday.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Declines slightly outnumbered advances yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Active trading in Middle West corporation at a fractional gain followed the announcement that SEC's public utility division had approved major provisions of the joint reorganization plan of Midland United and Midland Utilities, in each of which Middle West has an interest. Abbott Laboratories lost a small fraction. G. Heileman Brewing rose ¼ to a new 1943-'44 peak on increased earnings in 1943 as shown in the annual report.

PREMIER ANGUS BULL BRINGS RECORD PRICE AT PUREBRED AUCTION

Prince Eric of Sunbeam, grand champion bull of the National Aberdeen-Angus show, brought $40,000, a modern record, at an auction yesterday in Dexter park pavilion.

Nearest to this price was the $38,000 paid for a Hereford bull several months ago. Previously the modern record for Angus bulls was $25,000.

Ralph L. Smith of Kansas City, whose farm is at Chillicothe, Mo., purchased the champion from Sam C. Fullerton, Miami, Okla. Smith said Prince Eric will be used to improve his herd at Chillicothe.

Erian B. VII., the Chicago reserve champion bull which took runner-up honors, was sold for $30,000 to the Fair Promise Farms, Betterton, Md. The former owners were John and Elliot Brown of Rose Hill, Ia.

Prince Quality of Sunbeam, half brother to the champion [both have the same father], brought the third highest price for a bull at $10,800. Maas Brothers of Riverside, Ia., were the buyers.

El Jon Enchantress VII., champion female, was sold for $7,000 to the Glen Urquhart farm, Barrington, Ill., owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fowler McCormick.

Year's Home Building Set at 2 Billion Mark

Between 350,000 and 400,000 residential units will be built during the first year after the war at a cost of about 2 billion dollars, Curt C. Mack of Washington, D. C., director of underwriting of the federal housing administration, estimated yesterday. He spoke at the closing session of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America two day mortgage conference at the Drake hotel.

There will not be any "miracle home" or revolutionary changes at the outset of building activity, he said.

Custom Is Market Factor.

"Custom and tradition are potent market factors," he said. "Buyers still are thinking generally in terms of the familiar cottage and not of some grand new kind of house regardless of how efficient functionally it may be."

The most substantial immediate post-war production of houses will occur in the middle and upper middle price brackets, he predicted.

"Basically, however, the long term continuing demand will be for the minimum cost house which will meet modern American living requirements," he said. "Experience has shown that the low priced home has the greatest continuing market, with correspondingly less mortgage risk."

Price Gains Shown.

H. O. Walther, vice president of Bell Savings and Loan association, Chicago, reported the results of a survey made by 12 members of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association of the real estate market price movements. He said the average price increase had been about 23 per cent for residential properties in the $6,000 to $9,000 class. Inflation buying has been an important factor, he said.

STOCK EXCHANGE EXPELS MEMBER FOR VIOLATIONS

New York, March 3 (AP).—The New York Stock exchange today announced Benjamin Yelin had been expelled from membership for violating specific articles of the exchange constitution. It was the first time in more than three years a member had been expelled.

Yelin was elected to membership in April, 1941, and later in that year became a partner of T. J. Beauchamp & Co., specialist and floor trader, which dissolved at the end of 1943. Since that time Yelin has been an individual member.

"The charge against Yelin was based upon his allocation of transactions, subsequent to their execution and at times when the transactions appeared profitable, to an account in which he had an indirect interest and to one other account, such allocations having operated to the disadvantage of the firm of which he was partner at the time," the board of governors said.

GRAINS DECLINE ON HINT BULGARS MOVE FOR PEACE

Grain markets opened firm and finished easy yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat and rye declined about 1 cent a bushel from the early high on selling induced by a report Bulgaria was seeking armistice terms with the United States and Great Britain. Closing trades were near the bottom. Wheat lost ⅝ to ⅞ cent, rye ¼ to ⅝ cent, and oats ¼ to ½ cent. Barley finished ⅝ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower.

Part of the selling of both wheat and rye was based on announcement that large quantities of potatoes and sugar would be used for making industrial alcohol to conserve supplies of grain.

N. Y. Central, Shippers Face Trust Charge

New York, March 3 (AP).—The government today filed suit under the Sherman anti-trust act against the New York Central Railroad company and 21 corporations engaged in shipping of merchandise in interstate commerce charging conspiracy in restraint of trade and monopoly.

It sought a federal court order directing the New York Central to divest itself of all interest in or control over the United States Freight company, which was named a defendant, and of interest and control in other defendant freight forwarders and motor vehicle common carriers.

The government also asked that the United States Freight company divest itself of all interest in or control over defendant motor vehicle common carriers, by stock ownership or otherwise and that the railroad and the United States Freight company be enjoined from acquiring control unlawfully of any motor vehicle common carrier which competes with or serves the same territory as the railroad company.

Texas Company Included.

Other defendants named were the Linden Securities corporation, Universal Carloading and Distributing Co., Inc, of Delaware, Universal Carloading and Distributing Co., Inc., of Texas, Universal Carloading and Distributing Co. of Mississippi, Overland Package Freight Service, Inc., Transcontinental Freight company.

Pioneer Carloading company, Universal Transcontinental corporation, Interstate Motor Freight system, Universal Cartage company, Detroit Trucking company, Lasham Cartage company, Midwest Haulers, Inc., Mutual Trucking company, Hancock Truck Lines, Inc., Commercial Freight Lines, Inc., Stibbs Transportation Lines, Inc., Roosevelt Cartage company, Millerton Trucking Co., Inc., Modern Shipping Service, Inc.

Charges Controling Interest.

The complaint said the United States Freight company was a holding company owning a controling interest in several motor vehicle freight carriers. It charged the railroad in turn owned a 49.9 per cent stock interest in the United States Freight company.

The government said the defendants had engaged in illegal continuous combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce in the transportation of freight among the states, and entered into, had been and were at present parties to unlawful contracts in restraint of trade and commerce. The complaint further charged conspiracy to monopolize interstate commerce.

MEDINAH CLUB OFFERS PLAN TO KEEP BUILDING

A reorganization plan which would permit members of the Medinah club of Chicago to retain the building as a club was filed yesterday with Arthur C. Youngberg, federal trustee in the reorganization of the Medinah Building corporation. The plan was presented to Special Master Joseph F. Elward by Henry L. Phoenix, attorney for Youngberg, at a special hearing.

Walter R. Kuehnle testified that he had appraised the property at $1,400,000. He said its best use would be for club purposes as 56 per cent of the building is planned for club facilities. The building has only 437 rooms which could be used for hotel purposes.

The club's reorganization plan, filed by attorney James W. Cotter, provides for a $650,000 first mortgage loan and a $375,000 second mortgage bond issue. The total amount of general income mortgage bonds outstanding would be reduced by $375,000, the face amount of the new second mortgage bonds. The remaining outstanding general income mortgage bonds, totaling $2,002,500, would be subordinated to the new first and second mortgage indebtedness. All issued and outstanding shares of capital stock would be canceled. Master Elward continued the hearing until March 13.

Beatrice Creamery Buys Outlet on Pacific Coast

Beatrice Creamery company yesterday announced it had extended its operations to the Pacific coast by the acquisition, for cash and other considerations, of Independent Creamery and Ice Cream company, Los Gatos, Cal., with branches in San Francisco and Oakland.

"V" LOANS AND DIVIDENDS.

I notice that certain large companies obtain V loans, and am wondering if a V loan would amount to an indebtedness on which a regular rate of interest would be payable. If so, does it not seem that these loans would interfere with the regular dividend payments that the firms have been making on their stocks?—S. R.

Answer: The V loans are an indebtedness, and the borrowers must pay interest on them. However, instead of interfering with dividend payments the V loans have probably enabled many corporations to earn substantial profits and thus pay dividends.

The V loans are made to provide working capital for companies holding war contracts. In many instances the company's own funds would be inadequate to handle a big government order. Without such contracts numerous manufacturers, because of restrictions on the production of civilian goods, would have to shut down.

CORN REFINING COMPANY'S NET EARNINGS RISE

Shipyard's Profits $7.06 a Share.

Decreased provision for federal taxes and contingencies enabled Corn Products Refining company to show a small increase in net income in 1943, the annual report disclosed yesterday. Profit for the year ended Dec. 31 was $8,700,687, equal to $2.76 a common share, compared with $8,661,323, or $2.74 a share, in 1942.

Profit was determined after providing $11,297,440 for federal and other income taxes, less post-war refund of $675,000, compared with $18,406,382, after crediting a refund of $1,454,550, in 1942. Net tax last year was equal to 56 per cent of earnings before taxes, and in 1942 to 68 per cent. Contingency reserves deducted last year were $40,412, compared with $1,020,000.

Shipbuilder's Profits Rise.

New York Shipbuilding corporation's gross billings last year increased to $195,080,716 from $171,342,590 in 1942. Net profit was $3,532,426, equal to $7.06 a share, against $3,042,610, or $6.08 a share. Federal taxes increased to $9,900,000 from $8,164,000.

Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain and Ireland, Ltd., for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 reported a profit of $28,852,000 [with the British pound converted at $4.02], compared with $29,990,000 in 1942. The earnings in each year were shown after transfer of $2,010,000 to general reserves.

Railroad Men in Army Win Their Share of Battle Glory

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, March 3.—Building a railroad, operating a train, and solving problems of freight shipment in a war zone probably do not sound pulse stirring. But lest there is any doubt, 39 decorations for gallantry already have been conferred on the men engaged in building and operating the military railway service along the Italian front.

Handling this work are railroad veterans brought overseas. They reorganized the Italian railroad system wrecked by the Germans and put it back into service. They are not combatants in the ordinary sense of the word, but pushing the reconstruction forward as fast as the troops advance, they work several miles inside the range of enemy guns.

Often Under Attack.

The train crews, carrying rations, ammunition, and other supplies as well as evacuating the wounded, are subject not only to shellings but also to bombing and strafing. Many of these men are beyond military age with similar service in World War I. To enable them to volunteer the combat age limit was raised in their cases to 55 years.

Altho uniformed and working as military units, the rail group actually is a distinct segment of the American railroad industry and has retained most of the characteristics of American railroading. The men were brought here for this particular task under arrangements between the government and the railroads.

The railroaders themselves, including the commandant of the military railway service, Brig. Gen. Carl R. Gray Jr. of St. Paul, executive vice president of the North Western railroad, are proud of the fact that the existence of this unit is a tacit admission of the army that engineers, brakemen, dispatchers, and specially skilled mechanics cannot be made at a moment's notice.

Parallels Civilian System.

Approximately 20 per cent are volunteers beyond the draft age. Many of the craftsmen above draft age gave up $400 a month jobs to serve at sergeant's pay. The other 80 per cent were drafted and channeled into this unit to take advantage of their particular knowledge.

The military railway unit is divided into the usual army units, such as battalions and companies, but here again the men managed to fit their own proved peace time efficiency into the military system. Gray's office corresponds to that of an operating vice president of domestic railroads. Under him are divisions in the military sense corresponding to railroad general superintendents. Under them are army battalions corresponding to division superintendents, with companies split into maintenance, repair, and transportation groups.

Various battalions, retaining their original peace time makeup, represent individual railroads, including the Southern, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, and the Big Four. Handling the general superintendents' work are officials from the New York Central, Great Northern, and the Atlantic Coast. In addition, the operating vice presidents of 25 railroads are represented on the overseas roster.

Sweden Looks to U. S. to Fill Future Needs

Sweden has suffered nearly all the economic hardships of war even tho she has remained neutral in two world wars, and will need larger than normal supplies of goods from the United States in the first several years after restoration of peace in Europe, Chicagoans were told yesterday.

Sune Schele.

A delegation of Swedish business men and industrialists touring the United States in preparation for a return to normal world commerce outlined the country's needs at a luncheon in the Tavern club.

Good Market for America.

Having maintained a sound financial structure despite the war, Sweden wishes to obtain a variety of United States products, principally foodstuffs, automobiles, tires, plastics, tools, machinery, and medical supplies, as well as raw materials and fuels, including cotton, rubber, seedcakes, gasoline, oil, and coal.

S. L. Wahlstrom, delegate representing the Swedish Ironmasters association, and Sune Schele, representing Swedish importers, said that their country, always a good customer of the United States, expected to sell increasing quantities of their products in this country after the war. Wood pulp has been Sweden's principal export to the United States.

Sweden's forests have been maintained and improved during the war, have provided animal fodder and clothing, and constitute the country's principal economic asset, the delegation said. Wood pulp, urgently needed by the United States during the current newsprint stringency, represented three-fourths of Sweden's annual shipments to this country before the war and amounted to 42 million dollars.

Coal Needs Not Satisfied.

"Sweden wants to know to what extent she can rely on the United States for her import needs," said Wahlstrom. "At present we are entirely dependent on Germany and occupied Poland for our coal, but don't receive enough. The iron ore we have shipped to Germany certainly would make no difference in the outcome of the war, since the quantities are relatively small, but even the limited volume of coal shipped in from Germany has been of utmost importance to our economic life.

"In return for American coal Sweden could ship iron ore, one of the strategic raw materials which, according to William L. Batt, vice chairman of the war production board, the United States should buy abroad."

Gosta Oldenburg, royal consul general of Sweden in Chicago, and G. Bernhard Anderson, attorney and honorary vice consul, entertained the delegation.

PUBLIC TO GET MORE BUTTER, BUT NOT WFA'S

Spike Rumor Hoard Will Be Shared.

Lower Oleo Tax Asked

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Asserting that laws restricting the sale of colored oleomargarine represent "a damnable protective tariff between the states," Sen. Smith [D., S. C.] today introduced a bill cutting the federal tax from 10 cents to ¼ cent a pound. Previous disputes over oleomargarine taxation have involved northern dairy state lawmakers on one side and representatives of the cotton oil producing south on the other. Smith conceded his bill would start another fight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—The war food administration today refused to yield any of its 70 million pound butter hoard to civilians, but assured the public of larger supplies this month.

In denying reports it would release 20 million pounds of butter to consumer markets, WFA said government held stocks are committed for delivery early this year to the army, navy, Red Cross, civilian hospitals, and lend-lease. Officials said none could be diverted to other uses.

Stocks Remain from 1943.

Present government stocks remain from 213 million pounds which WFA purchased in February thru September last year during peak production. Government buying was suspended Oct. 1 so that lean fall and winter output could go entirely to civilians.

WFA said that when government butter purchasing is resumed April 1 the percentage set aside for federal use will be less than the 30 per cent diverted in April, 1943.

All March production, expected to total 115 to 120 million pounds, will go to civilians, WFA said. March output will be larger than the average of 105 million pounds a month produced in January and February.

Lend-Lease Needs Met.

Government requirements will be smaller next month because WFA has filled butter needs for lend-lease, officials said. Deliveries to Russia, which receives most lend-lease butter, were accelerated in recent months and have been virtually completed, it was learned. Government butter purchases after April 1 will be only for the army, navy, and marine services, WFA said.

Asked about reports that WFA butter stocks were spoiling, officials said most of the reserve is 90 score [good quality, which is sold for table use], with some as low as 89 score and some as high as 93. They said only a few carloads have spoiled, and these have been reprocessed. Some low grade butter has been sold to bakers and other processors, they added.

People and Events

The Chicago Coal Merchants' association will hold a solid fuels conference in the Stevens hotel Tuesday to discuss the effect of the war on coal operations, Fred J. Holdsworth, president, announced yesterday. More than 500 dealers, producers, wholesalers, and transportation representatives are expected to attend. Speakers will include Charles J. Potter, deputy administrator of the solid fuels administration; G. Griffith Johnson, chief of the fuel section, price division of the OPA, and James L. Newbold, vice president of the American Retail Coal association.

William A. Irvin, former president of the United States Steel corporation, has been elected a director of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc. He is also a director of the steel corporation.

Seymour Mintz, who recently resigned as advertising manager of Electric Household Utilities corporation, has been appointed director of advertising and publicity for the Admiral corporation, Chicago.

William R. Mau has been promoted to western sales manager of Vanadium Alloys Steel company with headquarters in Chicago. He has been district manager in the Chicago area for 25 years.

The Pepsodent company announced the appointment of Earl Keefer as southern sales manager.

CEN. REPUBLIC RFC PAYMENT IS AUTHORIZED

Federal District Judge Igoe yesterday authorized Charles H. Albers, receiver for the Central Republic Trust company, to transfer $10,750,000 to the Reconstruction Finance corporation as partial payment of a 15½ million dollar judgment obtained against the bank's shareholders.

The payment will be applied against the 90 million dollar loan made by RFC in 1932 to the predecessor of the present company, the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, known as the old "Dawes bank." Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes was board chairman of the old company which was taken over by the Central Republic Trust company shortly after the loan was made. Central Republic Trust was known as a liquidating company.

Albers appeared in court along with M. Omer Hoel, RFC counsel. Albers told Judge Igoe that 11 million dollars had been collected, but the balance of $250,000 was being reserved for possible liabilities.

Judge Igoe told Albers and Hoel they had done a remarkable job. On May 3, 1938, the balance owed on the original loan was $44,291,546.

When all assets are realized, Albers told reporters, RFC should receive substantially more than the original principal.

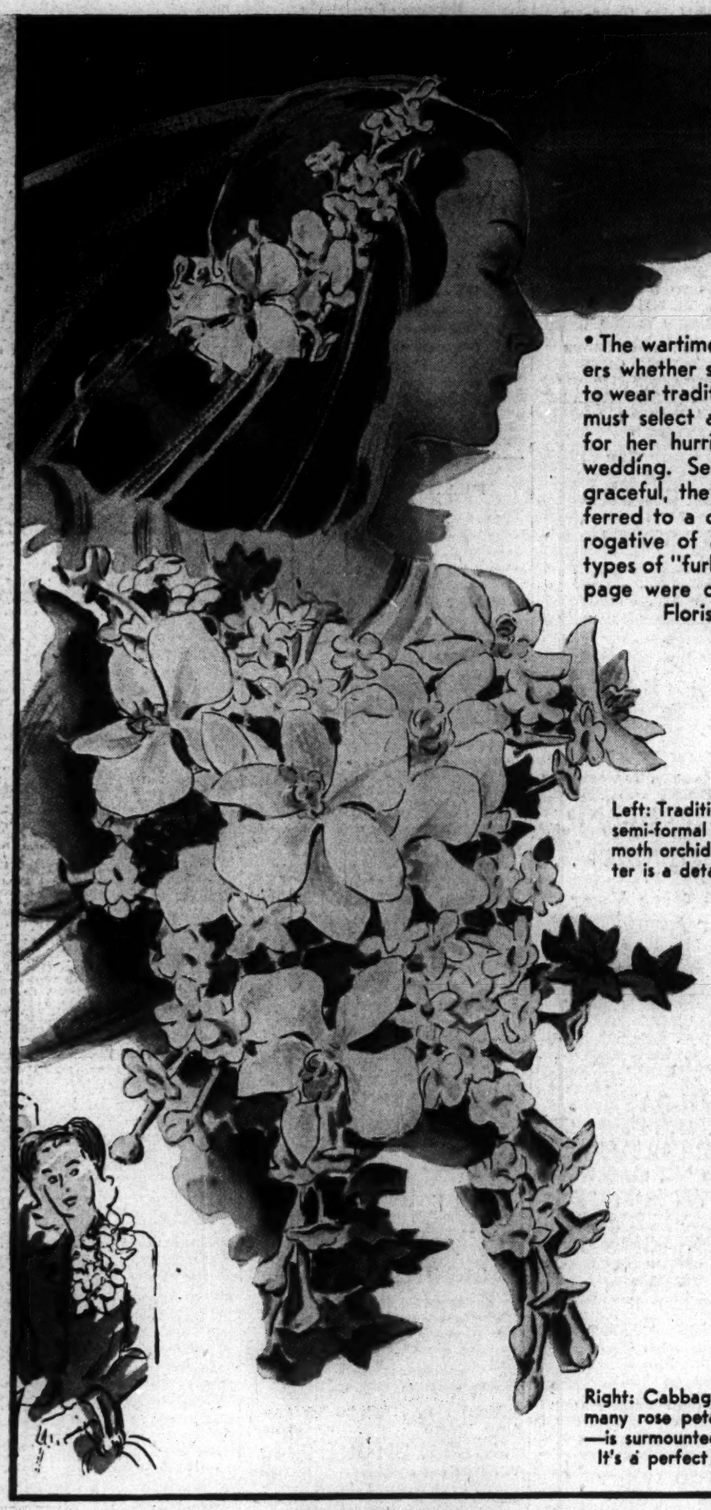
War Brides' Bouquets

• The wartime bride may carry flowers whether she is fortunate enough to wear traditional bridal costume or must select a suit or daytime dress for her hurriedly planned furlough wedding. Sentimental, pretty, and graceful, the bridal bouquet is preferred to a corsage and is the prerogative of all brides. The several types of "furlough bouquets" on this page were designed by the Allied Florists' association.



Left: Traditional bouquet for formal or semi-formal weddings. Of delicate moth orchids and stephanotis, the center is a detachable corsage for going-away wear.

Above: Sweetheart roses and pink or white carnations in dainty bouquet intertwined with carnation leaves and sentimental blue velvet hearts.

Right: Cabbage rose—formed of many rose petals sewed together—is surmounted by a single rose. It's a perfect suit complement.

Three hybrid orchids against a background of green and yellow tropical leaves form an exotic and breath-taking bouquet. Fragile and lovely, orchids enhance even the simplest wedding costume.
